NEW RAID ON NORTH VIET NAM

150 Planes Smash Reds

In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

For a study in contrasts, I give you two of the most formidable antagonists in the British Columbia Legislature.

These are Ray Gillis Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources, and North Vancouver Liberal Gordon Gibson.

The one sits high in cabinet country, his portfolio embracing forest industries which grow richer with each new pulp mill.

The other occupies, in hit-or-miss fashion, a rear row seat in our five-man Whiggery.

Minister Williston, in political terms, has the world by the tail on a downhill haul. He speaks for the modern woods operator, the man whose prospects of success are negligible unless his starting stake runs to at least $500,000.

★ ★ ★

Private member Gibson (across the red carpet they mock him sometimes as "Cut-and-Get-Out" Gibson) speaks for himself, from convictions hard to budge as a hung-up butt log. He has growled a time or two so far this session, and made one tame apple-polishing speech given over mostly to praise of Premier Bennett and his works.

The Hon. Mr. Williston, ex-school teacher, former minister of education, is slim, bespectacled and urbane. Except when he contributes to debate, I rate him one of the Legislature's quiet men.

Mr. Gibson, in one form or another, has been a logger since his rough frontier boyhood on the Island west coast. He is independently wealthy; owns a yacht about which he grumbles amiably; has developed a Hawaiian holding into a 40-unit resort.

His wild and woolly life-story—or that portion of it which Gordon Gibson has lived—is currently being fictionized into a massive novel tentatively titled, "The Kingdom Carver," by writer Ernie Perrault, younger brother of B.C. Liberal chief Ray Perrault.

Contracts are being drawn up in Toronto and New York. I understand they include publication by Doubleday - Doran with sale of 100,000 copies expected.

In the forthcoming novel, a Paul Bunyanish character named 'Chris Laird' will toss mountains out of his way.

In the House, Gordon Gibson, who hasn't moved a mountain for a good few years, sits with head slightly tilted and one heavy fist on the desk. He listens while Ray Williston builds his picture of a forest future in which logs will be scaled by weight in bundles, and young trees once smashed and scorned as 'saplings' will be the logging norm.

"There are some people," Mr. Williston tells the House, "who claim we are over-cutting."

★ ★ ★

Then he offers figures so vast they startle. This year's cut, says he, will be 1.5 billion feet, against an ultimate sustained yield capacity for the province of three billion feet.

"In other words," the minister translates, "we've reached the halfway mark in utilization of sustained yield."

Old-logger Gibson — in one historic session expelled by Speaker's edict from this chamber—sits, watches and listens.

But he will be standing, one day next week, planted solid and tough and big, for his own budget debate speech.

When that day comes, I do not think kingdom-carver Gibson will be polishing any apple!

Lawyer Brands Masson As 'A Liar and Hoaxer'

MASSON

(See Story Page 35)

OTTAWA (CP) — Criminal lawyer Leo-Rene Maranda, 32, at the Dorion inquiry today described Liberal organizer Guy Masson as a liar and a hoaxer.

He said it is possible he told lawyer Pierre Lamontagne in September that it was Masson who was behind the alleged bribe offer to Mr. Lamontagne.

The inquiry is investigating the allegations of Mr. Lamontagne that he was offered $20,000 July 14 by Reymond Denis, then executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, to agree to Lucien Rivard's release on bail.

Rivard has been held in Montreal's Bordeaux Jail since June 19 for United States authorities on charges of being a kingpin in a Mafia-run narcotics conspiracy.

Mr. Lamontagne has been acting for the U.S. government in Rivard's extradition hearing.

Mr. Maranda, a lawyer for Rivard, testified about a telephone conversation he overheard July 20 between Raymond Daoust, another lawyer for Rivard, and Masson. Masson has said that he acted as the "errand boy" between Denis and Rivard's friends.

SAID BAIL ARRANGED

Mr. Maranda said Masson claimed to Mr. Daoust that bail had been arranged for Rivard. Masson also claimed to have seen Mr. Lamontagne in Ottawa that day when it was known Mr. Lamontagne was in Chicoutimi.

Toll Booths Pay for War

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong troops, virtually unhindered by South Vietnamese government operations, have a stranglehold on the only overland route from Saigon to the border of North Viet Nam.

Viet Cong toll booths on Route One, only 50 miles east of Saigon, have been operating freely since November.

These toll booths are believed to have financed the Communist offensive at Binh Gia in December. That operation cost government forces 500 casualties, including 20 Americans. Binh Gia also netted the Viet Cong quantities of arms and equipment.

Planes Rake Congo Rebels

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — A mercenary-led column, slowed to a crawl by rebel ambushes, pushed onward today in the northeastern Congo after getting help from three B-26 planes.

The planes raked a river crossing Wednesday with rockets and machine-gun fire.

Ministers Quit In Hindi Riots

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Widespread rioting in Madras state to protest the imposition of Hindi as the official language of India brought the resignation of two ministers today, plunging the government into a constitutional crisis.

Food Minister C. Subramaniam and Deputy Minister for Oil O. Alagessan, both of Tamil-speaking Madras state, told Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri tonight they were quitting. Their resignations followed an emergency cabinet meeting to discuss the Madras riots.

The rioting has taken at least 30 lives in the past two days. Police were using gunfire, clubs and tear gas to try to control frenzied students protesting the adoption of Hindi as the official language. The government sent in troops today when students attacked and burned railroad trains.

The two resigning ministers asked the constitution be amended to include Tamil, usually spoken in Madras, as an additional official language with Hindi. Shastri rejected their demand.

Units of the Indian army were rushed into several cities and districts of Madras state as the death toll in two days of violence climbed to 30. Hundreds more were injured in clashes between police and students in this state where Tamil is the principal language.

The students called a "trains day" today to further their protests. They attacked and set fire to coaches, tore up gates at railroad crossings and stopped a mail train by squatting on the tracks.

'Mystery Letter' Delays Parallels Sommers Case

BY JOHN MIKA
Times Legislative Reporter

Procrastination by Attorney-General Robert Bonner in prosecuting the "mystery letter" forger parallels delays in the Sommers case, the legislature was told Wednesday.

Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan) demanded that Mr. Bonner lay forgery charges under the Criminal Code against the unidentified Vancouver man he said has admitted authorship of the phony letter.

Government backbenchers listened silently—except for one interjection — to Mr. Harding's measured tones as he repeatedly attacked the delays.

His vehemence finally drew Mr. Bonner to his feet to protest that if charges are laid "the possibility of seeing a fair trial conducted will not be enhanced by this discussion at this time."

But Mr. Harding continued his demands that the attorney-general act immediately.

The letter, on the premier's stationery and purporting to have been signed by Premier Bennett, was sent to an aide of Prime Minister Pearson

'CLOSE MISS' PRECEDED PLANE PLUNGE

NEW YORK (AP)—A jet airliner reported a near collision moments before an Eastern Air Lines DC-7B plane plunged into the ocean killing 84 persons, government investigators said today.

The Federal Aviation Agency said an official recording of radio transmissions Monday night, when the tragedy occurred, showed a Pan American World Airways jetliner reporting "a close miss here."

The transcript indicated that the doomed plane was at 3,700 feet altitude when last reported and the jet was at 3,500 feet.

After a steep banking turn, Eastern's flight 663, a four-engine propeller plane, dived into the sea about eight miles off Jones Beach, within minutes of take-off from Kennedy Airport. No one survived.

U.S. SHOULD GET OUT SAYS DOUGLAS

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—The United States should withdraw from South Viet Nam and allow a United Nations peace-keeping force to move into the area, New Democrat Leader T. C. Douglas said today.

He also said Canada should stop acting like a "mere echo" of Washington's state department and threaten to leave the Geneva Truce Commission in Southeast Asia unless it is given the authority necessary to operate effectively.

"Nothing could be less effective than the present situation," Mr. Douglas said in a news conference.

He suggested that the Viet Nam crisis should either be submitted to the United Nations, or Canada should demand that the Geneva conference be reconvened to consider the matter.

'REMEMBER'

Pope Issues Peace Plea

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope Paul today issued an impassioned plea for peace in Viet Nam "so that innocent populations may be saved from new trials and new tears."

He said the world "seems to be returning to discord and conflicts" after a promising period of eased tension.

The Pope said it seemed impossible that with the memories of the Second World War still fresh, "there are people who dare to turn their minds to thoughts of war."

"Have the torments and anguish which were suffered, have the immense ruins which were amassed, have the cruel massacres taught nothing?" the Pope asked.

"We turn to all interested men, on whatever side they may be, so that innocent populations may be saved from new trials and new tears."

Kosygin Met Mao

TOKYO (AP)—Soviet Premier Kosygin flew to North Korea today from Peking after talking with China's Mao Tse-tung. It was their first meeting since Kosygin became premier.

A New China news agency broadcast said they met at a reception Wednesday night which was attended by Premier Chou En-lai, President Liu Shao-chi, Foreign Minister Chen Yi and other top officials.

Rocket Firing Successful

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A Titan 3-A rocket swung its third stage into orbit as a flying launch platform today to start a series of intended orbit-shifting, satellite-ejection manoeuvres, which must be perfected for manned and unmanned military space missions.

The three-stage, 124-foot-tall booster rumbled skyward at 12:19 p.m. on the most demanding assignment ever handed a U.S. rocket. Seventeen minutes later, the air force reported the 15-foot third stage had fired for five minutes and propelled itself into a circular orbit about 115 miles above the earth.

4 Planes Down, U.S. Pilot Lost

(Times News Services)

SAIGON—Striking from land and sea, about 150 U.S. and South Vietnamese warplanes smashed at targets in North Viet Nam today in reprisal for Viet Cong attacks capped by the blasting of a U.S. billet in Qui Nhon.

Four carrier-based U.S. Navy planes and one pilot were lost as a result of the action, otherwise described by an American spokesman as highly successful.

(Radio Hanoi claimed North Vietnamese forces "shot down seven U.S. planes, damaged many others" and captured one American pilot.)

The bombing and rocket raids were launched while rescue workers still combed debris of the four-storey U.S. military men's billet in Qui Nhon for the living and dead of a terrorist bombing Wednesday night believed to have killed 22 Americans.

It was the third and heaviest reprisal since Sunday against North Viet Nam, which trains and supplies the Red guerrillas.

The attacks were made through low, broken clouds.

ATTACK BARRACKS

Targets were officially described as barracks areas at Chan Hoa and Chap Le. They were left wreathed in columns of smoke.

Chan Hao is 50 miles north of the border and about four miles northwest of Dong Hoi, a coastal point struck by navy planes Sunday. Chap Le is 8½ miles north of the border.

More than 100 navy jets from the carriers Hancock, Ranger and Coral Sea hit the barracks area at Chan Hoa.

Chap Le was the target of 28 Vietnamese fighter - bombers, which struck across the 17th parallel under escort of 20 U.S. Air Force F-100 jet fighters. The escorts' job was to suppress anti-aircraft fire.

All the land-based craft returned safely.

Of the four navy planes lost, three went down at sea and one was smashed when its landing gear collapsed as it was attempting to put down at Da Nang, an air base 80 miles south of the border. The pilots of three survived. The pilot of an F-8D Crusader jet disappeared with his plane.

U.S. Raids 'War Act' Hanoi Says

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist North Viet Nam said today the U.S.-Vietnamese air attacks amounted to an act of war.

In its first statement on today's retaliatory raids against North Vietnamese military targets the Hanoi regime said in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo:

"This is a new, most serious war act perpetrated by the U.S. imperialists against the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam."

'RED AGGRESSION COMPELS ATTACK'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States charged today that continuing "aggressions and outrages" by Communist forces in South Viet Nam compelled the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments to strike anew at "infiltration bases" in North Viet Nam.

A statement by the White House asserted "our desire to avoid spreading the conflict" in Viet Nam but added that because of "provocations" by North Viet Nam the United States and South Viet Nam felt compelled to strike back by air for the third time this week.

The counter strokes at the Communists presumably were ordered as a result of decisions made by President Johnson at a national security council meeting Wednesday afternoon. There was no announcement following that two-hour session and officials said privately that decisions would be made known only through action.

The White House statement this morning dealt with the new air assault as a limited reprisal action rather than as part of a developing air offensive against North Viet Nam. The reference to avoidance of spreading the war was evidently designed to indicate to the Communist side that the U.S. is still prepared to confine the struggle if the Communist strategy makes that possible.

The statement also left no doubt, however, that the unwillingness often displayed here in the past to hit North Viet Nam almost regardless of what happened in the South has now given way; whatever protection of privileged sanctuary the North had enjoyed until last weekend seemed to be disappearing fast.

The U.S. - Vietnamese strike was, however, once more directed against positions described in the White House statement as "infiltration bases."

As to the provocations charged against the Communists, the statement said that in recent days "large numbers of South Vietnamese and United States personnel have been killed in an increased number of Viet Cong ambushes and attacks."

Cited among these costly Communist blows was the terrorist bombing at the town of Qui Nhon Wednesday which took a heavy toll of lives in the destruction of an enlisted men's hotel. The statement also said the Reds had overrun a district town in Thouc Long province inflicting Vietnamese and American casualties. Attacks on railways and a wave of assassinations of South Vietnamese officials were also charged against the Communists in the White House statement.

NOT EXPECTED TO RETALIATE

Experts Believe China Can't Afford to Fight

By JOHN CANTWELL

HONG KONG (AP) — Analysts in this British colony doubt that China, despite its belligerent warnings, will retaliate against United States air strikes on North Viet Nam.

Two reasons are cited by American, Commonwealth and Nationalist Chinese sources in this trading centre and international listening post on China's south flank:

1. China, despite its manpower and its recent explosion of an atomic device, does not have the resources to wage a major war with the U.S.

2. Peking believes such a war is unnecessary, as it considers that the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas are winning their fight to take over South Viet Nam.

A Chinese Nationalist expert said Wednesday the Mao Tse-tung Communist regime cannot financially afford a confrontation with the U.S.

"During the Korean War, this point was driven home very firmly to the Chinese Communists," he said. "Chinese Communist troops were told that each shell fired during this war was worth an ounce of gold. They were instructed not to fire unless they absolutely had to.

SET BACK PLANS

"The Korean War put Chinese Communist plans for development of resources back at least 10 years."

Commonwealth experts said they believe Peking is playing a game of poker with the United States. One remarked:

"To tell the truth, America seems to be doing the same thing.

"America seems to be attempting to see how far it can go without incurring Chinese retaliation."

American sources said they believe Peking's warnings were meant at least in part for the Russians. One explained:

"It seems that, as well as being a warning to the United States, they are also a warning to the Russians and the North Vietnamese that the Chinese Communists have not forfeited their stake in the area."

THIS WORLD OF OURS

People and Things

(Times News Services)

VANCOUVER—George Carson, 27, described in court as "a genius," Wednesday won another chance to realize his potential when a charge of being a habitual criminal was dismissed.

Malcolm Black, artistic director of the Playhouse Company of the posh Queen Elizabeth Theatre, testified:

"He is, in my opinion, a genius. One day he may become one of the most brilliant writers in Canada."

Carson is serving a two-year sentence for bad-cheque offences. He admitted to 85 charges during the last 10 years, most of them for passing bad cheques.

Mr. Black said he had seen seven plays and a number of sketches produced by Carson in prison and that it was his intention to have Carson join his company as an apprentice playwright when he leaves prison.

Two of Carson's paintings were exhibited in court.

Dr. L. P. Deslauriers, penitentiary psychologist, said Carson was "a liar, a great imposter and a deceiver who takes delight in seeing how far he can go, how far he can take someone in."

Magistrate Cyril White ruled:

"The offender has something to offer to society and it would be tragic if this potential is not realized."

To Carson he said:

"I hope your hand is guided the right way."

CHICAGO—Mrs. Stephanie Endres, 38, has sued for divorce, contending that her husband used her pots and pans to coddle his tropical fish. In the circuit court suit she filed Tuesday she said her husband, Donald, 42, spent much of each night caring for his several thousand fish and beat her when any of them died.

VANCOUVER—A Vancouver woman has complained to the city parks board that her pooch needs a swimming hole.

Mrs. Pearl Lovasque, in a letter to the board, suggested that a section of one of the city's beaches be fenced off and designated for pets only.

"I have a large German shepherd who loves swimming, but I have no car and can find no place to take her. There must be many people with the same problem," she said.

The board received the letter without comment. Public beaches are currently off limits to pets.

ROUEN, France—Mahmoud Sebti, 31, insisted on using the telephone in the bar despite the protests of bartender Eugene Seville, 59.

Then, as Sebti made his call, Seville tapped insistently on the door to the phone booth.

Sebti leaned out, to hear better what he had to say.

Seville bit Sebti's ear off.

ROME — Unemployed men shoveled barricades of snow across streets in suburban Rome Wednesday because the city did not hire them to help clear away the drifts after the worst blizzard in more than 150 years.

In another outlying section of the city other jobless demonstrated because no one showed up at an office to put them to work shoveling as they said they had been promised. Both demonstrations were broken up by police.

Officials said that in the second demonstration, an administrative clerk who promised the shoveling jobs apparently was unable to get to the office himself because of the snow.

Trainmen Rap Perry Report

VANCOUVER (CP)—Negotiators met again today for talks aimed at ending the nine-day old strike on the Pacific Great Eastern Railway — but there seemed to be little chance of early success.

Officials of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen (CLC) met with PGE officials and Labor Minister Leslie Peterson, but the union men had already condemned a proposed settlement put forth Wednesday.

Recommendations in a report of industrial inquiry Commissioner Doctor G. Neil Perry were heard Wednesday. Union officials described them as "little more than a carbon copy of previous agreements and disagreements" and could provide no basis for a strike settlement.

Dr. Perry's report suggested a joint committee to draw up a new wage payment scheme, but made no mention of union demands for paid statutory holidays for road crews, bonuses for handling long trains or union objections to a company plan to replace three-man yard crews with two-man crews.

WON'T WORK

Meanwhile, a five-man CPR train crew remained off work today after refusing to handle traffic on PGE trackage. A CPR spokesman said statements were still being taken from the men. Supervisory personnel took over the train and delivered the cars to the PGE returning with a train of empties. CPR men refused to handle the PGE cars, claiming they were "hot."

Meanwhile, Pat O'Neil, secretary-treasurer of the B.C. Federation of Labor, said the dispute has all the potential of an extremely volatile situation. He said there is no doubt that it could spread.

"The trade unions are in no mood for the kind of tactics being used."

And in the Peace River country, grain and other agricultural produce continues to pile up in freight yards and elevators while the line—B.C.'s only north-south railway—remains idle.

FATALITY DETAILS RELATED

The driver of a car that struck and killed a 75-year-old woman on Douglas Street last Wednesday night said "It appeared the lady stepped right in front of the car."

Sidney Coward, 986 Ambassador, was giving evidence Tuesday night at the inquest into the death of Mrs. Margaret Barber, 554 Dupplin.

The inquest was adjourned by Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre until tonight.

Mr. Coward said he did not see anyone crossing the street as he turned on to Douglas from Cloverdale. He gave his evidence under the protection of the Canada Evidence Act.

Mrs. Judy Edwards, 1431 St. Patrick, a passenger in a car waiting for the light on Douglas, said "I saw her hit. She went up in the air . . . the car seemed to push her."

Mrs. Edwards said the car appeared to be moving slowly. "I thought the car was going to miss her."

Mrs. Barber was apparently on her way home from church at the time of the accident. Mr. Coward was going downtown to buy some stamps at the time.

SERIOUS MATTER

Mr. Harding said that a forgery of the premier's signature on a phony letter intended to curry favor was so serious that no delay in pressing charges could be condoned.

He said there was no question of wrong-doing involving the government in the letter case but the failure to lay charges recalled the days before former Lands and Forests Minister Robert Sommers was charged in a bribery case.

"For 707 days we could get no action from this government," he said, and action should be swift this time.

"One of the tragedies in this case is innocent individuals will be suspected until a charge is laid."

Mr. Harding quoted from several legal authorities to back his contention that only the province and not the federal government or the Dorion commission has the jurisdiction to press the case.

EVADING DUTY?

"How long is the attorney-general going to evade his duty?"

"Here we have the culprit known to the attorney-general," said Mr. Harding. "He has admitted the forgery. The attorney-general is duty-bound to prosecute."

John Tisdalle (SC—Saanich) laughed at one point and said Mr. Harding was "making a mountain out of a molehill."

"No one must ever be allowed to tamper with the public business of this province by misrepresentation," said Mr. Harding.

"Action should be swift, firm and just. No individual, regardless of his position or party, must ever be permitted to curry favor in this fashion.

"The forged signature of the premier is a disgraceful act. This forgery has been used in an attempt to influence our federal immigration laws.

"The culprit is known to both the police and to the government . . . the attorney-general must act quickly. I urge him to delay no longer."

RCMP Warn 'Against' Addict Aid

VANCOUVER (CP) — A New Democratic party MP has charged that RCMP warned a doctor he would lose his right to practice if he didn't stop prescribing a synthetic narcotic for drug addicts.

Harold Winch of Vancouver east told a political meeting here the Vancouver doctor had been prescribing Methadone in treating several addicts on withdrawal programs.

"Last week this doctor got a letter from the RCMP telling him to stop issuing prescriptions for the new drug or he would be reported to the medical association and would lose his right to practise."

Mr. Winch said he had informed health minister Judy LaMarsh of the situation but had not received a reply.

Dr. Robert Halliday of the Narcotics Foundation of B.C. said that in such a case the RCMP would only be acting for the narcotics control division of the federal health department.

He described Methadone as a synthetic drug, in tablet form, used in the withdrawal treatment of addicts.

VATICAN TO CLEAR POPE OVER STAND ON NAZIS

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican's plans to publish documents covering its Second World War relations with Hitler's Third Reich were interpreted today as a move to clear Pope Pius XII of charges of being unclear in his stand against Nazism.

Reliable sources reported Wednesday that the documents will cover relations between the Vatican and the Nazi government from July, 1933, and the beginning of the Second World War. A later publication will cover the period from Sept. 1, 1939, to the fall of the Third Reich in 1945.

U.K. HEALTH PLAN

Family Doctors Stiffen Stand

LONDON (Reuters)—A revolt among Britain's 23,000 family doctors against the terms of the government-operated national health service hardened Wednesday with a major medical labor union issuing a withdrawal ultimatum.

The Medical Practitioners Union, which claims to represent a quarter of the country's general practitioners, called for immediate negotiations between the government and the profession on a radical reform of the 16-year-old socialized medicine setup.

"If these are not successfully concluded within three months, we shall advise family doctors to submit their resignations from the national health service," the union's ultimatum said.

This means that a mass withdrawal could take place in six months as doctors must give three months' notice to end their government contracts.

In Belfast, Northern Ireland, more than 200 doctors decided Wednesday night to resign from the health service.

WANT NEW ACT

A statement issued after a meeting said nothing less than a new health act will provide the sort of service "which the doctors feel patients are entitled to in the second half of the 20th century."

The union said it is making preparations for an alternative temporary health service for Britain if the government rejects negotiations or if they are not successful.

Voting Curb Claimed In Higher Bus Fares

High bus fares prevent some voters from attending the poll in civic elections, a woman has written to the mayor and city council.

Mrs. Charles A. Chisholm said she and her husband have missed voting for six years, reluctantly, because they have not the health and strength to walk to the single downtown polling station.

TOO MUCH

And the 75 cents it would cost them to take a bus is more than they can afford.

"I realize it was only 50 cents bus fare for us two until January this year, but 50 cents is a lot to us, and now 75 cents is so much worse," Mrs. Chisholm wrote.

She said living in Saanich they could walk to one of the 13 polling stations conveniently. But it is too far to walk to Victoria Ballroom poling place, and "so many friends say the same . . . I'm sure the same problem is faced by so many more who have to take the bus," Mrs. Chisholm said.

Multiple polling stations for the city will be considered by council's legislative committee.

Queen's Car Target Of Tomato

KHARTOUM, Sudan (Reuters) Police today arrested a youth who threw a tomato at the motorcade in which Queen Elizabeth was touring Khartoum today.

The tomato sailed harmlessly past a motorcycle outrider.

This was the second discordant incident since the Queen and Prince Philip began a four-day state visit to Sudan Monday.

Wednesday, school children at El Boeid in the western part of the country shouted anti-British slogans as the royal couple drove past.

The royal couple were winding up their visit to Sudan today with a visit to the archeological museum and technical institute here.

They also will have tea with Khartoum civic officials at Omduran, before returning to the white-brick republican palace to give a banquet for members of the Sudanese supreme council and cabinet.

The Queen is due to leave for London by air Friday morning, about an hour after Prince Philip takes off on a six-week tour of the Far East.

He said Masson had been caught red-handed in a lie and his story that bail had been arranged for Rivard was a hoax.

Yves Fortier, counsel for Mr. Lamontagne, asked whether Mr. Maranda understood that the arrangement for bail boasted about by Masson could only have been a bribe.

Francois Chapados, counsel for Masson, and other lawyers immediately objected to the question and Chief Justice Frederic Dorion ordered Mr. Fortier to withdraw it.

Mr. Fortier asked whether Mr. Maranda in September had told Mr. Lamontagne that Masson and Robert Gignac were behind the bribe offer.

Mr. Maranda said he would have said that about Masson.

As the day's hearing opened, Chief Justice Dorion ordered that all counsel be supplied with copies of reports by two RCMP inspectors on their investigations in the case.

The instructions were issued as the Dorion inquiry opened its second phase, turning to police handling of allegations and conduct of the justice department and of Justice Minister Favreau when the reports were made to them last year.

Chief Justice Dorion said he has gone over the complete RCMP file — in his possession since last December—and has concluded that the police inspectors' reports should all be made available now.

The RCMP's legal opinion and the report of Commissioner G. B. McClellan would be produced at the inquiry after the investigating officers had been questioned, he said.

His ruling was on an application by Ross Drouin, counsel for the Progressive Conservative party, that the complete RCMP file be produced so that the lawyers representing different political parties and individuals could prepare their questions in advance.

RCMP counsel Norman Mathews said the reports of Inspectors J. P. Drapeau and Raoul Carriere would be handed to counsel before the end of the day. Inspector Carriere's report was ready for immediate distribution.

Also to be distributed is a summary prepared by former RCMP Sergeant Ronald Crevier, who testified before the inquiry at an earlier stage.

Up to now the inquiry has been concentrating exclusively on its first phase—allegations by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne that he was pressured and offered a $20,000 bribe by assistants to federal cabinet ministers.

When commission counsel Andre Desjardins said Wednesday he is ready to begin the second phase this week, Mr. Drouin charged that he and other lawyers were being discriminated against by the RCMP's refusal to make available its full files on its earlier investigation.

He said the file was available to Mr. Desjardins, Liberal Counsel Jules Deschenes and Mr. Mathews but not to the other 17 lawyers representing various political parties and individuals.

'Backward, Turn Backward . . .'

THE PREOCCUPATION OF French President Charles de Gaulle with the glories of the past was tolerable when it was confined to his own country and did not intrude on the forward movement of Europe and the Western world as a whole.

When he moves out into the wider arena, however, his ideas must be viewed with considerable dismay for as one observer has noted: "As a world statesman, President de Gaulle has an unerring eye for opportunities of going backwards."

A quite astonishing example of this propensity was provided by the French leader last week during one of his rare press conferences. Dealing with three of the issues of major importance at this time, President de Gaulle proposed:

That the problems of international monetary reform could be solved by a return to the gold standard; that the question of payment of dues in the United Nations could be settled by turning control of the organization over to the five permanent members of the Security Council including Peking, China; that the United States and Russia should withdraw all their influences from Europe and leave a rejuvenated France to lead the continent back to its classical, pre-1914, era of nation states.

What is so perplexing about President de Gaulle making these proposals is that they all represent abject failures of policy at the times they were operative.

The world left the gold standard because it was not possible to settle international debts with gold alone and the attempt to do so was one of the root causes of the depression of the Thirties.

The UN Security Council failed as an effective peace-keeping organization because it was hamstrung by the veto provision of the UN Charter; hence the assembly's assumption of the peace-keeping role.

Finally, the notion of a Europe rigidly separated into nation states and utterly free of all American or Russian influence is anachronistic nonsense which runs counter to reality.

It may be both likely and desirable that the United States and the Soviet Union should have less direct control over policies of western and eastern European countries respectively. This would leave more opportunity for the growing detente between the two blocs. It is unlikely and undesirable that they should withdraw their influence to the point where Europe reverts to its pre-1914 status as a congeries of nationalities struggling to maintain a balance of power around a united Germany.

In actual fact President de Gaulle's views on the gold standard do not matter much, since they are so demonstrably absurd. But he is playing a dangerous game when he attempts to stifle action by the United Nations or tries to persuade Europe that its future lies in the past.

He seems prone to forget when he woos Germans with a promise of re-unification that France in its days of glory was never strong enough to keep the peace in Europe. And he ignores throughout all the rest of the world the emergence of new countries for whom the United Nations is a hope for survival and a better future.

Mr. Sharp Speaks Out

THE CONCERN OF MANY CAnadians that any plan for full free trade with the United States would infringe the independence of this country was bluntly expressed by Trade Minister Sharp at a press conference in Toronto the other day.

"A customs union between Canada and the United States," he said, "would involve one large country and one small country and we would tend to be submerged." At another point Mr. Sharp stated: "Inevitably all major decisions would be made in Washington."

This was the minister of trade's negative reaction to the recent Canadian-American Committee free trade study and it is of particular interest since Mr. Sharp has been intimately concerned with the very developments that have sparked such sharp interest in the subject.

The most recent of these was the auto free trade agreement. But the trend was established earlier through tacit and explicit accords on monetary policy, the rationalization of petroleum production, the continental energy concept embodied in the Columbia Treaty, encouragement for integration of products from plants under common ownership and others.

A great deal of this activity makes sense from the economic viewpoint. The question is whether the trend is leading, as the Canadian-American Committee states so emphatically, to "inevitable" economic integration of the two countries.

Judging from Mr. Sharp's comments that he is against a customs union type of integration, while at the same time he has been one of the principal engineers of the economic rationalization that is in progress, it seems reasonable to suppose that he does not support the theory of inevitability. But how far can Canada go on this road without passing a point of no return?

Furthermore, would advance along the suggested road be as economically valuable as many think? Or would Canada, like some exploited areas within the United States, be sucked into the American industrial vortex without adequate and rewarding development in Canada?

Again, do Canadians see their ultimate destiny in terms of economic advantage only, to which all else must be submerged, or are there other considerations—as there have been in the past—which give the Canadian identity something more than a cash price tag?

Sources of Pride

PLANS FOR THE NEW MUseum and archives complex as British Columbia's official Canadian centennial project, popular at the outset, produce added public enthusiasm as they progress.

The most recent announcement indicates that further funds will be provided so that the buildings and facilities will not suffer from skimping. Space is to be available for all present needs and for those of the foreseeable future. This promises to increase many times the existing usefulness and attractiveness of the two departments.

How the buildings themselves will be judged by those familiar with the finer points of architecture remains to be seen. To the layman, however, their presentation in the form of artists' conceptions is highly pleasing.

These are additions which will contribute greatly to the interest of this section of our provincial government precinct and the Inner Harbor. As a local attraction both for residents and visitors they will have a high magnetism.

Yet it is not alone from the Victoria perspective that they will be viewed. Here is to be created a monument to all of British Columbia—suitable housing for representative flora, fauna, history, anthropology, and the human story of the province. All our people are concerned and may take justifiable pride in buildings marking a significant date in the Canadian history and character of the far west.

—Bierman, Victoria Daily Times.

Lessons of the Viet Nam Weekend

Lippmann

IT is hard to believe that the raid on American installations in South Viet Nam was not closely related to Prime Minister Kosygin's visit to North Viet Nam. It is hard to believe, too, that Mr. Kosygin would have picked the day after his arrival to Hanoi to touch off the raid. He was in no position to help the Vietcong to carry out the raid nor to protect North Viet Nam against American retaliation. It is most probable, therefore, that the affair was ordered and directed by men who intended to spoil Mr. Kosygin's mission in Southeast Asia and to interfere with his role as a principal power in bringing about a negotiated settlement.

Most probably, therefore, the gambit was directed both against the Soviet Union and the United States, which happen to have a parallel interest in preventing a big war in Eastern Asia and of containing the expansion of China. The administration is no doubt right in interpreting the raid on Pleiku as a test of American will. Had the United States refrained from retaliating, the Chinese and their supporters in Asia and elsewhere would have called it a demonstration that the United States is a paper tiger, and that therefore the Soviet policy of peaceable co-existence is unnecessary and absurd. The other side of the calculation was that if the United States reacted, as in fact it did react, it would demonstrate that in Asia the Soviet Union is a paper tiger unable to defend its clients.

Success for China

From the Chinese point of view the gambit worked successfully. It showed, on the one hand, that the Americans are highly vulnerable on the ground in South Viet Nam; it showed on the other hand that the Soviet Union has no power to protect East Asia against the United States.

Much depends on what lessons are drawn in Moscow, Peking, and Hanoi and Washington from the affair.

We have had a very clear demonstration of the strategic reality in Southeast Asia. The American army at Pleiku was unable to protect itself against a comparatively small guerrilla attack, against a force estimated officially at about two squads and one platoon. The American forces got no warning of the attack from the Vietnamese people in the nearby hamlets where the raid was prepared. It got no protection from the Vietnamese security guards. If fact, when asked at his Sunday press conference whether the United States could not protect its own forces in South Viet Nam, Secretary McNamara replied that he did not "believe it will ever be possible—and I think when I say this I reflect the views of our own joint chiefs—to protect our forces against sneak attacks of that kind." Sneak attacks is in this case another name for guerrilla warfare.

World Peace at Stake

But that is only half of the lesson which was demonstrated this past weekend. The other part of the lesson is that the United States fleet, standing a hundred miles offshore, is capable of inflicting devastating and unrequited damage on the Asian mainland. There was no power in South Viet Nam to protect our own forces or to retaliate. But at sea there exists an enormous American power which is quite independent of our forces on the mainland.

The peace of the world may depend on whether all of the powers concerned take the meaning of these lessons to heart.

For Americans, the meaning is that the commitment to participate in the land war in South Viet Nam is an entaglement, is a hostage to fortune, which exposes us to defeats and humiliations. The best that the more convinced believers in the commitment can say is that if we stay there long enough and accept the losses which they regard as "tolerable," the Chinese and North Vietnamese will eventually grow tired and become indifferent. For myself, I would not count too much on American patience being greater than Chinese patience.

It is less likely that the American people will wish to wash their hands of the whole business of containing China if they do not have to lose American soldiers week after week in a war that cannot be won on the ground where it is being fought.

The meaning of the affair must not be missed in Moscow, Peking, and Hanoi. Let them remember that, reduced to its fundamentals, the situation is that the United States possesses paramount sea and air power in the Far Pacific, and no one can count on such a degree of restraint in the use of that power that it will never be used. The United States is not a paper tiger. That phrase reflects the greatest delusion on which our adversaries could possibly gamble. The truth is that President Johnson profoundly desires to avoid war but his power to do that is not unlimited nor can he be counted on not to be provoked if the provocation is continual and cumulative.

There should be no mistake about this anywhere.

FROM LONDON

By MARTIN DEWEY

'Mother' Turns Raucous

Dewey

THE Mother of Parliaments isn't always the wise, dignified old lady she is cracked up to be. Sometimes, when Mother forgets herself, she can be an abusive, shrill-voiced harridan. The House of Commons was at its raucous worst the other day when the Conservatives introduced their motion censuring the government for "hasty, ill-considered action" during its 100 days in office and Labor blamed the late Conservative government for leaving the country in a mess.

The stage was thus set for the first serious confrontation of the present Parliament. Unfortunately, however, what should have been a memorable debate became for the most part a shouting match between opposing backbenchers. The Conservatives, tasting blood after Labor's sorry showing in the Leyton and Nuneaton byelections, clearly felt the kill might be at hand. On the government side of the House, the defensiveness that was apparent immediately following the byelections had been supplanted by a mood of wounded belligerence.

The two sides met in a cacophanous chorus of hoots, catcalls, jeers and stamping. Despite no fewer than 21 separate calls for order, Mr. Deputy Speaker at times lost control of the House for periods of up to 10 minutes.

Bad Day

But if it was a bad day for the Mother of Parliaments, it was a worse day for the Conservatives. Knowing that the nine-man Liberal party planned to abstain, they fully expected their censure motion to be rejected—which it was, by 17 votes. But what they weren't prepared for was the vehemence and deadly effectiveness of the government's counter attack. By the end of the 7½-hour debate, the censure motion lay in tatters and the Conservative front bench appeared to be in a state approaching shell shock.

It was a surprise ending in view of the way the debate started. Sir Alec Douglas-Home, aglow with urbane confidence, led off the opposition attack as if his only task were to administer a long-overdue coup de grace. He was delivering a "count-down" on the government, he said, and if Mr. Wilson and his colleagues had any sense or integrity they would resign forthwith.

For the better part of an hour, the opposition leader deftly prodded the government's bruises. Labor's promised dynamism had turned out to be the dynamism of a bull in a china shop, he said. The government had created its own sterling crisis and had then mishandled it. The government had destroyed confidence in Britain both at home and abroad. After deceiving the electorate, it now stood discredited amid the litter of broken promises.

No Stone Unthrown

It was a competent speech which left no stone unthrown. London's evening papers, which went to press shortly after Sir Alec sat down, reported a Conservative victory in which the government had been severely "lashed." The morning papers had a different tale to tell, but then they had the advantage of sitting through the second act.

Taking his place at the despatch box, Prime Minister Wilson first demanded to know how Sir Alec could call for Labor's resignation after he himself had "clung to office until the last humiliating moment." The next cut drew blood. "I notice that most of my right honorable friend's speech was taken from this Tory central office pamphlet," Mr. Wilson grinned as he flourished an orange booklet. "But he missed a rather neat point on page 45."

This was the signal for a prolonged din marked by loud laughter on the Labor side of the House and howls of indignation from the Conservative benches. From that point on, Mr. Wilson was in control of the field. Amid growing clamor, he began with telling effect to play on the theme that a party which has been rejected by the electorate after 13 years in office is in a poor position to criticize the record of a government which has held office for little more than 13 weeks.

The prime minister was at his most devastating when he turned to the charge that his government was responsible for the recent economic crisis. Brandishing a set of figures which showed sharply increasing balance of payments deficits through 1963 and 1964, he accused Sir Alec of deliberately misleading the electorate last October with the repeated statement that "seldom, if ever, has the economy been stronger."

"Does he still think that?" Mr. Wilson demanded, pointing a stubby finger at Sir Alec. "Now he hasn't got the guts to stand up and say that he stands by it."

Personal Challenge

Time and again he turned his attacks into direct personal challenges to the opposition leader, demanding each time that Sir Alec rise and defend himself. When Sir Alec refused to budge, Mr. Wilson heaped scorn on him, more than once referring to the leadership struggle in the Conservative party and the shaky position of the "so-called" opposition leader.

By this time, the opposition had lost its sting. Sir Alec, looking even frailer than usual, sat hunched far down on the opposition front bench, the urbanity and confidence seeming to have deserted him. When Mr. Wilson reached the critical part of his speech — the announcement of the government's plans for the aircraft industry—it became evident that he had not only out-talked the opposition but that he had outmanoeuvred it as well.

Sir Alec had said earlier that Mr. Wilson's plan to unveil his program for the aircraft industry during the debate was a transparent device to draw attention from the censure motion. As it turned out, the new program was as flimsy and vulnerable as Sir Alec expected it to be. But Mr. Wilson's device had the opposite effect: He used the debate on the censure motion to ensure that the opposition would be thoroughly deflated before it had a chance to tear holes in his aircraft proposals.

At the end of the day, one thing seemed certain: Prime Minister Wilson and his government may yet be defeated on the hustings, but they will not likely be defeated on the floor of the House.

No Flag-Waver But . . .

I am not and never have been a flag-waver and I've done my share of scoffing at the people who have given the issue such great importance while more vital causes have been ignored.

But just the same, on Monday our nation officially flies its new flag for the first time. We stand with it before the other nations and say "under this emblem we shall seek our future greatness."

And on this momentous occasion we have no flags for our schools, no ceremonies for our children, no civic or provincial government recognition of the day. Just this once, I think, I could have cheered a marching color party.

Canada, I never noticed before, but I think you are falling apart.

R. P. L.

Flag

Prime Minister Pearson promised Canadians that if his party got into power at the last election he would give Canadians a new flag.

General H. D. G. Crerar, the distinguished commander of the 1st Canadian Army in the Second World War, recorded an incident of great historic significance for all Canadians when, recounting an official welcome to him in Ottawa on Aug. 8, 1945, by our war-time prime minister, the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, he wrote in the March, 1963, issue of the Legionary:

"As we moved away from the central entrance of the Parliament Buildings Mr. King turned sideways in the car and looked upward to the Peace Tower, where at the top the Canadian Red Ensign waved. He then said: "And that, General is another problem which your Canadian Army has solved for Canada—the matter of our national flag."

As regards the new flag, all I can say is ex rihilo nihil fit.

Car Insurance

I predict that the subject of automobile insurance will be a very sore point with citizens in this province before the year is out.

This is a matter which could be profitably investigated by the provincial government.

My automobile insurance increased this year by 100 per cent—from $44 to $88. I was given the following reasons:

(a) The population of Victoria has increased.

(b) I am driving a later model car.

(c) I use my car to drive to and from work.

In regard to (a), I fail to see what relation there can be to the birth rate and the influx of retired persons, both constituting the bulk of the population increase.

On the subject of point (b): I drove a 1948 model for 10 years, and during those years each time the subject of an insurance increase was raised I was told it was because the car was getting older. Now I am being persuaded to believe that the later the model the more insurance is necessary!

We are persistently informed by the authorities concerned that the high rate of accidents and fatalities on our roads is mainly attributable to intoxicating liquor. It therefore follows, according to my reasoning, that the majority of Canadians drive to work intoxicated.

S. B. SPENCER.

1296 Richardson St.

Need No Instruction

Mr. Robert Barrie, president of the Victoria Labor Council, comenting on the 30 per cent increase in the salaries of our legislators said, "We will have to bear this in mind in future negotiations for rate increases."

I don't think the labor unions need any instruction when it comes to securing an increase, completely out of line, from the helpless public. Under threat of strike the carpenters' union last year demanded and received a 24 per cent increase in their rates, half this year and half next year.

Under the terms of an agreement forced by the electricians union under threat of strike, last year electricians received an immediate increase and an agreement which will give them in three years, 40.5 per cent which means that in April of 1967 they will receive $5.31 per hour including fringe benefits. This comes to $9,300 per year.

Talk about fair increases, no one seems to notice labor increases but wait until you get the bill for new schools, public buildings and—heaven help you—repairs to your home. Too bad for poor old Joe Dokes if he doesn't belong to a pressure group that can raise its own salaries whenever it wishes and as high as it wishes with ruthless disregard for the fact that increases are out of all proportion to their fellow workers.

Looking Back

From the Times of Feb. 11, 1890:

One of the city's attractions next week will be a grand opera, which has scored successes in all parts of the United States from Washington to San Francisco. The engagement, the greatest attraction of the year, showed great enterprise on the part of the local managers. Reviews published in the San Francisco Post and the Washington Post praised Ema Juch and her company, including tenor Charles Hedment, basso Franz Vetta and the orchestra the direction of Mr. Nuendorff.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

I haven't seen Nan since she and her husband moved to the Atlantic Coast. Yet, the other day, as I stood in front of a downtown store, she seemed to be right beside me.

All because I happened to spot a bowl of goldfish in the store window.

You see, about the last time I did see Nan, she was all mixed up with a bowl of goldfish.

As I remember, we met at a noon hour and I asked her to have lunch with me.

"Can't!" she answered. "I'm rushing for a bus. I've got to get home. I'm having fish trouble."

She added that if she didn't go home she's have cooked fish into the bargain.

Naturally I was curious. Even more so when she reminded me that it had been all set to rain earlier in the morning.

"Now, look at the sunshine," she wailed. "It will be streaming into my living room."

I must have looked slightly bemused, for she suggested I walk to the bus with her and she'd tell me the whole story.

Seemed she was preparing for a visit from a young niece and she decided to buy some goldfish to help amuse her.

She went to a pet shop, picked out three fish, had them put in an attractive bowl and took them home.

This was two weeks before I saw her. The niece had not yet arrived and in the meantime my friend Nan, to use her own words, had become "very attached" to the fish.

I can still see her pacing back and forth at the bus stop as she told me she had even made a net to get them out of the bowl when it needed cleaning. Also, that she had named each one.

"What did you call them?" I asked.

"Sammy, Sally and Sue," she said.

* * *

I suggested it was foolish to get excited over three goldfish.

"I like the things," she explained. "With Jim away so much it's sort of friendly to come in and find them flipping about in their bowl.

"At least it was until the night I came home and found Sammy stretched out on top of the water."

"Dead?" I asked.

"That's what it looked like," she said.

"What happened?" I came back.

"I wasn't sure," she told me, "but I thought the living room might have been too warm. I'd forgotten to turn the heat down."

With this idea in mind Nan rushed to the kitchen, got a dish of ice water, fished Sammy out of his bowl and dumped him in the colder water in the hope the shock would bring him around.

"Any luck?" I asked.

"No!" she said sadly. "Sammy just rolled over and over, stiff as a board."

Nan felt so badly she decided to get the fish out of sight as quickly as possible. So she took Sammy and the ice water into the bathroom.

"Down the wash basin?" I guessed. "No!" she answered.

"The bathtub drain?" I suggested. "No!" she said.

"Well," I came back doubtfully, "there's only one other place in the bathroom."

"That's where Sammy went," she told me.

There was a self-conscious grin on her face as she continued: "Just as I was about to flush the water, the strangest thing happened. I thought I saw a fin move. I waited a minute and I was sure a fin moved."

So, she got the net, fished Sammy out and put him back in the ice water.

"You didn't!" I remember saying, rather hysterically.

"I most certainly did," she said.

* * *

With Sammy partly revived, friend Nan phoned the pet shop and learned that there might be something wrong with Sammy's gills or he might have had too much sun. Either way she was to put him in a bowl of salt and water and he might come out of it.

Which she did and in about an hour he was as lively as ever.

"Trouble is, I don't know whether it was the sun or his gills," Nan wailed as the bus pulled up and she got aboard. "Telephone me later on and I'll tell you if he's all right."

Would you believe it, I DID telephone her. Sammy was all right.

That's several years ago now. I've no idea what eventually happened to the three fish.

But, as I looked at their counterparts in that store window the other morning, I couldn't help wondering if Nan ever thinks of the day she fished Sammy out of a toilet bowl and brought him back to life in a dish of ice water.

YOUR HEALTH

By Dr. Walter Alvarez

There are a lot of people in this world who, when they have a cut in their skin, develop what is called a keloid. Instead of the skin healing over flat, there is a raised thickened area, and if something isn't done the nodule stays there for life. Many savages in Africa like to adorn themselves with keloids. By making cuts, and then perhaps rubbing in some ashes, they make designs on their chest and back.

We in North America don't like keloids and so the question is how to get rid of them. A couple of years ago I saw a boy who had a number of birthmarks removed and in every place a big keloid developed. One of my friends—a skin specialist—applied radiation from radium and got rid of the keloids. It is useless to cut them out because new ones develop.

A plastic surgeon who is going to do some work on a person, perhaps to beautify her, often makes a small cut somewhere to make sure that she is not the sort of person who develops keloids.

A man writes to ask if after working for years, first in a cement factory and later in a flour mill, he could have a so-called silicosis, the filling up of spaces in his lung with tiny particles of hard material. I should think he could if there was much dust in the place. Silicosis is commonly a disease of hardrock miners, men who spend years drilling holes through granite, and hence live in air full of stone dust.

Eventually they get a disease that looks like tuberculosis and sometimes is a tuberculosis—which came with the filling up of the minute spaces in the lungs with tiny bits of rock. When that happens, I don't know of any treatment that will get the dust out. An X-ray examination will show if a man has silicosis.

* * *

Osgood Slatter's disease is a strange disease usually found in boys. It affects the bones of the ankles. Sometimes the surgeon will put the ankle in a plaster cast. I understand that usually after a time the condition clears up.

If I had a boy with this trouble, I would seek out a good orthopedist and let him cope with the problem. There are many degrees of the disease and the man who is to advise treatment must see the X-ray films and must study the lad's ankles.

THE BEST FROM EUROPE

STABILITY THREATENED

India Communists Prosper

TRIVANDRUM, India (AP) —K. S. John is a South Indian, father of four children, and a trade union official.

He also is a dedicated Communist.

"This is not so strange," he says. "There are hundreds of thousands like me."

And, indeed, there are—much to the annoyance of Prime Minister Shastri's central government in New Delhi.

For John, 59, and his fellow South Indian Communists have turned this part of India into a perpetually boiling political arena threatening the nation's stability.

They took power legally in Kerala State elections in 1957 and held on for 2½ years. Now, they again threaten Shastri's way of doing things in election March 4.

These South Indian Communists have to be a strange breed to prosper in Kerala's political climate.

Kerala is about one-fourth Christian, so the Communists don't frown on church-going. John's wife and four children are Roman Catholics and he says "I also believe in God."

The state literacy rate, 46.2 per cent, is perhaps double that of the rest of India so the Communists pitch their campaigns to the educated middle class, not the illiterate workers or farmers.

UNEMPLOYMENT HIGH

Virtually no industry has settled in the state and it is short of that all-important food, rice. Unemployment is high.

Population increases have been tremendous (24.6 per cent in 1951-61) and in some areas population density has reached 2,400 persons a square mile.

A discontented student movement has grown from this. Thousands now march under the red banner.

John became a probationary Communist in 1948 and got his party card in 1950, he says.

High-ranking union jobs began falling into his lap.

His monthly income is 150 rupees ($31.50)—about triple the wages paid laborers.

Pearson Gets A-G Position

A. L. Pearson, QC, has been promoted to assistant deputy attorney-general, it was announced Wednesday.

Mr. Pearson has been with the department 36 years and held the dual posts of general solicitor and inspector of legal offices. He will retain the latter in his new capacity.

The assistant deputy's post has been vacant since 1958.

Cutter Moves Floe

BOSTON (AP) — U.S. Coast Guard headquarters reported Wednesday the cutter Eastwind, on duty in Antarctica, pushed a huge ice floe 10 miles into open water when it threatened to close the channel to McMurdo Station. Pushing the huge ice floe, which measured some six miles long and four miles wide, took two days. The coast guard estimated the floe weighed between 80,000,000 and 90,000,000 tons.

BENNETT SAYS 'NO'

Premier W. A. C. Bennett Wednesday tabled negative replies by Gordon Dowding (NDP—Burnaby) asking if he had met Harry Stonehill aboard a Pacific Great Eastern Railway private coach or had given Mr. Stonehill use of his coach last year.

STEELMEN'S VOTE

Abel Continues To Retain Lead

ABEL
. . . edge in Canada

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — I. W. Abel continued to hold the lead in the fight for presidency of the United Steelworkers (USW) today but his margin was being whittled away by incumbent David J. McDonald in late returns from some of the larger local unions.

With 2,768 of 3,203 USW locals reporting in Tuesday's election, an unofficial tabulation showed Abel with 262,231 votes to 253,249 for McDonald.

Abel's lead throughout the night ranged from 11,000 to 14,000 votes. But late final returns from some large locals in the western Pennsylvania steel complex began to reduce his margin.

McDonald supporters said at mid-morning that the remaining larger locals, "particularly those in the east," would give their candidate at least a 2-1 edge.

The unofficial returns must be sent to the international tellers here within 10 days after the polls closed and will be tabulated officially starting Feb. 19. A union official said the unofficial tabulations were difficult to assess and claimed that a 10,000-vote lead could easily be increased to twice that size or wiped out entirely by the official tally.

CANADA VOTING

Abel, 56, took the lead late Tuesday night in his bid to unseat his one-time friend, who was seeking his fourth four-year term as president of the nation's third largest union. McDonald is 62.

Abel was leading incumbent everywhere in Canada except the Atlantic provinces Wednesday night.

In Quebec, a union spokesman said Abel had 6,819 votes to McDonald's 2,744 after 80 of 90 polls had reported in District 5.

District 6—Ontario and Western Canada—gave a lead of about 3 to 2 to Abel with ballots counted in 164 of 380 locals.

The count included the vote from major locals at Hamilton, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie and Thompson, Man.

But in the Maritimes, officials in Sydney, N.S., said McDonald led Abel 701-558 in early light voting. Results from five other locals, including three in remote Labrador areas, probably would not be available until later.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most prices were firm in dull trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange, except for rye.

The tense international situation caused protective buying on America nmarkets and this was reflected in Winnipeg trade.

Most activity was in oilseeds, where overseas support and inquiry held prices firm. Sales of 1,000 tons of rapeseed and 500 tons of flax to Japan were reported.

Oats and barley were steady in light domestic trade.

Rye was hesitant and easier, reflecting a declining Chicago market.

Sale of 750,000 bushels of Canadian wheat to Britain was reported.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all up ¼ cent.

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures prices moved higher on the board of trade today but most grain futures were mixed or fractionally lower.

Intensified military operations in the Far East and renewed efforts to bring a quick end to the U.S. longshoremen's strike in eastern and gulf ports gave an early boost to most commodity prices.

A large elevator house bought fair amounts of July wheat on an early price setback and there was commercial buying of corn.

What Is INVESTMENT EFFICIENCY?
Well, let's start with what represents Investment INEFFICIENCY: If you invested $2,000 at 7½%, repayable at $50 per month, such monthly repayment ceases to earn interest, as do subsequent payments that remain idle while funds accumulate to a suitable reinvestment sum. We might overcome this by investing our $2,000 at 7½%, payable interest only quarterly, with principal payable in full, say, in three years. This is fine, if we wish to spend the interest for cost of living, as the entire principal "Keeps Busy." But if you have no need to support your present cost of living with the earnings, MAXIMUM INVESTMENT EFFICIENCY can be effected by compounding your earnings. In fact, a 7½% investment compounded quarterly for 5 years provides a 45% growth. ($1,000 returns $1,450). To get this efficiency on really sound security buy Victoria Mortgage 7½% 5-year debentures with interest paid or compounded quarterly.

it isn't that Bea Wright, our home economist, is a compulsive eater, it's just that a large part of her job is tasting food. For example she has to cook and bake those tempting recipes she puts out each week (they're yours for the taking). The most important part of her day is taken up with testing the quality of Woodward's brands and new products that we want to make sure are up to our standard before we offer them to you. In this way she and her many assistants get to know a lot about food and its preparation. Try Bea Wright's service this week it's just one of the ways we serve you better.

CLEAR HIM OR FIRE HIM: MLA

Jones Case Inactivity Hit

The provincial cabinet was criticized a third time in the legislature Wednesday for failing to resolve the position of G. E. P. Jones, suspended chairman of the purchasing commission.

Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan) said Mr. Jones—acquitted on charges of accepting benefits—must be reinstated or else brought before the legislature which is the only body that can fire him.

"When will this be cleared up?" asked Mr. Harding.

"This legislature has every right to expect a full statement by the premier or the attorney-general on this matter."

He said Mr. Jones should not be kept "under suspicion and suspension" any longer.

Premier Bennett was absent when Mr. Harding made his remarks. Attorney-General Bonner listened but made no reply.

SNOW SNAPS PALM TREES IN ARIZONA

TUCSON, Ariz (AP) — More han four inches of snow fell on Tucson Wednesday in the third heaviest fall in the desert city's history. The branches of palm and orange trees broke under the weight. The temperature reached a low of 29.

NO SERIOUS DIFFICULTIES

Johnson Plan 'Reassures' Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon said Wednesday no serious difficulty for Canada appears to flow from President Johnson's new balance-of-payments measures, but Canada won't be left entirely untouched.

He assured U.S. Treasury Secretary Dillon that Canada will not use an exemption granted earlier from the interest equalization tax to borrow funds in the U.S. to increase this country's foreign exchange reserves.

Mr. Gordon said in a statement that the special message to Congress by President Johnson is "reassuring" to Canada.

"They are taking extensive measures to deal with their own balance of payments situation, and it is clear that in doing so they have taken account of our situation here.

"The tdrade and financial relations between Canada and the U.S. are so substantial that we could scarcely expect the U.S. to take measures to improve its balance of payments which would leave us untouched.

"However, there does not appear to be anything amongst the president's proposals that will cause Canada serious difficulty."

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

MISS MIDNIGHT'S NOTEBOOK: Washington insiders predict that one of the most powerful members of the state department may be replaced. He's "skating on very thin ice" with President Johnson . . . W. 56th St., which has been one of the biggest restaurant blocks in midtown for years—it features, among others, the superb Seafare of the Aegean—suddenly is emerging from its culinary groove and becoming a headquarters for discotheques. One of the new frug places may be Japanese . . . Friends are concerned about Spencer Tracy again.

Joan Crawford has been chosen to rechristen Times Square "Damon Runyon Square" at ceremonies next week in preparation for the big benefit premiere of "Lord Jim" for the Runyon Fund on Feb. 25 . . . There were fewer than 80 people at a huge New York night club for the main show the other night. And why not? The star act, a vulgar one, should have retired years ago . . . As of now, Julie Andrews—sparkplug of "The Sound of Music"—has been invited to the White House by the President, to Boston by the Kennedys and to London by Princess Margaret, for showings of the magnificent movie musical—and the film won't be unveiled for the New York critics until March 2.

Sybil, that woman from England who claims to be a witch, is negotiating to take a national magazine photographer to Jane Morgan's house in Maine to play havoc with the ghosts that are supposed to reside there . . . A famous aquatic star has been swimming too deep at the gaming tables in Las Vegas, with losses hovering near the six-figure mark . . . Anything for laughs. Seven Arts actually air-expressed 50 American diapers from the United States to London for Warren Beatty's new film, "Promise Her Anything" (formerly "The Baby Sitter," which seems more on the mark). They use a different style of diaper in England, and it was felt by some genius that they would be "unrecognizable and out of character" in an American picture, especially with Leslie Caron doing the diapering. Come on boys! That message would get across even in Patagonia. One of your executives is being funny.)

Richard Kiley of "I Had a Ball" missed a performance the other night. His car broke down on Route 3, halfway between Tuxedo Park and the theatre, and his understudy, Charles Braswell, had to substitute at the last minute . . . They want Rex Harrison badly for the Irving Berlin musical, "Say It With Music" (MGM version), but it appeared that Rex was booked for a year and a half, at least.

* * *

Dolores Hope has been accompanying Bob on a number of his recent trips—a new scene for her. She's expected to be with Bob at the big dinner honoring Cardinal Spellman for the Catholic Youth Organization in New York, then they'll go to the Parkinson's Disease Benefit in Miami Beach, and after that it will be a brief trip to the Bahamas, where they'll celebrate their 31st wedding anniversary on Feb. 19 . . . For the first time, Red China will enter motion pictures at the Cannes Film Festival. It should be thrilling to see those romantic closeups of tractors and the sexy wardrobes their women wear in the fields.

Due at the Four Season: Liza Minnelli and fiance Peter Allen. Liza was wearing what might have been an engagement ring, but she wasn't talking about it . . . Dick Clark flew into Philadelphia from California for a two-hour stay. He taped a segment of his CBS-TV special, "Where the Action Is," with Bobby Rydell—who will be inducted into the army this week—then jetted back to the Coast.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Judy Pastor, age 14, of Pittsburgh, Pa., for her question:

What is mycelium?

Suppose you had to find a name for a plant made entirely of rooty filaments. The experts were faced with this wordy problem when they needed a term to describe the bodies of certain fungus plants. They solved it by creating the word mycelium from the Greek word for mushroom.

Mushrooms and toadstools pop up from the ground on dewy mornings and sometimes after mild summer showers. They seem to come from nowhere, but this cannot be true. We call each stubby umbrella a mushroom or a toadstool as though it were an entire plant. But this is not true either. Actually, the stubby umbrella that pokes above the ground is just one part of the fungus plant.

The main part of a mushroom plant is buried out of sight in the soil. It is a tangled mass of rooty fibers forming a spongy mixture with the rich dirt. This mesh of pale threads is the mycelium, and mycelium is the main plant body of most members of the fungi family. Its rooty threads are called hyphae, and each fleshy hypha does far more work than a root on a non-fungus plant.

A new mushroom sprouts from a tiny spore, and almost at once its fine threads of mycelium begin to finger their way through the moist earth. The young fungus may grow below ground for a year or several years, spreading its network of fibers far and wide. Its mycelium soaks up moisture and chemicals from the soil, but the pale threads contain no green chlorophyl to create food for the growing plant. It cannot make its needed plant sugars from air, water and sunlight.

Grows In Super-Rich Soil

For this reason the fungus can grow only in super-rich soils. It depends for food upon rotting logs and leaves and other substances that were created by living green plants. The chemicals in these prefabricated plant foods are dissolved in the moisture of the soil and absorbed by the mycelium. The entire fungus plant could live and die without poking one shoot above the ground. Truffles and certain other fungi never see the light of day. But the mushroom mycelium pokes up stubby shoots when time comes to hand on life to a new generation. The fat little umbrellas that we call the mushrooms are only the fruiting bodies of the main plant, which is the buried mycelium.

Many members of the fungus family live as parasites within the living tissues of other plants. These uninvited guests may be rusts or mildews, and like other fungi they spread forth masses of mycelium. When these hungry threads spread through living tissues they damage the cells and often destroy the host plant. The rusty spots on a green leave may be caused by the fruiting bodies of certain parasitical fungi. The black spots on rye and willow may be caused by the strangling mycelium of fungi growing within the host plants.

* * *

Andy sends a 15-inch World Book Globe to John Murphy, age seven, of Stanley, N.C., for his question:

Why do heights make our ears pop?

The outer ears are the ones on the outside of your head. The inner ears that do the hearing work are deep down in the bones of your skull. Each outer ear leads into an inner ear by a small tunnel. The ear drum is a flap of skin like a little door across this tunnel.

On the ground the air pressure is the same on both sides of the ear drum. When we go up a mountain or up in a plane the air pressure becomes less. The pressure is less on the outside of the ear drum and greater on the inside. The ear drum bulges and feels stopped up. But when you swallow, the air inside escapes down your throat and the ear drum pops back to its proper shape.

PIONEER TEACHER HONORED

Gladys Ledingham finally got an apple from a Craigflower school student Tuesday, more than 50 years late.

Miss Ledingham, 72, was a teacher at the school from 1914 to 1918 and the symbolic apple was presented to her at the school's 50th Anniversary of the Parent-Teacher Association.

A native of Victoria, Miss Ledingham began teaching at Craigflower immediately after attending Normal School here.

After Craigflower she taught in the Cloverdale, Cedar Hill and Sir James Douglas Schools, retiring in 1951.

Other guests of honor were Jean Lorimer and Mrs. C. W. Davis, both daughters of the founder of the Craigflower PTA which was the first in Western Canada.

TEEN-AGE CANADA

★★★ ★★★

A. Mackenzie? Who Was He?

By JACK HUTTON

Quick now, without thumbing through that nearby bookshelf, who was the second president of the United States? You're absolutely correct—John Adams.

Who was the second prime minister of Canada?

A blank? Think of a man with long wavy hair, smooth upper lip but thick, billowing whiskers framing his face. His name was Alexander Mackenzie, the first of our prime ministers to coincide with a depression.

Sir John A. Macdonald, defeated by Mackenzie in November, 1873, rode back to victory five years later in October, 1878.

I wonder how many of us in our generation can rhyme off facts and figures about American history, thanks to the impact of TV, magazines and films from south of the border, while we drew blanks on our own forefathers.

The best promotion I've seen of its kind has just been launched across Canada by the Quaker Oats Co., of Canada, Ltd., in stores and schools—an offer to supply sketches of all 14 prime ministers for 50 cents and two of their box tops.

Rather Kind

They are good. I have got all 14 thumbtacked to my basement wall right now, in fact, looking out sombrely on the mess that usually surrounds my desk and typewriter.

Frankly, I suspect artist Harold Shaw of being rather kind to some of his subjects. Prime Minister Lester Pearson and former prime minister John Diefenbaker both look at least 10 years younger than their present ages.

But the sketches are still valuable. And they have led to a new game around our house—the Prime Minister Game.

Really, you have no idea how superior you can feel after you have studied the dates for a few evenings (dates of office are listed on each sketch). When friends visit, I casually mention Sir John Thompson.

"Sir John Thompson?" gapes one visitor.

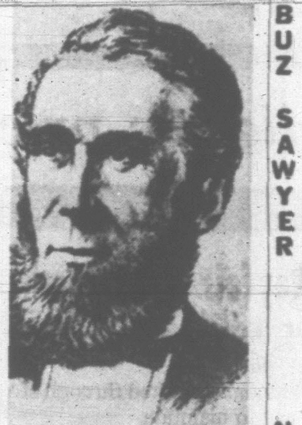
"Yes, surely you must remember the fourth prime minister of Canada," I reply. "A Nova Scotia gentleman who served as minister of justice in Sir John A. Macdonald's cabinet. You mean to say you hadn't heard of him?"

"Well, as a matter of fact . . ." says my friend, looking helplessly at the wall.

"What about Sir Charles Tupper?"

TV Movie

"Ah, wasn't he on that late TV movie the other night with Bette Davis?"



MACKENZIE
. . . three guesses

At this point I provide pencils and paper for guests to try their luck at naming as many of the 14 prime ministers as possible. Average score has been seven. Very good is 10; and anyone naming 14 rates as a scholar.

How would you fare? Or your family? Why not draw up a chair around the kitchen table and see who the Canadian history buff is in your family circle? (Try not to peek at the answers below.)

You can get the 14 sketches by writing to Quaker Oats Centennial Offer, Box 3887, Terminal A, Toronto 1. They ask you to include 50 cents and two box tops.

Names of the prime ministers—Sir John A. Macdonald, Alexander Mackenzie, Sir John Abbott, Sir John Thompson, Sir Mackenzie Bowell, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Robert Borden, Arthur Meighen, Mackenzie King, R. B. Bennett, Louis St. Laurent, John Diefenbaker, Lester B. Pearson. How'd you do?

Pen Pals

Project PEN is into a new country this week—Korea.

Thanks to Diane Westbrook, a Grade 10 student in London, Ont., we have the name of Mr. Choi Un Gwon, president of the Student Pen Pal Club in Korea. His address: Student Pen Pal Club, P.O. Box 98, Kwang Wha Mun, Seoul, Korea.

He has promised that every overseas student who writes to him, listing name, address, sex, age and hobbies, will hear back from at least one pen pal within "10 to 25 days."

If you write Mr. Gwon, he will also mail back a form for others who may want to join the world's fastest growing form of international communication.

In fact, I think I will sit down now and write him myself.

FORECAST BY WILLISTON

Quick Pulp Mill Growth Seen

Resources Minister Ray Williston Wednesday predicted that pulp mill capacity in B.C. will double within five years; the record timber "cut" will double, and pipelines will move chips from the woods to mills.

He said there was no ground for fears that too much timber is being cut now or that B.C.'s pulp and paper industry will go out onto dangerous limb of over-expansion.

Mr. Williston announced that an exchange of trade missions between B.C. and Britain has resulted in five British firms deciding to enter into production of pre-fabricated timber homes which will further expand a growing market for B.C. lumber there.

He also indicated that to increase utilization of trees now wasted, the government at this session will ask the legislature to add a new kind of timber sale which involves a "cutting permit" in a general area.

This determines the amount of timber the licensee can cut in a given time and allows introduction of the bonus bid so that a true auction for cutting rights is held.

He said an experiment with this type of bid in a specially-designated area near Prince George had led to better utilization of the forest resource and wider application would permit it to supplement the timber licences now issued.

SAWDUST USED

As more utilization is sought, new and more complex machinery is installed so that even sawdust is used in pulp manufacture. At one plant alone, using sawdust produced the equivalent of 40 million board feet of standing timber.

He said greater utilization had caused the wholesale use of wood chips which previously were wasted and this in turn has had a tremendous impact on trucking and the PGE railway in transporting the large volume of chips.

"I predict it is not going to be long before we're moving chips by pipeline from point to point in this province," he told the legislature.

He said an experiment already has proved chips can be pumped through a pipe in a water solution and work is under way to solve problems of feeding the material into the pipe from a location in the woods and extracting the water at delivery point.

Mr. Williston said pulp mills under construction and firmly planned will double the present 3,450,000-ton annual capacity of pulp in B.C.

He said only about 2,845,000 tons were produced last year because several new mills opened near the end of the year.

Mr. Williston said every proposed new pulp mill had a connection with an international marketing firm so that "if anyone is going to be able to sell their pulp it is British Columbia."

HUGE INCREASE

He added that despite the huge increase in capacity within five years, it represented less than 5 per cent of the United Nations prediction that world demand for pulp will increase 50 million tons annually by 1975.

Mr. Williston also said fears that the province's forests are being over-cut are unfounded.

He said although a record 1.5 billion cubic feet was harvested from the forests last year "the ultimate capacity we can forsee now is 3 billion cubic feet—in other words we have only reached the half-way mark toward full utilization."

Mr. Williston said with new and better equipment and techniques, startling increases in the harvest could be produced by cutting the same number of trees but wasting less wood.

He said if a logger fells a typical 140-foot cedar, lopping off the top foot and leaving a two-foot stump in the ground, the tree will yield about 6,708 cubic feet of wood.

But a 60 per cent increase in wood production could be obtained from the same tree if only the top four inches was sliced off and only a one-foot-high stump was left.

INCOME RISES

Mr. Williston said provincial revenues from the forest resource had grown to five times the sum collected in 1952 before the Social Credit government took office and this answered opposition contentions that not enough money is made by the treasury.

He added that if present stumpage charges were increased it could wipe out many small loggers who had all their savings invested in their businesses.

He said a total of more than 14.2 million seedlings were planted last year in the reforestation program, a new high.

In a brief report on the provincial water resources service which he also heads, Mr. Williston said the province generated about 17 billion kilowatt hours last year—an increase of 11.1 per cent.

CPR Wants To 'Destroy' Rail Unions

N. R. Crump, president of the CPR, was blamed by a government backbencher in the B.C. legislature Wednesday for a strike paralyzing the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway.

Donald Robinson (SC—Lillooet) said Mr. Crump "and his Windsor Street boys" are determined to destroy the railroad brotherhoods.

Mr. Robinson, an official of the PGE Firemen's Brotherhood, told the House Mr. Crump has been putting pressure on the PGE management to refuse to give in to the demands of striking trainmen, "and we're caught in the middle."

He later told reporters outside the House that Mr. Crump "spearheaded the move to wipe out firemen and now he wants to wipe out trainmen, too."

He said the CPR is mounting a campaign to eliminate a long list of "arbitraries and other rules."

A victory for the trainmen in the strike would make it harder for the CPR campaign to succeed.

Victoria, Health Officer Lashed on Sewage Protest

By ROGER STONEBANKS

City council and Metro health officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread were severely criticized Wednesday by Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis for opposition to sewerage plans in the municipality.

His comments were prompted by metro health's recommendation against Saanich's plan to double the existing sewage treatment plant serving the Northridge subdivision.

Decision on the applications to the provincial government's pollution control board is expected shortly.

Mr. Curtis said the health board has shown "a complete unwillingness" to see what Saanich is doing and is being misled into thinking the plans are to dump raw sewage into Colquitz Creek, which flows into the Gorge.

The effluent from the treatment plant would be almost pure water, he said.

"I suggest Dr. Whitbread is doing Saanich a real dis-service," he continued.

"I have indicated before and repeat: The recreational potential of the Gorge, while important, must be secondary to the provision of proper sanitary sewers in residential areas of our municipality.

"Raw sewage in roadside ditches can't be considered preferable to properly treated efffluent discharged into salt water.

"Rather than simply suggest to the board that it oppose it, Dr. Whitbread would be better advised to take a good hard look at the only alternative—septic tanks in heavily concentrated residential areas.

"I am at a loss to understand Dr. Whitbread's dogmatic attitude . . ."

Sewage treatment was a continuing sore point between the city and Saanich.

"Despite efforts on both sides there will continue to be ill feeling between Saanich and city councils as long as these opinions are permitted to rule over common sense and a sympathetic understanding of our very worthwhile sewering plans."

Mr. Curtis concluded: "I'm tired of fighting obsession with the Gorge where common sense should prevail."

Gun Trade Halted For Arab Support

CAIRO (AP)—Prime Minister Aly Sabry said Wednesday night West Germany has agreed to stop shipping arms to Israel. He told the National Assembly that in return the United Arab Republic would support reunification of Germany.

The expression of support for German unity was interpreted to mean that the U.A.R. would not recognize Communist East Germany, whose president, Walter Ulbricht, is to visit Cairo Feb. 26.

West German officials had said Ulbricht's visit to Cairo might amount to de facto recognition of the East German regime, and that Bonn then would probably break relations with Egypt as it usually does with governments that recognize East Germany.

President Nasser countered with a threat to break relations with Bonn.

THREE-MILE FORCED MARCH

Sheriff Punishes Negro Teenagers

SELMA, Ala. (AP)—Negroes sought protection of U.S. troops in their civil rights struggle after 160 Negro teen-agers were forced to march three miles outside Selma Wednesday by Sheriff James Clark.

Still more right-to-vote demonstrations were promised today and some of the Negro students said they would lie down on the sidewalk if Clark attempted to drive them away again.

Hundreds of aroused parents voted Wednesday night to ask President Johnson to put Selma under martial rule.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., returning to the city several hours after the sheriff had compelled the teen-age demonstrators to walk and run three miles into the countryside, warned his followers once more that they "must not return violence for violence."

"We must tell those who oppress us," he added, "that 'we will wear you down with our capacity to suffer'."

King related in detail his conference with Johnson and in Washington Tuesday and said the president had promised to seek new federal voter legislation.

The integration leader reminded the angered parents they will have another chance to register as voters Monday. The Dallas County board of registrars meets for the second and final session this month.

SEEKS LARGE TURNOUT

He urged Negroes to turn out "in numbers that will let the nation, the world, Governor (George) Wallace and Sheriff Clark know that we do not intend to stop until we can register without any obstacles."

Meanwhile, several students returning from the forced march complained that they were jabbed with nightsticks by deputies who herded them along the three-mile route. The sheriff said he did not see any of his officers use clubs on the Negroes.

Clark said he had arrested the students for truancy and that he intended to make them walk six miles to a police lodge. He said the county jail was crowded but made no mention of a former armory near the courthouse where other student demonstrators had been taken earlier.

Halfway to their destination, the students broke ranks and fled into Negro homes along the roadside. Clark said he and his deputies, riding in cars, were unable to catch them.

A two-day voter registration drive in Montgomery produced 711 applications by Negroes.

A total of 428 applications were filed Wednesday by would-be voters—391 of them by Negroes. The previous record was 248 in one day.

The Montgomery County board of registrars gave no indication as to how many persons were registered.

Youths Admit Stabbing RCMP Constable

SALMON ARM (CP) — Three juveniles pleaded guilty today in adult court here to charges of assaulting an RCMP corporal.

John Jamieson, 16, of Kelsey Bay; Clair Wilson, 16, of Campbell River, and Wayne Scott, 17, of Surrey, were remanded to Feb. 12 for sentencing.

They were transferred to adult court charged with assaulting Cpl. John Lawson, 33, with intent to evade arrest Jan. 28 after being picked up in a stolen car on the highway near here.

Cpl. Lawson was stabbed in the back as he drove the trio and an 18-year-old girl companion to Salmon Arm.

Population Up

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's population at Jan. 1, 1965, numbered 19,440,000, an increase of 347,000 or 1.8 per cent since Jan. 1 last year and of 1,202,000 or 6.6 per cent since the census of June 1, 1961, the bureau of statistics reported.

UBC Granted Right To Invest in Stocks

VANCOUVER (CP)—The University of British Columbia has been authorized to invest in common stocks.

A provincial government cabinet order in council Wednesday gave permission for UBC to buy certain common stocks, including those of five chartered banks, several oil companies, manufacturing concerns, trust companies, utilities and department store chains.

The list of 39 stocks has been qualified in the past under federal law for investment by insurance companies, but UBC could only invest in bonds.

A UBC announcement said the order in council will permit UBC to reinvest in equities donated to it, to get the best possible return on its investment.

It will not allow the university to invest cash donations or operating revenues in shares, a spokesman said.

AT STRATHCONA

Nimrods Want Townsite Ban

A town in Strathcona Park would be an open invitation to other mining companies to develop mining claims in the area.

The B.C. Council of Outdoors Clubs went on record Wednesday as being opposed to the townsite proposed and the allied proposal of an access road.

Western Mines Ltd., has asked the government's permission to build a town near Buttle Lake and "reasonably close" to the mine.

C. M. Campbell, Jr., general manager of the company, told council members that it was too much to ask workers to commute daily between the mine and Campbell River some 50 miles away.

He said that any development would take place with careful consideration given to the surrounding park area.

NOT IMPRESSED

But he failed to impress the 25 members of outdoor groups from Vancouver Island.

Several members stressed that logging companies require their workers to commute far greater distances daily and said they failed to see that the distance mentioned by Mr. Campbell imposed any great hardship.

Others expressed the fear that development of a townsite and the building of an access road would spark additional development by other mining companies.

None of the council members challenged Mr. Campbell when he pointed out that legally nothing could stop development of the mine.

He said the company intended to operate the mine within the terms and specifications laid down by the government and assured the group that no mine tailings would be dropped in nearby Buttle Lake.

He also promised that great care would be taken not to contaminate the park in any way.

His plea for co-operation was rejected outright when W. H. Warren of the Victoria Outdoors Club introduced a motion urging the government to enforce regulations for Class A parks and forbid development of the townsite.

A second resolution asked the government to prevent the building of an access road but added the rider that if the road must be built, revenue from trees taken from the right-of-way go into government coffers.

Drafts of both resolutions will go out to all outdoors clubs on the Island with a letter urging individual members to write their MLA protesting the development movement.

Monday night in Campbell River the local fish and game group decided to send a sharp letter of protest to Mr. Keirnan, minister of recreation, asking him to reject the mine company plan.

On Tuesday afternoon Mr. Keirnan touched briefly on the matter in the legislature. He said it did no good for "people to stand and scream at a minister to straighten out a 30-year old situation."

ULTIMATUM: 'TURN OUT OR WE FOLD'

Colwood businessmen have until March 2 to decide the fate of their Chamber of Commerce.

"If they turn out in full force for the meeting that night we shall carry on," says president Marshall Smith.

Mr. Marshall said that less than 10 members—not enough to form a quorum—had turned out for the last two meetings.

The March 2 meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. in the auxiliary hall at Dunford and Carlow is the annual meeting of the group at which the election of officers is held.

Gale was the driver of the car. He was travelling south, about five miles south of here, when the car skidded out of control.

It flipped over onto its roof.

Mystery Shrouds Hit-Run

LADYSMITH — Mystery continues to surround the circumstances leading up to the death Oct. 1 of Emil Constantine Mackie, 69.

The mystery deepened Wednesday after a coroner's jury brought in a verdict of accidental death by a fast moving vehicle driven by a person unknown.

Coroner Russell Inkster greeted the veridct with: "Possibly some day the truth may come out."

Kenneth Sutherland, head of Ladysmith RCMP said: "Investigations will definitely continue."

Police do know the dead man was knocked down by a vehicle some time during the night of Oct. 1 or in the early hours of Oct. 2.

At the time he was on his way home along Wharf St., which leads to the Government Wharf and a short distance from his home.

Earlier in the evening the dead man had been drinking in the Ross Hotel beer parlor.

Several patrons gave evidence when the inquest opened Jan. 14 of two arguments in Finnish between Mr. Mackie and Ladysmith resident Klaus (Red) Johnson, a 37-year-old longshoreman.

That inquest was adjourned after RCMP produced fibres taken from the bottom of Mr. Johnson's car which seemed to tally with the fibres of a blue coat worn by Mr. Mackie on the night of his death.

Johnson produced a similar coat owned by himself.

Wednesday, lab tests were produced.

Their conclusion: It was impossible to differentiate between the two coats.

At the earlier inquest Johnson said he left the beer parlor between midnight and 12:30 to drive to the home of Mrs. Violet Birkeland, a pub patron.

He said he talked with her 15-year-old daughter Shirley until 5 a.m.

Asked about a time lapse between leaving the beer parlor and arriving at the Birkeland home, Johnson said: "I don't know. I had a bit of trouble starting the car."

When further references were made to the time lapse he just said: "I don't know."

RCMP constable William Ronekamp said he and the coroner drove the distance last Friday at 25 to 30 miles an hour. It took five or six minutes.

Johnson denied knowledge of the alleged argument with Mackie.

Meters Raided Again

DUNCAN—RCMP are investigating another raid on downtown parking meters here. About 20 meters were broken into and an undetermined sum of money stolen.

Fire on Troller

TOFINO—An oil stove caught fire Wednesday aboard the troller Phoebe J. tied up at Fisherman's Wharf. Owner Alfred Jensen managed to bring the fire under control before the local brigade arrived.

Crack Battalion To Hold Reunion

About 70 old sweats will swap stories and reminisce Saturday evening at a reunion marking the 50th anniversary of the 30th Battalion, CEF.

The reunion will be held in the Ingraham Hotel, starting with a banquet at 6 p.m. After-dinner speeches will be followed by a sing-song of First World War hits.

The 30th Battalion was the first full battalion of 1,100 men to leave Victoria for overseas, Feb. 14, 1915.

Upon its arrival, the battalion was split up as reinforcements for the 7th, 15th and 16th battalions of the first Canadian division.

They left England April 26 and were in the trenches two days later.

Men of the 16th batalion were in the front lines at Ypres April 28 but those in the 7th and 15th battalions did not get up front until May 17.

WAR HERO

Most noted war hero of the battalion was Cy Peck, who was decorated with the Victoria Cross.

Of the original 1,100 men, 98 are living today. Most of them are Victorians.

Members coming to the reunion and anniversary celebration will be from various Island and Interior points.

Two are coming from Ontario and one from Seattle.

C. Saanich, Sidney Plan Delegates

Central Saanich and Sidney have agreed to send representatives to a meeting to explore the possibilities of establishing an intermetropolitan committee.

The meeting is to be called by Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox, who suggested formation of a committee composed of representatives from the municipalities of Greater Vancouver and Greater Victoria to discuss mutual problems.

The proposal was greeted with enthusiasm by the Sidney Village commission, but met with strong opposition from two councillors at a Central Saanich council meeting Tuesday.

Coun. Ray Lamont, supported by Coun. Phillip Benn, felt Central Saanich has nothing to gain in participating in an intermetropolitan setup.

"This committee may bring some benefits to urban areas, but not to rural areas, like Central Saanich," said Coun. Lamont.

Reeve R. Robert Lee said there was no question yet of Central Saanich participating in an intermetropolitan committee.

"But I think we should attend the meeting when it is called to see what it's all about," he said. Central Saanich can't stand still. Changes and new problems are arising every year and we should be prepared to meet them."

RCMP Constable Jailed for Fraud

PRINCE RUPERT (CP)—An RCMP constable was sentenced here Wednesday to two months in jail after he pleaded guilty to fraud in the handling of meal accounts for prisoners at this northcoast community's jail.

Constable A. G. Kemp, 25, was one of four men—two other RCMP constables and a restaurant owner — charged with fraud.

The restaurant owner, Low Kut Sing, 69, also pleaded guilty and was given a suspended sentence. Magistrate Harvey Jessop of Kitimat ordered Sing released after he posted a $500 bond to keep the peace for two years.

A stay of proceedings was ordered for Const. W. L. Giesbrecht, 27, who is being treated in a Vancouver hospital for a serious head wound.

Prosecutor Ernest Alexander of Vancouver told Wednesday's hearing that the constable is so gravely wounded he may "never be fit to conduct his affairs."

The constable's wife found him unconscious with a bullet wound in the head when she returned to their Grand Forks home from a shopping trip last August.

Const. W. S. Austin, 26, the fourth man charged, was granted an adjournment to Feb. 26 pending the arrival of his lawyer.

In passing sentence on Kemp, Magistrate Jessop said he took into account the constable was married with children and that his career as a public servant was at an end.

In sentencing Sing, Magistrate Jessop said he considered the man's age and the fact he had made restitution.

Mr. Alexander told the court that between April 1963 and July 1964 there was an overpayment in the meal accounts to Sing's Grand Cafe from the Prince Rupert jail of $3,468.

He said during this time Kemp received between $20 and $50 cash a month from Sing together with an indeterminable amount of groceries.

Mr. Alexander said Sing paid an average of $60 a month to the RCMP constable involved, together with groceries worth $20 a month "delivered personally to the constables' places of abode."

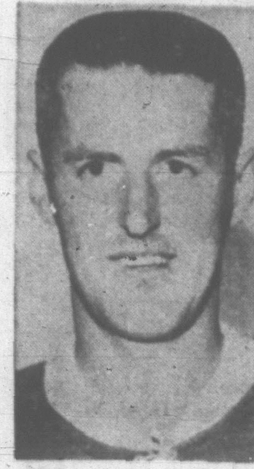
LOOKS AT SPORTS

When Allan Houle was a tike in plus fours, he enjoyed turning on the wireless to catch a popular cowboy crooner warble the ditty, "Letter Edged in Black."

The song and the singer may have passed into obscurity, but the message came through strong and clear last week for the Victoria Maple Leafs' premier of finance.

"Before I went to Toronto," Mr. Houle was saying at a hockey bunfeed Tuesday, "I happened to glance through a book my wife had bought.



BILLY HARRIS

"Under my sign was a notation 'Don't fly in February'."

Mr. Houle didn't fly to Toronto. He took the plane. He crossed his arms, legs and eyes, and invoked divine protection. He made it safely. And perspiring.

"The day I arrived," Houle said, "an army buddy of mine who had lost a leg at Ortona, slipped on his basement stairs. Suffered a fractured skull. Never came out of it.

"Last Saturday the daughter of a close friend who had built my house was involved in a traffic accident. She was 21, one of the finest horsewomen in the East. She died instantly."

Pause.

"Then I talked to Punch Imlach," Houle said.

Another pause.

"I didn't do any good there either."

Their Big NHL Problem? Slivers . . .

The effect of Houle's cryptic quote was that Mr. Imlach, the gentle geriatrician of the parent Toronto Maple Leafs, was not giving away any jollies. Especially to Victoria.

Imlach is the lord high chief of the Maple Leaf empire, entrusted with winning pennants and placing personnel where it will do the most good.

Specifically, Houle sought to pry from Imlach certain Maple Leafs who have been majoring in woodwork.

Billy Harris, Jim Pappin and Edward Shack are drawing National Hockey League salaries for sitting on their transmissions. When one of the trio works more than a shift per game it is tantamount to overtime employment.

Last Christmas Harris sent Houle a greeting card.

"If you need us," Harris penned, "holler and Stewie and I will come." "Stewie" is Ron Stewart, a huge slab of right wing who like Harris is not overburdened with work.

Houle and Rudy Pilous, the resident genius in Victoria, would take any or all of the quartet. But the one they want most is Harris.

Only 28 Goals—From Wrong Position

Imlach shuns Harris, apparently because of Billy's forgetfullness to check.

Harris is not the compleat centre. He lacks Bobby Pulford's drive and Red Kelly's poise. But there have been precedents in the NHL for using a player who scored goals and left the tidying up for others.

Gordon Drillon, when he was with the Leafs, considered checking a mortal sin. He rarely bothered to hit anybody, even in anger, but he always knew how to put the thing in the net.

In the Western League where the checking is less punishing and not always consistent, Harris could be the insurance policy Victoria needs to clutch a playoff position.

More important his presence would permit Pilous to shift Larry Keenan to right wing. It is plainly a tribute to Keenan's outlook and ability that he has scored 28 goals from his wrong position.

A week ago Imlach answered Houle's prayers by sending Pappin to Rochester. Earlier he had sent Don McKenney, centre, to the same team.

Do You Think Crozier Will Get Keon?

Maybe Rochester needs the help, Houle told the luncheon group. But his tone lacked conviction.

"I see," he said, "where Rochester won 4-2 last Friday. They won 5-3 on Saturday and followed with a 7-0 victory on Sunday."

Poor, helpless Rochester leads the Western Division of the American Hockey League by 14 points. If they keep playing so badly chances are Imlach will send them Dave Keon and Tim Horton.

The more logical answer to Imlach's exercise in heavy thinking is that Rochester is managed by Joe Crozier. Imlach and Crozier are closer than hamandrye. Houle is a Stafford Smythe man; Pilous is the "new boy."

Plainly, the last shall be last . . . served.

Another factor mitigates against Victoria. Rochester is a 95-cent bus ride from Toronto; a player summoned to the big town can be there in less than two hours.

It costs 100 bills and five hours to ship livestock from Victoria to Smythetown. These discrepancies might not bother Imlach, the coach, but they do not escape Imlach, the general manager.

Punch Has His Pupils Set on Mr. Bucyk

Houle, who also dabbles in simple arithmetic, had one more question for Imlach.

"If you send a player or players to Rochester," he asked, "why can't you send a player or players from Rochester to us?" A devastingly simple question, it had one flaw. Too logical.

"I'm working on a deal," Imlach explained.

"But if you send two players to Rochester and they are two players over the limit and . . . "

"And never mind," said Imlach.

Did Houle know whom Imlach covets?

"Yes," sighed Houle in the manner of a chronic loser. "Bucyk of Boston. I'm surprised that it hasn't been in the papers."

There was a temptation to ask Houle if Imlach was after Bucyk to send him to Victoria, but it was resisted. He had had enough for one week.

REACHING FOR THE TOP

These members of Victoria Chinooks will be reaching again Friday night at Central Junior High School. Ron Bowker, Ken Gregory (23), John Lauvas (22), Barney Spaven (44) and rest of Chinooks will be trying to grab stranglehold on Inter-City Junior Basketball League playoff final when they meet Vancouver CYO, the current Canadian titleholder, at 7:30. Teams, tied 1-1 in best-of-five series, meet again on same floor Saturday. Completing Friday program at 9 will be senior Inter-City League playoff between Victoria Haida Chiefs and Vancouver Grocers, who lead best-of-five semifinal 2-0.

Another Injury Hurts 'Frisco Playoff Hopes

PORTLAND — Hopes of San Francisco Seals to grab a playoff position in the Western Hockey League received a double jolt here Wednesday night.

Seals took a 5-2 thumping at the hands of the league-leading Portland Buckaroos to remain seven points behind the fourth-place Victoria Maple Leafs and three back of Los Angeles Blades.

Adding to the troubles of manager-coach Bud Poile was the second player injury in as many games. Seals, who lost starry Charlie Burns Tuesday for an indefinite period with a knee injury, may also be without the services of winger Gary Dornhoefer for an indefinite period.

Dornhoefer, finally playing up to expectations in the past week after an unimpressive start with the club following his acquisition from Boston Bruins, collided with teammate Tom Thurlby in the third period.

Dornhoefer suffered a badly-cut eye and a possible jaw fracture. Thurlby was knocked out by the impact.

Al Nicholson opened the scoring for the Seals but the Buckaroos took advantage of San Francisco penalties to collect the next five goals and were able to coast to the victory.

Buckaroos are now seven points in front of the runner-up Seattle Totems, who make their next start against Victoria Friday night in Seattle.

Tommy McVie paced the Portland attack with two goals. Andy Hebenton, Art Jones and Connie Madigan collected the other Buckaroo tallies.

Rough play resulted in 69 minutes in penalties being called and the exchanges boiled over into a free-for-all in the third period after Portland goalie Dave Kelly and Wayne Connelly tangled behind the Buckaroo goal.

Early Signings Out Agrees AFL

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Football League has followed the rival National League by banning premature signings, but neither pro league has agreed to two other proposals aimed at protecting the colleges in the multi-million-dollar war over top player talent.

Joe Foss, AFL commissioner, issued his statement on premature signings Wednesday in a document that almost paralleled one issued by NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle last month.

THREE REQUESTS

Both leagues now have prohibited the signing of college seniors until the teams have completed their seasons, including bowl games.

That, with a few small exceptions, is as far as the pro leagues have gone in responding to three requests made by the National Collegiate Athletic Association after it was revealed that four Oklahoma players had signed pro contracts before the Gator Bowl game.

The NCAA also requested that the pro leagues hold their drafts after the bowl games and discontinue their practice of signing redshifts-players who remain eligible for college competition after their class has graduated.

The AFL took a further step toward trying to reach settlement with the NCAA by stating that it would be league policy initially to seek assistance of the athletic director or the head coach at the college where a club desires to approach a player.

Despite the fact that the AFL agreed to only one of the three NCAA proposals, they jumped back into the good graces of the Southeastern Conference publicity directors.

The directors had voted in January to ban AFL representatives from their campuses since the league had not agreed to halt premature signings. With the AFL's announcement, the ban was lifted.

Habs' Loss String Worst in 15 Years

Leafs on Spree; Hawks Win Sans Golden Boy Bob

By The Canadian Press

It's said in professional sport that when a team's star is sidelined the lesser lights make a greater effort to fill the gap.

Chicago Black Hawks proved the point Wednesday night as they opened up a four-point margin in first place in the National Hockey League by downing Detroit Red Wings 5-2.

At the same time, Toronto Maple Leafs walloped Montreal Canadiens 6-2 to move into a second-place tie with Montreal in a game highlighted by a brawl in the second period.

The loss was Montreal's fifth straight, a string that has dropped them from first place to within three points of fourth place, the last playoff spot now held by the Wings. The string is the longest in losses the Canadiens have suffered in 15 years.

Kenny Wharram slapped in two goals while Glen Hall held them out for the Hawks as the league leaders played without scoring leader Bobby Hull, out with a bad knee.

The Hawks were ahead within a half minute of the start on a goal by Phil Esposito and Wharram connected for his first tally half-way through the period.

MAKI GETS 18TH

The Hawks added three more in the second frame. Chico Maki got his 18th and second of the night.

Bruce McGregor spoiled Hall's shutout bid early in the third period and Ron Murphy banged in the Wings' second goal near the end of the game.

The Leafs already had a 3-0 lead over Canadiens with slightly more than five minutes gone in the middle period when the major brawl erupted. At one time there were 14 Canadiens on the ice and 10 Leafs—a good sign for NHL coffers as nine Canadiens and four Leafs are subject to $25 fines for coming off their bench to join the tussle.

Leafs were storming around the Montreal net when referee Bill Friday signalled a delayed penalty to John Ferguson of Canadiens for hooking Frank Mahovlich.

Mahovlich lit the fuse when he propped Canadiens defenceman Terry Harper against the boards behind the Montreal net. Ted Harris plowed into Mahovlich to help Harper but then fights broke out all around.

Eventually fatigue seemed to overtake the fighters, order was restored and penalties handed out.

CALLED PENALTIES

Friday called 21 minutes in penalties against each club with Harris and Mahovlich each getting a minor, major and misconduct. Ferguson, Harper, Pete Stemkowski and Douglas each got a minor penalty.

Ron Ellis, one of the outstanding rookies of the season, led the Leafs with two goals within 26 seconds of the second period and both on assists from Mahovlich.

The two tallies followed a first-period marker by Bob Pulford. Dave Keon put the Leafs ahead 4-0 before the second period ended.

The teams alternated goals in the final period with Ralph Backstrom beating Terry Sawchuk for Montreal's first goal. Red Kelly then scored for Leafs and Ferguson got his 12th of the season before Kent Douglas ended the scoring for Leafs.

FIGHT AFTERMATH

Big M Pitched Few Good Ones

TORONTO (CP) — Punch Imlach held court in Maple Leaf Gardens Wednesday night, cracking jokes with reporters and tossing in an occasional serious comment after his Toronto Maple Leafs lambasted Montreal Canadiens 6-2.

Across the hall Canadiens' Toe Blake grumbled about his team's fifth straight loss.

"It was the best period of hockey they played all year," Imlach said of the first frame in which the Leafs skated circles around the Canadiens.

And the second period donnybrook didn't dull his spirits one iota. "So they get fined," he said, speaking of the players who left the bench during the fighting.

He figured the automatic $25 fine for each player who left the bench would hit "everybody but four on our team. And everybody on their team will get it."

Frank Mahovlich, who was in the middle of the fight and appeared to be in on the starting round, didn't know how it got started.

Did he catch any flying fists?

"No," said Frank, but "I landed a couple of good ones." He went several rounds with Ted Harris and both drew fighting major penalties and 10-minute misconducts.

Bays Chalk Up Shutout Win Against Vics

Oak Bay is making pennant noises in the Inter-High School Rugby League.

The Bays bombed Victoria High 8-0 Wednesday to move into third place, a point behind their victims.

Howie Anderson scored a try and Don Head kicked a convert and a penalty for the winners.

Two other scheduled games were defaulted. Claremont handed two points to Mount View and Esquimalt was similarly generous to Mt. Douglas.

Standings:

Mount View	6	6	0	0	12
Vic High	6	4	2	0	8

Hockey Juveniles Draw With Juniors

McLarens juniors and Nixon's juveniles struggled to a 4-4 hockey tie Wednesday night at Esquimalt Sports Centre.

McLaren's marksmen were Don Robinson, Brian Dennis, Rick Mitchell and Wayne Anderson. Nixon's scorers were Jim Lebold, Mike Derry, Dave Swanson and Ross Swanton.

United Teams Make Habit Of Hoop Wins

First United basketball teams couldn't lose for winning Wednesday.

The pre-midget United girls rolled past Metropolitan 34-4. Laverne Heard and Carole Schanke did most of the damage with nine and eight points, respectively.

United's midget girls disposed of Metropolitan 26-17. Irene De Wolfe led the bombing with 14 digits. Patty Thurber kept the Mets close with 10 points.

In the finale, First United juveniles rolled past St. Ann's Academy 46-23. Pat Morrison and Sharon Wither dunked in 12 points each.

Dorohoy Suspended . . . Didn't Control Jets

NELSON—Playing-coach Ed Dorohoy and defenceman Tom Hodges of Spokane Jets have been suspended indefinitely as a result of an incident occuring in a Western International Hockey League in Rossland Tuesday, league president Milo Fabro announced Wednesday.

Hodges was suspended for allegedly spitting in the face of referee Jim Malley after receiving a minor in the second period of a game which the third-place Jets won 3-2.

Dorohoy received his sentence for failing to maintain reasonable control over his players, Fabro said.

Hodges, a former professional, is the most penalized player in the league with 190 minutes in 37 games. Jets are the most penalized club.

Length of the suspensions will be determined at a meeting next week.

BOXER KICKS FOE IN GROIN . . . . . . BEFORE BELL RINGS

'Punk' Call Swept Willie Off His Feet

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP)—Willie Richardson raced across the ring Wednesday night at Oakland Auditorium and kicked California State heavyweight champion Roger Rischer in the groin before their scheduled 12-round fight for the title.

The 192-pound Richardson was disqualified by referee Vern Bybee, then suspended indefinitely by the State Athletic Commission.

Rischer, 198, of Oakland, was standing in the middle of the ring with Bybee waiting for the referee's instructions when Richardson rushed at Rischer and kicked him a number of times.

After Rischer left the ring Richardson, of nearby San Jose, jumped through the ropes and began throwing punches at him.

The $4,603 gross gate receipts will be refunded to the approximately 2,000 fans on hand, promoter Don Chargin announced afterward.

Richardson was given tranquilizers after being taken to his dressing room, said Bos Turley, athletic commission chief inspector.

"Being more the pro, Rischer got to Willie psychologically," said Richardson's co-manager, Bob Prancevio. "He keyed him up just before all this happened by calling him a punk. Then Willie lost his head."

The commission said it would hold an investigation to decide whether to count the disqualification as no contest or as a victory for Rischer.

It's Time for Decision Says Winnipeg Mayor

WINNIPEG (CP)—Mayor Stephen Juba said Wednesday a decision on federal - provincial - municipal contributions to finance the 1967 Pan-American Games in Winnipeg cannot be "delayed any longer."

If a decision is not reached by next Tuesday a meeting will be held to consider the possibility of Winnipeg relinquishing the games, Mr. Juba said in an interview.

Confirmed contributions are still $790,000 short of meeting an expected games' deficit of more than $3,000,000. The federal government has agreed to give $1,000,000, the provincial government $750,000 and the city of Winnipeg $460,000.

The Winnipeg share was boosted by $200,000 Monday night and city council asked the senior governments to increase their contributions by $250,000 each. Council also asked area municipalities to make grants according to their means.

INCREASE UNLIKELY

Federal health minister Judy LaMarsh said in a telephone interview it is unlikely the federal government will increase its contribution.

Miss LaMarsh said that if Winnipeg could not reach a solution on how to raise the money, all her department could do is recommend the city tell the Canadian Olympic Association that it could not host the games.

BOWLER OF THE WEEK

Highest fivepin score chalked up in two-year history of Bowler-of-the-Week competition staged by The Daily Times has been recorded by Fred Hickey (above). Now in fourth season of pin-spilling, Hickey blasted maples for whopping 1,015 series in Mixed Classic League at Town and Country Lanes to pace men's fivepin division. Fred, who also won weekly award last year and was member of team that won event in Pacific Coast tourney, hit his big total on games of 314, 393 and 308.

Formidable 'Birds Face Crimson Tide

University of B.C. Thunderbirds have their eyes on the McKechnie Cup and the betting around Vancouver rugby circles is that the Birds have enough on the ball to wrest the silverware away from Victoria's Crimson Tide.

Tide players, who last year ended a long mainland domination in the inter-city struggle for the trophy and brought the cup back to the Island, have other ideas.

But their chances of remaining as champions may have diminished since they were first scheduled to open the knockout series against the Birds two weeks ago.

Thunderbirds have since played two rugged conditioning games against University of Washington and Oregon State. Those two tussles gave the Birds experience against the kind of hard tackling Victoria officials hoped would upset the powerful UBC machine that has won 15 games while losing only one.

The delay, caused by unplayable conditions, has also cost the Tide one of its most effective performers. Navy's 230-pound Gordie Payette, scheduled to line up with Victoria forwards two weeks ago, is now on sea duty.

However, the Victorians will be shooting the works when they open the series against the Birds Saturday at Macdonald Park. Game time is 2:30 p.m.

CRIMSON STARTERS

Slated to work in the Victoria forward pack are Ross Irving, Sonny Vickery, Bob Coutts, Dick Smith, Grey Eaton, Bob Moore, Ivor Ford, Don Eckhardt and Mike Fall.

In the Tide backfield will be scrum half Dan McLean, standoff Alan Rees, centres Jack Patrick and George Jones, wings Jim Ryan and Terry Ryan, and fullback Don Burgess.

Kelowna Rink Takes Crown

KIMBERLEY (CP)—Mrs. Leslie Cmolik led her Kelowna rink to the British Columbia women's curling championship, drubbing the Campbell River entry, 12-4, in a tie-breaking playoff here Wednesday.

The Kelowna ladies topped the coast champion rink of Mrs. Frankie Serjeant after the two rinks finished the regular draws with identical 3-1 won-lost records.

Mrs. Cmolik's four will represent British Columbia in the Dominion Diamond D championship Feb. 22-26 in Halifax.

Mrs. Serjeant drubbed Mrs. Cmolik 13-2 in the morning to pull into a tie with the previously undefeated Kelowna rink.

Also in the morning draw, Mrs. Beverly Reber of Whitehorse topped Mrs. Flo Gustafson of Prince George 8-6. They each wound up their tourney play with one win and three losses.

Mrs. Isabel Morris' Trail rink finished with a 2-2 record.

The RUNNING TRAP SHOT
AS MENTIONED LAST, THE CLOSER YOU HIT TO A BALL IN SAND, THE GREATER THE BACKSPIN POSSIBLE. SO, IT IS REASONABLE AND QUITE CORRECT TO ASSUME THAT IN ORDER TO LESSEN BACKSPIN AND RUN THE BALL THE CLUBHEAD MUST ENTER THE SAND FARTHER FROM THE BALL.
HIT 2½ OR 3 INCHES BEHIND THE BALL INSTEAD OF THE NORMAL 2 INCHES. IN ADDITION, DO NOT GO AS DEEPLY AS USUAL SINCE THE CLUBHEAD WILL HAVE FARTHER TO TRAVEL THROUGH THE SAND, A SHALLOW HIT WILL CUT RESISTANCE AND PREVENT DUMPING THE SHOT.

Death Rode 'Cat'

Father of Seven Killed In Bush

An experienced Langford logger, father of seven children, was killed Wednesday afternoon when the 10-ton bulldozer he was driving toppled on him at Metchosin.

Herbert Winship, 43, of 653 Strandlund, was backing the machine from a flat deck truck to an earth bank when the left track of the caterpillar tractor went over the edge of the deck.

Police said the bulldozer rolled sideways, crushing the operator's steel canopy and pinning Winship underneath when it came to rest upsidedown.

There were two witnesses, truck driver Jogindar Singh, 743 Market, and tree faller Jack Gullivord of Sims Road.

"I was in the cab and the other guy (Gullivord) was standing beside the truck," Jogindar said.

"LOOK OUT"

"The next thing I knew he hollered, 'look out,' and I jumped.

"I didn't see what happened. The tractor was on its side when I looked."

Jogindar said his truck brakes were set and the vehicle was on level ground. He was waiting for the cat to be driven off before moving the truck away, he said.

Winship, who had been a logger since his discharge from the RCAF in the Second World War, was familiar with all logging equipment, his father, Mike Winship, said.

After a long spell of unemployment due to heavy snow and illness of a helper, Winship was setting up a small logging operation on a private road off Kangaroo Road, about a mile west of Rocky Point Road.

The tractor belonged to Jogindar Lumber Co. It was equipped with a blade and winch, suitable for small logging operations.

Police from Colwood RCMP detachment enlisted the help of a telephone line truck, two towing trucks and two army tank recovery vehicles before the tractor was lifted from the driver's body.

THREE HOURS

It had been pinned three hours before a doctor at the scene was able to make an examination. Winship was believed to have died instantly.

Langford Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said an inquest would be held.

Police said efforts to lift a corner of the bulldozer were first made by an 8,000-pound crane on the telephone truck which police noticed working in the area en route to the accident.

Hydraulic jacks were of no further assistance to rescuers. Police finally asked Work Point Barracks to send tank-lifting machines to the site.

Winship and a partner had formerly operated an independent logging business and he had been known in the district for 16 years.

Lately, his father said, Winship had suffered misfortune in a Salt Spring Island logging operation because of log prices. He was trying to get back on his feet with the Metchosin undertaking.

The deceased was born in Drumheller, Alberta, and served in the RCAF during the Second World War.

SEVEN CHILDREN

His immediate family includes six daughters, the oldest 14, and a year-old son. The widow, Dorothy, his father at 2593 Florence Lake, and eight brothers and sisters also survive.

The brothers are Art and Bob Winship, of Victoria, and Tom Winship, Vancouver.

Sisters are Mrs. Ellen Peters, Mrs. Gladys Wright, Mrs. Dorothy Ash and Mrs. Jackie Lawrey, all of Victoria, and Mrs. Ada Campbell, of Drumheller.

Funeral services will be announced by McCall's.

THIS WAS THE SCENE at small logging operation off Kangaroo Road where Herbert Winship met death Wednesday when bulldozer turned over on top of him. Police and fellow loggers await arrival of army tank lifting machines to move heavy "cat" for recovery of body.

Woman Injured When Car Flips

A Nanaimo woman was reported in good condition in hospital today following a one-car accident Wednesday evening near Helmcken Road and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Miss Claire Lauscher received only ankle injuries when the auto in which she was riding flipped.

Colwood RCMP said the auto left skid marks measuring 210 feet.

Driver of the auto, Cornelius Ham of Port Alberni, was uninjured.

Avert Strike, Union Appeal To Big Firms

Lumber inspectors have appealed directly to the heads of British Columbia's major lumber companies to avert a strike which could tie up the B.C. timber industry.

Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC), sent a telegram today to six major companies, urging "a further review of the issues in the dispute."

The telegram followed a breakdown in negotiations after union and companies' officials met for more than four hours Tuesday.

Rod Beaton, president of IWA Local 1-288, said after the meeting "things are at a stalemate."

The IWA Telegram said a "grave situation faces the lumber industry due to failure to reach a mutually satisfactory settlement in lumber inspectors' negotiations."

TWO POINTS

The wire asked "further consideration" be given two points: "Wage increases for lumber inspectors during the past eight years have not kept pace with those granted corresponding categories in the industry," and that "the nature of the services rendered by the lumber inspectors and its importance to the lumber industry justifies job security provision to be written into the agreement."

The telegram was sent to the heads of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., Crown Zellerbach and Crown Zellerbach Canada, B.C. Forest Products, Canadian Forest Products and Rayonier Canada, all members of the Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau, an employers' association.

The 276 lumber inspectors have set a Feb. 16 strike deadline.

It has been estimated that 20,000 men may refuse to work, if they respect the lumber inspectors' picket line.

The PLIB has proposed leasing the stamp designating grade of processed lumber to individual mills, a step the inspectors say will eliminate their jobs and hand control of grading to mills.

Navy Cadets Win Promotions; Leaders Needed

Promotional certificates and badges were received by members of the Admiral Rayner Navy League Cadet Corps when they paraded Wednesday evening at Rainbow, the Navy League headquarters on Robert Street.

Peter Doyle was made the corps' chief petty officer, and three cadets were promoted to petty officer rank: Peter Dalzell, Stephen Moyer and William MacLeod.

Jes Andersen, Paul Roberge and Victor Escude were promoted to the rank of leading cadet. Newly-rated able cadets are Robert McClintick, Richard Stordeur, Frederick Miller, R. Thompson, Brent Cotton, Patrick Splitterberger and Rodney Miller.

The certificates and badges were presented by Mrs. Pat Dufour, president of the league's Victoria branch.

The corps, which trains boys aged 11 to 14 years of age, is in need of more officers owing to the expansion of the corps. Men wishing to help in this program should contact the commanding officer, Lt.-Cmdr. E. S. Cassels at 1196 Highrock, 384-8757.

BREAK-INS ADMITTED BY ESCAPEE

A fifteen-year-old youth admitted today in city magistrate's court to three break-ins and thefts.

His case was transferred from juvenile to adult court.

The boy admitted to the break-ins when arrested Jan. 28, following his escape from Brannen Lake boys' industrial school the previous day.

He took a box of candy from a cafe at 263 Menzies Jan. 20 and stole coins valued at $6.50 from Victoria Coin Shop, 841 Fort, Sept. 13 and Aug. 30 last year.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded him to Friday morning for pre-sentence report and sentence.

Saanich Lists $250,880 Roads Bill

Improvements to streets and main thoroughfares in Saanich this year will cost $250,880 if council accepts a works committee plan Monday night.

Saanich engineer Neville Life said the largest item of a list of projects planned for inclusion in the 1965 budget is a $114,000 job to reconstruct Saanich Road between Seymour and Calumet.

This would make the street 46 feet wide, the same as the portion from Douglas Street that was done last year.

The job includes purchase of four lots to redesign and straighten Saanich Road where it intersects at Calumet and Tattersall. Lots will cost about $40,000.

Curbs, gutters and sidewalks will be included in the work to be done.

IMPROVE GORGE

Next largest job would be the improvement of Gorge between Tillicum and Harriet, complete with four lanes, curbs, gutters and storm drains, for a total cost of $120,000.

The committee sent this item without specific recommendation as it is hoped the provincial government would pay for half the cost under its secondary highways program.

Seven other projects are included in the list:

● Cedar Hill Cross Road, Richmond to Shelbourne and redesign of Shelbourne intersection, $53,000.

● Feltham Road, Tyndall to Shelbourne and a strip from Gordon Head west, reconstruction, recapping and smoothing.

● Burnside Road, Dupplin to Harriet, reconstruction of Dupplin at Burnside and improved intersection at Harriet, and Burnside boulevard improvements, $54,000.

● Vernon Avenue, from fire hall to CNR overpass, $7,000.

● Darwin Road, Saanich Road to Press Avenue, maintenance, $5,000.

● McKenzie at Quadra, boulevards, $1,380.

● Santa Clara, $2,500.

LEGISLATURE SPEAKERS

Three speakers will participate in the budget speech debate at the sitting scheduled for 8:30 tonight.

They are Health Minister Eric Martin, A. B. Macfarlane (L—Oak Bay) and J. D. Tisdalle (SC—Saanich).

Victim Describes Dance Hall Brawl

Men Bowled Over By Car Witnesses Tell Court Trial

An early-morning brawl in which a 23-year-old Sooke logger was alleged to have deliberately driven his car into a group of four or five men outside the Port Renfrew community hall was described in Victoria county court today.

Witnesses said the men were bowled over like skittles and sustained various injuries.

The logger, Robert Stanley Nelson, is specifically charged with driving a motor car with intent to "wound, maim or disfigure" James Rupert Ballandine of Port Renfrew at about 5 a.m. on Nov. 22.

He is also charged with driving with intent to endanger the life of Ballandine; causing him bodily harm by driving with criminal negligence; and driving while impaired by alcohol or a drug.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Through his counsel, Jack E. Gatehouse of Victoria, Nelson pleaded not guilty to all four charges.

Ballandine said Nelson drove the car at him (and others) so that he was knocked underneath and sustained a fractured ankle and injuries to the head requiring stitches.

Scott Robinson of Otter Point was said to have sustained a hip injury; Donald Boyd of Victoria, shoulder and leg injuries; and John McKeen of Port Renfrew, a broken leg.

Donald Levy, caretaker of the Port Renfrew community hall and a former RCMP officer, testified that he was struck in the back by Nelson's car.

MATTER OF SECONDS

"It all happened in a matter of seconds," Donald Boyd said. "I heard the motor start up and gravel flying and suddenly I was underneath the car and calling for help.

"Everybody was screaming and shouting."

Ballandine said Nelson drove the car into them after he and three other men had told Nelson to "move off." Scott Robinson got out of the car and was involved in a scuffle with Donald Boyd.

"We then moved from the side of the car to the front," Ballandine said. "There were about five of us and we were about 15 feet in front of the car. The car started up and came right at us . . .

"I was knocked underneath—it was on top of me."

Ballandine said he was badly cut about the head and his ankle fractured.

The day before, Ballandine said he had been out hunting with Donald Boyd. On their return he visited some friends and they went to a beer parlor and then to a dance.

The dance finished around 2:30 a.m. and he and some others went to the basement of the Port Renfrew community hall where they drank some beer.

When they came out of the hall around 4:30 a.m., Nelson was sitting in his car with Scott Robinson, Otter Point, in the front seat.

QUARREL

The quarrel started soon afterwards when Nelson was told to "move off."

Scott Robinson said he and Nelson were "old friends." They met at Sooke and drove to Port Renfrew to see some friends and go to a dance.

They took a case of beer to the dance and Nelson got into an argument with Donald Levy, the caretaker, in which Levy knocked him down. Later Nelson was involved in a fight with Donald Boyd outside the hall.

Robinson said he and Nelson then got into Nelson's car and he (Robinson) fell asleep.

"I was wakened by somebody yelling and then somebody started pulling me out of the car. Soon after that the car hit us and I was knocked to the ground."

RCMP Corporal W. L. Dempsey testified earlier that, when he arrived at the scene shortly before 7 a.m., he found Scott Robinson lying on a piece of plywood covered with blankets.

OAK BAY PROTEST

Golf Courses Target In Assessment Fight

Court of Revision Hearing Appeals

An Oak Bay property owner Wednesday said he would appeal against "low" municipal assessments of golf club and certain unimproved Uplands properties.

William Holmes, 1963 St. Ann, told an assessment appeal board hearing that these properties are assessed at only a fraction of the value placed on residential property.

This has the effect of loading an unfair burden on residential property owners, he said.

Mr. Holmes said the assessment appeal board, comprised of Joseph Casey, Alan Bigelow and Frank Shandley, did not have authority to consider his appeal. He will take it to a board of appeal named by the provincial assessor's department, he said.

Mr. Homes said he has calculated the assessment on most Oak Bay residential areas at $11,537 an acre.

But he says, Victoria Golf Club is assessed at only $2,280 an acre and Uplands Golf Club at $1,194 an acre.

He says further that there is a block of select property on Midland off Devon, held in trust by a local trust company. The area is subdivided into lots measuring 90 by 138 feet. He says they are assessed at $840 each.

Pointing out that residential land assessments now are said to be 50 per cent of real values, he says it is absurd to suggest the lots have a value of only $1,680 each.

"I don't think anyone knows anything about it (the inequality)" Mr. Holmes told the Times today.

DEDUCT COSTS

Oak Bay assessor D. C. Wyatt today said he assessed the golf courses on the basis of what they would be worth if subdivided, but he had to deduct from this the cost of subdivision and the subdivider's profit which accounts for the difference drawn to attention by Mr. Holmes.

Oak Bay council in 1963 rezoned the golf courses from residential property to a new category which stops their sale for residential subdivision. There had been a suggestion that if golf courses were to be assessed as residential land, they would have to sell and relocate in rural areas where land values were lower.

It is felt in some quarters that tax concessions to golf courses are necessary if they are to remain in residential areas, where they are considered an amenity and where they help keep real estate resale values high for nearby homes.

(Non-golfers argue they are not an amenity unless your hobby is golf because they are restricted to the general public for park use.)

POPULAR DEMAND

Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox today said the golf courses were rezoned by popular demand and cannot fairly be compared with residential lands. He thought it was important they be retained as green areas.

Referring to the lots which Mr. Holmes claimed were underassessed, the reeve said these properties have never been supplied with services or an access road. He thought this would be the reason for any difference in their assessment and that of other properties.

Mr. Holme's presentation was a highlight of the first two days of the assessment hearing which continued today.

Tuesday and Wednesday more than 70 per cent of the appeals against home assessments were granted reductions, most of them slight.

Assessor Wyatt recommended the reductions in most cases. One home on Monterey was reduced by $3,480 and one on Hampshire Road by $2,400. Mr. Wyatt said the reductions were caused by oversights in the original valuations. In all 32 adjustments were approved by the court.

There was a total of 104 appeals registered for the hearings compared to 19 last year. This was due to a reassessment of land in the municipality in 1964.

The new assessment was done on a 50 per cent of market value basis (the standard across B.C.).

The municipal assessment roll presented at the hearing showed assessments of $13,914,790 for land and $35,759,860 for buildings.

Ask The Times

Q. Could you please tell me if the Montreal Canadiens ever won the Stanley Cup five times in a row? If so, what years? —K.J.C.

A. Yes, from 1955-56 to 1959-60 inclusive.

Q. I am a Canadian citizen married to a displaced person who is not a Canadian citizen. What does this make me as far as nationality is concerned? Where does it place my husband? Where would my children stand?—C.

A. Since Jan. 1, 1947, marriage does not change a Canadian bride's citizenship. Your husband would have to apply for citizenship in the usual manner to become a Canadian. All children born in Canada are Canadian citizens.

Take Heed of Spring With the 'Airy' Look

By PENNY SAVER

I see our friend the groundhog didn't even bother to venture forth this year. Maybe this means spring will arrive early. I, for one, certainly hope so because I'm getting a little tired of cold, wet, miserable weather. (Also, I'd like an excuse to buy some clothes.)

I was looking at some of the new suit styles for spring in one store recently, and the colors and materials are really beautiful. Loose-weave orlon knits will play a big part in this year's fashion scene and, in this store, they are available in a myriad of soft pastel colors.

There was one style of suit I really liked. This is a "nubbly" surfaced linen in blends of white and black, green and white and brown, beige or white. The wide Chelsea collar highlights a double-breasted jacket, fastened by large self-fabric buttons. Price of the suit is $16.95.

Another attractive note for spring is a jumper and blouse ensemble, selling at $19.95. The blouse, with the cravat neckline that was so popular this last year, is silk with gently puffed three-quarter sleeves.

The jumper itself is of a synthetic material in a burlap type of weave with a low, low plunge in the front and not quite so low in the back. Slingshot sleeves and kangaroo pouch pockets are added highlights.

Blouses are light and airy for this year. I liked one model of pastel-printed sheer nylon over a pale taffeta lining. The rounded neckline gives a note of simplicity to a top that can be worn casually or formally.

Try it as a topper to a long, long black hostess skirt. Or, better still, wear it atop a pair of tight black velvet slacks. The blouse looks charming under a solid color spring suit, too. Price is $3.25.

Dress up for spring. Phone Penny at 382-3131 for name of store mentioned in today's column.

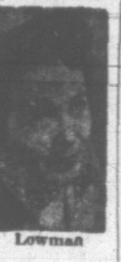
Something to Do After 30; Work Those Flabby Muscles



Lowman

There's no use pretending, a woman has to work harder to keep a girlish figure after the age of 35 than she did before. It can be done but it takes a more determined effort than it once did.

The bony structure does not change except for possible calcium deposits and a shortening of the spine. However, the glandular system slows and most women are more inactive than during younger years. They may have dropped tennis or golf. Perhaps they used to swim and dance a lot, but do so very seldom at middle age.

The big muscles of the torso are certain to become flabby and accumulate fat unless measures are taken to prevent it. The truth is that it is so usual for a middle-age woman to have a protruding abdomen and rolls over her girdle that we are likely to take these for granted when they are not at all necessary.

The bulge at the abdomen is not only unattractive but lax abdominal muscles also increase the size of the waist. Even if a woman is not overweight she may have a bulge and larger waist measurement if she does not exercise. Let me give you a splendid abdominal slimmer.

Lie on the floor on your back. Tuck your toes under a chair or divan, or ask someone to hold your feet down to the floor. Arms rest on the floor overhead. Raise your trunk and try to touch your fingertips to your feet. If you cannot do this go as far as you can. Later on you will succeed. Return arms and trunk to the floor.

After your abdominal muscles become stronger you will be able to do this one. Lie on the floor on your back. Bend your elbows and place your hands behind your head. Keep the arms in this position as you raise your trunk. Try to keep your elbows back, not forward, as you do this. Return to starting position and continue.

If you would like to banish that abdominal bulge and decrease your waist measurement, send for my tested abdominal exercises. Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper, and send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.

DEAR ABBY . . .

A Close Shave

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Mona and I are college seniors and have been dating steadily since the beginning of this term. I like her a lot and could be serious about her. Last Saturday night we went to a university-sponsored swimming party. When Mona saw me in my swimming trunks, she looked disgusted. I'm no Adonis, but I'm no bag of bones either. Mona suggested leaving early and while we were driving home she said, "You embarrased me to death. Why didn't you tell me you were hirsute?" I asked her what that meant and she said, "Anyone having excess hair on his body is hirsute. Why don't you shave the hair off your back and shoulders?" I asked sarcastically, "How about the hair on my chest?" She said, "Oh, that's all right. It's accepted. The other isn't." Is her request whacky, or is she right, Abby? A man doesn't know much about these things.

TIM.

DEAR TIM: If Mona doesn't want you, hair and all, bow out and figure your brush with her was a close shave.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter is 17, a senior in high school and a compulsive letter-writer. Last year she wrote to a freshman boy at the state university every day without fail. She'd be writing him at 6:30 in the morning, and also past midnight she sat writing page after page after page. (She'd get maybe a one-page letter from him every other week.) Once I read some of the stuff she wrote (trying to get a clue as to how serious it was) and it was the biggest bunch of nothing I ever read. She is just a fair student, but if she spent half the time on her school work that she spends on those letters she would be much better. She writes a fellow in the Navy she doesn't even know. She got his address from a girl friend. Every lunch hour she spends a dime calling home to see if she got any mail. What on earth is wrong with the girl? You may print your answer. She never reads your column and gets mad if I suggest it.

TEXAN.

DEAR TEXAN: Apparently your daughter needs the outlet that letter-writing offers her. But I think she's overdoing it. Insist that she spend more time on her studies, and write letters in her "spare" time.

DEAR ABBY: I have a problem that is keeping me awake nights. My husband grinds his teeth in his sleep. Is there anything I can do to cure him of it? When I hear him grinding his teeth, I pat him gently on the jaw. He awakens for a few moments and stops, but the minute he falls back to sleep again he continues to grind his teeth just like before. I don't suppose this will ruin our marriage, but I wish I knew how to help him.

SAN MATEO.

DEAR SAN MAEO: Your marriage may survive all that teeth grinding, but your husband's teeth may not. Urge him to see his dentist before he grinds himself into a diet of crackers and milk.

CONFIDENTIAL TO STEVE: The dictionary is the only place where success comes before work.

Two Victorians Join Londoners In Paying Homage to Churchill

By JUDY RICHARDSON

Former Victorians, Judy Richardson and Linda Scales, are now living in London, England. Here is another of their glimpses of the English scene.

The English are proud of their weather. They like discussing it when they are inside huddled around the gas fire . . . they don't like going outside to face it. On London's cold blustery days, the staff canteen always does a brisker business than usual.

Richardson

Why then did thousands and thousands of people turn out all day and practically all night for three consecutive days to see Sir Winston Churchill lying in state. During these three days it sleeted, snowed a bit and was generally cold, damp and beastly uncomfortable. Yet some people spoke of friends who had queued up at 10 p.m. and didn't pass the coffin until four in the morning.

SAVED THEIR JOBS

"He saved England," avowed my colleagues in the library where I work. "We might be under the hand of Hitler now, or others like him, if it hadn't been for Churchill. In fact we might be out of jobs. Where was there a place for a public library in Hitler's system?"

Perhaps, I thought, all the people who are going to Westminster Hall have strong personal memories of the war and the encouragement that Churchill gave them.

There was only one way to find out. Right after work on Friday evening, the eve of the funeral, I caught the tube from Baker Street to Trafalgar Square, and walked down Whitehall to Westminster. There was no trouble finding the end of the queue. As I neared Parliament Square and the intersection that leads to Westminster Bridge, a policeman with a megaphone was repeating, "The queue for Westminster Hall is now on the south side of the river. Cross the bridge behind me and turn sharp right."

DRIZZLE AND WIND

The Houses of Parliament loomed very dark in the fine but steady drizzle and a nasty nippy wind caused pedestrians on the bridge to clutch at their collars and lower their heads. We streamed across at a fast pace, all hoping to get as far along in the queue as possible.

Along the Albert Embankment, walking parallel to Westminster Palace, it seemed as if there were no queue at all. Then halfway between Westminster and Lambeth Bridges, the pace slowed and a mass of people appeared ahead, lined up four deep.

Big Ben chimed out quarter to six and newspaper vendors urged us all to "Read while you wait. Getcher souvenir copy. All the pitchurs. Only two and six."

But there wasn't time to read. We kept on the move all the time so that an hour later, having crossed Lambeth Bridge to the north side of the Thames, walked in a snake pattern along the paths of the Parliament gardens and finally been able to sight the end of our trek, I was just beginning to feel bone chilled.

Meanwhile, I had taken stock of my neighboring queuers.

Ahead was a little boy of about ten years—on his own except that he had attached himself to three teen-age girls to make the fourth in their line. Equipped with a shopping bag full of magazines, he explained that he had expected to have to sit for hours.

BOVRIL AND TEA

Voluntary women's organizations had mobile units set up at intervals to serve free hot Bovril or tea. This little scamp was always the first out to get his. But he needed it, what with no gloves or covering for his ears. His teen-age companions had, like myself, come supplied with food. But where mine was a single sandwich clutched in one hand, they had little travel cases that held sandwiches, fruit and cakes.

As usual whenever a crowd gathers in London, there were policemen everywhere. One could only feel sorry for them. They stood, tapping their toes and clapping their hands to keep warm while we were almost constantly moving.

"Pity these people have to die during the winter," murmured the lady beside me.

"Isn't it amazing that so many come out in such weather," I prompted, and added, "I wonder why?" But my probing received no spontaneous response and I was beginning to realize that many people didn't know why they had come. They just seemed to feel they ought to.

"The Queen and Prince Philip came to see him yesterday," one of the elderly ladies behind me remarked to her companion.

"Quite an honor for a commoner," said her friend.

Ahead, a policewoman stopped the queue to let three people escape from the building. Heads craned, hoping to recognize a government dignity. "Cor," said the little boy in front, "They're not important, they're taking a taxi!"

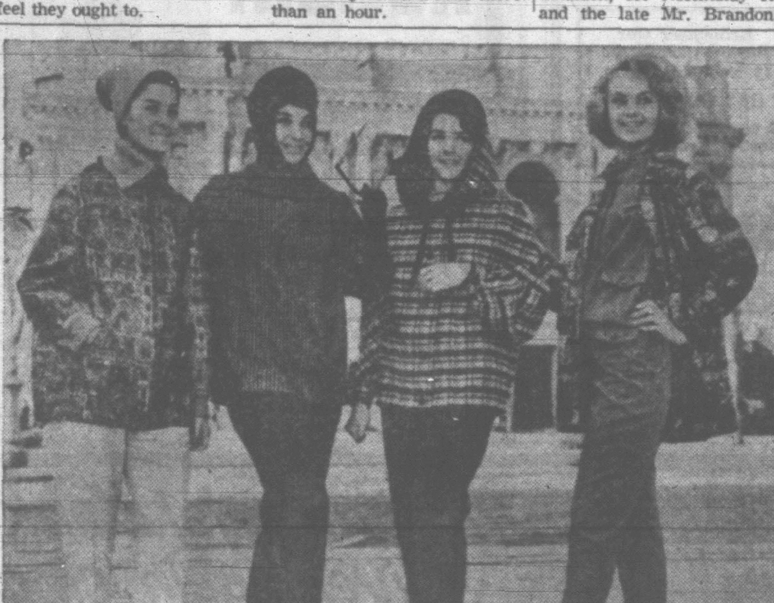
Then we were under a television light, the little boy whispered excitedly, "Pathe News". Suddenly all conversation stopped. We had entered Westminster Hall.

It was the kind of hush you get in a large unoccupied cathedral, except for the curious shushing sound of hundreds of pairs of feet shuffling by the catafalque, a line on either side, the length of the hall and out the far door.

There was nothing to see. Just the catafalque with the coffin on top hidden by a large Union Jack. A cross stood at one end and guarding the four corners were members of the Royal Air Force, standing with feet apart, both hands on the hilt of a sword with its point in the platform and their heads bowed—maintaining this rigid and uncomfortable posture without a twitch.

One woman paused at the head of the stairs leading down to the hall and mouthed a prayer. At the far end people turned back for one last look, the men with hats in hand.

And then we were out, with everyone dashing off to catch a tube or bus, their last respects paid, and happy that it had only taken a little more than an hour.



WINTER IN RUSSIA—News from the Russian fashion world can be summarized in one word—sophistication. This group of wintry sports costumes was presented by the Lvov Planning and Designing Institute in Lvov, a city in the western Ukraine.

VON ANNUAL MEETING

RECORD NUMBER OF VISITS MADE

The greatest recorded number of visits to patients was made by the Greater Victoria Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses during the past year, it was announced at the annual meeting of the board of management of the VON held in the St. John Ambulance auditorium this afternoon.

District director, Miss Elizabeth M. Riddell, reported that a total of 25,155 visits were made to 3,335 patients—an increase of 2.4 per cent over 1963.

She reported a further increase of 3.5 per cent in bedside nursing with the average time per visit of 44.8 minutes and an average of 13.9 visits to each patient. It was also stated that through the Lord Strathcona Housekeeping Fund, administered by the provincial VON, a total of 119 hours of service were provided for local patients at a cost of $125.

Miss Riddell also presented brief outlines of the work done in counselling for the Silver Threads Service, the work of male nurse Frank Rushton, and parent craft classes.

She also revued the staff educational programs whereby nurses are sent to institutes related to the services of the VON, post-graduate students from the University of British Columbia are given field experience and undergraduate students are given classes in prenatal services and relaxation exercises provided for expectant mothers.

In his treasurer's report, A. J. M. Round, quoted receipts totalling $81,708.85 with disbursements of the same amount. The sum of $1,441.85 in the Mary Eleanor Oliver Memorial Fund was spent in furthering the education of the nurses.

President, Mrs. H. Webster, announced that the VON now has a total of 113 branches across Canada with the newest being in Glace Bay, N.S.

She also stated that the first home care plan for children is being launched in Montreal. Purpose of the plan is to serve patients who are ill in their own home and require co-ordinated care and those who can be discharged from the hospital earlier because comprehensive care can be made available in their homes.

In listing the various sources of income of the organization, she commended members on their part in making the annual rummage sale a success.

Other sources of revenue include fees from patients, donations from friends, grants from the city of Victoria and municipalities of Oak Bay and Esquimalt, and the Community Chest. A total of $25,523.02 was received from the latter during the past year.

Chairman of the motor committee, J. C. Cox, reported that a sum of $5,724.26 was spent on car service during the year and that a fleet of nine cars had covered 60,643 miles on visits to patients.

The following officers were installed for the ensuing year: Mrs. Webster; first vice-president, J. B. Barnum; second, Mrs. F. Alguire; secretary, Mrs. L. G. d'Easum, and treasurer, A. J. M. Round.

Following the meeting tea was served by the VON Auxiliary.

Unique Honors Set For Four Painters

TORONTO (CP) — The four surviving members of the original Group of Seven of Canadian painters will be honored at a dinner and reception here April 20, sponsored by the Ontario Society of Education Through Art.

"This is the first time a group of painters has been so honored," said society president Mrs. V. F. Wilson of Toronto.

The four are Arthur Lismer of Montreal, Fred Varley of Unionville, Ont., A. Y. Jackson of Manotick, Ont., and Lawren Harris of Vancouver. Mr. Harris will not attend in person because of illness but will be represented by his son, Lawren Jr., of Sackville, N.B.

Membership of the Group of Seven changed several times after it was formed in 1920. A. J. Casson of Toronto and Edwin Holgate of Morin Heights, Que., joined later and will also attend the dinner.

In 1933, members decided the name Group of Seven was a misnomer and declared themselves the Canadian Group of Painters.

The other three members of the original Group of Seven were J. E. H. MacDonald, Franz Johnston and Frank Carmichael.

Audubon Series Slated Friday

The New England Saga, the fourth in a series of Audubon wildlife films presented by Victoria Natural History Society, will be shown in Oak Bay Junior Secondary Friday and Saturday at 8 p.m.

The color film will be screened by its producer, John D. Bulger, of Pulaski, New York, with a personal narrative. It shows the rugged beauty of New England from the mountains to the sea with revealing glimpses of native wildlife at all seasons.

Dr. Bulger holds a master's degree in education and PhD in wildlife management. He was formerly a teacher and director of education of the National Wildlife Federation.

Since becoming lecturer for the National Audubon Society, his films have ranged from the African bush to the Arctic ice floes.

CAMPAIGN OPENS MARCH 1

Red Cross Seeks $82,000

Annual Red Cross campaign, this year seeking $82,000 in Victoria and district, begins March 1.

Co-chairmen R. D. Ferguson and K. J. Norgaard will enlist 900 canvassers for the drive to the objective—$1,500 in excess of last year's target.

The national objective is $6,625,122 and the B.C. objective is $653,900, said national budget committee chairman W. B. MacDonald.

The Red Cross operates a blood bank service, water safety courses, Junior Red Cross, a disaster and home service program and Red Cross House for Veterans' Hospital, in this area.

Some of these programs would have to be reduced if the new objective were not met, said Mr. MacDonald.

"The public has been very good in answering our appeal. We hope for similar results this year," he said. He pointed out that the Red Cross is not a member of the United Appeal in Victoria, as it is in Vancouver.

Something's in the Air: It's Nose of Housewife

Most housewives in Campbell River turn up the nose when they get a whiff of the Elk Falls pulp mill odor.

But some do it in the name of scientific research.

Crown Zellerbach enlisted their housewife smell spotters some time ago as part of their battle plan to control and eventually—they hope—eliminate the rotten egg odor that too often permeates the gentle sea breeze.

To date, at Elks Falls, the company has spent $1,000,000 on equipment designed to cut down the odor with the latest odor control item, a gas stack scrubber, now installed but still in the experimental stage.

Down in Mexico there is a kraft mill with the fancy name of Fabricas de Papel Loreto y Pena Pobre, S.A., headed by Mexicans of German descent. They claim to have eliminated 90 per cent of the smell and say that with a few more adjustments the mill will be odor free.

Kraft mill operators in Canada sigh with envy at the claims, admit they could be true but point out that the Mexico City operation is a babe compared with the smoke-stacked giants of British Columbia.

At the present time, the Mexican mill produces less than 100 tons of kraft daily. It hopes to boost its output to 110 a day this year.

1,000-TON DAY

At Elk Falls production is hitting the 1,000-tons-a-day mark—and that's where the problem lies.

Says a spokesman for Crown Zellerbach: "When you get up around the 500-tons-a-day production mark, odor becomes harder to control. In the small mills, and the Mexican operation must be small, it is much easier to handle."

He added that the British Columbia Research Council stays well abreast of all research in the odor control field.

"I don't know to what extent they have checked out the Mexico City claims, but I feel sure that what works in a mill producing 110 tons a day would not work in a mill producing 1,000 tons a day," he said.

MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Company officials agreed.

"We have made considerable progress over the years in the Alberni Valley," he said. "But the problem still remains and is particularly bad when batches are being exchanged and the gas is hard to control."

Asked if there was any possibility of the Mexican odor control system being introduced here, the spokesman said he was sure if the B.C. Research Council thought the system practical for B.C. mills and recommended its installation "it would be installed immediately."

SEEK ANSWER

"The council and the kraft mill operators in B.C. are as anxious to find a satisfactory and economically feasible solution as anyone," he said. "When they find it, we'll install it."

In the meantime, in Campbell River at least, selected housewives will continue to sniff the morning breeze and report their findings to the Elk Falls experts.

Cash, Credit, False Pretences Sentence Tuesday

A 23-year-old man pleaded guilty in city court Wednesday to obtaining $25 in cash and $134 in credit by false pretences.

Kenneth Hodges, 291 Rosebank, will be sentenced for the offences next Tuesday.

He gave himself up to police last Saturday saying that "he wanted to clear his conscience."

Detective Walter Calwell said all the offences occurred in the week before Christmas at downtown stores. He said Hodges charged up a car coat, sweater, slacks, shirts, blouses, shoes and a cuff-link set at the stores.

He used a fictitious name to make out applications for credit. Det. Calwell said most of the articles Hodges obtained have been returned but they were all worn.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

Only two pairs in the World Championship trials reached a venturesome six-spade contract on today's hand, but both declarers managed to bring it home.

Opening lead—♥ 2.

At each table the deuce of hearts was opened and East's queen forced South's ace. Each declarer looked the hand over carefully and decided to try the diamond finesse. After the diamond queen held, each one led the ace of diamonds and presented East with a tough problem. East could ruff with the king or the ten or discard. One East chose to ruff with the king, whereupon declarer discarded his losing club. East led back a heart and declarer had no further problems.

The other East ruffed with the ten spot. This play forced Harry Harkavy of Miami, one of our greatest dummy players, to use all his skill but Harry was equal to the occasion.

He overruffed and took stock of the situation. It appeared that East was most likely to hold the king of spades and, therefore, his only chance to make the hand would be to pick it up. So his next play was a trump to dummy's ace, dropping the king. Then he returned to his hand with a club and led the jack of hearts for what is known as a ruffing finesse. The ruffing finesse worked; Harry came back to his hand once more, drew West's last trump and conceded a club trick.

While the low heart was the normal lead from the West hand, it is of interest to note that the hand would not make if West had opened the king instead of the deuce.

HELP STAMP OUT RUINED RECIPES !
Yes! You too can help stamp out fallen Yorkshire pudding and overdone cakes! Just check the progress of your recipe while it's in the oven. That's easy enough to do with this Enterprise modern automatic 30" range. It features a practical windowed door that lets you watch the cooking process without opening the door (that invariably cuts the heat down!) You'll find this kitchen favorite and many more used items in the Bay's major appliance department, 3rd floor. Only $97, terms available.

IF YOU ARE LOOKING FOR A not-too-old four-bedroom, two-bathroom country home, near ELK LAKE—with big trees and little trees, and some clear land (an acre in all) that could be subdivided sometime—a large separate matching garage and boat works, a full basement, automatic oil heat, living room with cheery fireplace and a separate dining room—in other words, a really nice family country home where you can bring up your children near good catfish holes and close to shady trout nests, and where they can test their mettle on a new pair of water skis—drive by 5125 SANTA CLARA AVE., at ELK LAKE. One can still keep rabbits here, not to mention ponies, bantams, Cornish game cocks or descendants of Uncle Wiggly. I personally live near this home, and would not trade our place of abode for King Farouk's villa on the Riv-ierra. Full price and a bargain to those who know Toronto prices, $34,500. Terms. Andy Stephen Looks at TV

There is still congratulatory talk being heard of the job done by North American television networks on the coverage of the illness, death and funeral of Sir Winston Churchill.

Stephen

The CBC did more than its share, not only in its own play, but also helping out the Americans obtain material for their transmissions.

Feeling that we might lose sight of the many facets which go into such coverage in this age of rapid communication, someone in the Toronto offices of CBC-TV decided to tell the story.

As soon as the world learned of Sir Winston's illness, the CBC's news staff in London was reinforced by correspondents Stanley Burke, Paris; Phil Calder, Bonn; Norman De Poe, Ottawa, and Don Cameron, supervising editor of CBC Newsmagazine.

The team went into action collecting advance material for both radio and television, under the coordination of Larry Duffey, CBC European news supervisor.

Cameramen filmed tributes and reminiscenes from such dignitaries as Lord Mountbatten, Earl Attlee and Lord Boothby. Back in Canada, crews filmed similar tributes from Prime Minister Pearson and Opposition Leader Diefenbaker.

* * *

The corporation, however, is trying to forget about its faux-pas in the Atlantic provinces, where the Pearson tribute was played before the great man's death.

On many occasions during the 10-day vigil between the announcement of the illness and his death, virtually two separate newscasts had to be prepared. One was for use if he were still living; the other, containing biographical film and tributes, for use upon his death.

On the day of Sir Winston's death, Sunday, Jan. 24, the TV network opened early with a newscast that dealt exclusively with the happenings in London, as well as filmed highlights from Sir Winston's career.

Here again there was wonder why Channel 2, Vancouver, didn't offer a filmed piece when it made its initial announcement during the film, "Rio Bravo." Surely there was something prepared. Seattle's Channel 5 didn't miss the bet.

* * *

All through Sunday special network newscasts contained Pearson and Diefenbaker tributes. Other reminiscenes and tributes were seen in a half-hour News Special, Monday, Jan. 25.

CBC-TV also cleared the Ed Sullivan Show for a BBC-TV special prepared well in advance.

CBC Newsmagazine producer Bill Cunningham flew to London to prepare a special one-hour program entitled Sir Winston Churchill: Journey Into History for telecast on the eve of the funeral. It gave Canadians a comprehensive picture of the funeral route from Westminster Hall to the cemetery at Bladon.

The network continued to give viewers special reports via film, satellite and direct voice reports. In all these rounded out the nearly five hours of special news programming scheduled by the CBC television network on the day of the state funeral.

CBC need take a back seat to no one for its coverage during this period of history.

DOES HE WANT TO BE PM?

Quebec Premier Coy About His Ambitions

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — Quebec Premier Jean Lesage implied Wednesday night there was some demand from within the Pearson cabinet that he enter the federal field and become prime minister.

Mr. Lesage told newsmen after the legislature adjourned there have been numerous demands from outside the Pearson cabinet that he step into Prime Minister Pearson's shoes.

Asked if there were any demands from within the cabinet itself, he replied:

"It's a professional secret. I cannot answer that."

The premier studiously played with a small piece of wire as he answered a barrage of questions.

"Do you like being premier of Quebec?" he was asked.

"Yes," replied the premier, twisting the wire between his fingers.

"Would you like to be prime minister of Canada?" another asked.

Lesage laughed out loud and exclaimed, "I knew you were going to ask me that!"

Taking a more serious tone, Mr. Lesage said, "One never knows what providence has in store."

A reporter asked Mr. Lesage if he would compete against Ontario Premier John Robarts for the top job in Canada.

"I'm afraid of no one," he said.

Asked if he favored anyone to replace him as premier in the event he should enter the federal field, Mr. Lesage said no.

However, he said, if he planned to retire as premier he would call the Quebec Liberal Federation to organize a convention and choose a new party leader.

"But I would back no one," he said.

"I intend to remain here for a long time," said Mr. Lesage. Asked what he termed a long time, he replied, "Use your judgment."

SPECULATION

The questions were provoked following several speculative articles in newspapers and magazines recently that Mr. Lesage intended to return to Ottawa.

He spent several years as a member of the Louis St. Laurent cabinet as minister of northern affairs before returning to Quebec in 1960 to lead the provincial Liberals back to power after a 16-year absence.

Political observers speculated Mr. Lesage's projected western Canadian tour was designed to let the rest of Canada have a good, long look at the future prime minister of the country.

CAMERON LASHES U.S.

'World Near Disaster In Viet Nam Battle'

The United States "through sheer folly and imbecility" is bringing the world to the brink of disaster, according to Colin Cameron, NDP member of parliament for Nanaimo-Cowichan-The Islands.

Geneva Convention rules have been flouted by the U.S. in Viet Nam, he said at University of Victoria Wednesday.

The government of South Viet Nam is a tool of the Americans as the North Viet Nam government is a Communist tool, he said.

Mr. Cameron was speaking in a debate sponsored by University of Victoria U.N. Club. Topic was: "U.N.: Useful or Useless?"

The U.S. and Russia have been equally dishonest in presenting disarmament proposals, he said. They demand complete nuclear disarmament only because it would leave them in a preferred position over non-nuclear arms, he added.

Harry Gregson, editor of the Victoria Observer, termed the U.N. a "soporific."

By hindering the establishment of international defences it has actually contributed to world tension, he said.

Gary Nixon, UBC and Uvic alumnus, called the U.N. "a place for debate with an occasional shoe-thumping."

"It gives the illusion of doing something but not the reality," Mr. Nixon said.

John Thies, president of the student U.N. Club, emphasized the role of the U.N. agencies.

ALBERT HEAD QUANDARY

DOGS BARK, MINK SMELL AND NEIGHBORS COMPLAIN

Horses and cows are in. Dogs and mink are out.

At least that's how Albert Head residents would like to see it.

To back up their ideas they are writing to Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell asking his support.

They are hoping he will ban intensive agriculture in the area.

The decision to try to enlist his aid was taken at the monthly ratepayers' meeting Monday.

Though no names were mentioned group members admitted today their main complaints were against nearby dog kennels and a mink farm.

Said Mrs. Olive Buchanan, wife of ratepayers' association president Jim Buchanan: "We are anxious to keep this a residential area."

She said the dogs kept up a continuous barking while there was a definite odor coming from the mink farm.

"But we want to stop it expanding any further."

"We don't mind people having a cow or a horse, but not things that are going to encroach on our pleasant living."

GENERAL ZONING

Said her husband: "We're trying to impress on Mr. Campbell the need for general zoning of the area.

"You're going to get a shack town if you don't go along those lines."

He said: "If it wasn't for the shelter we wouldn't be too worried.

He said the mink farm was just outside Albert Head and there seemed little chance of any others starting up in the area.

Present legislation allows intensive agriculture on plots of more than five acres.

The kennel in question, the Good Shepherd Friendship Centre, is run by a group of Roman Catholic sisters.

Since opening the kennels there 18 months ago, they have devoted their time to looking after abandoned dogs.

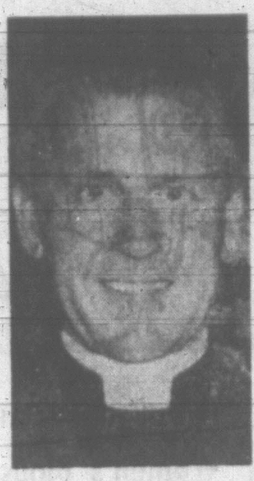
At any given time the sisters have between 50 and 100 dogs in their care.

Said Mother Cecilia Mary: "I know these people don't like us being here. But there are other farms and kennels in the area and we're not worried."

Five sisters help her run the kennels.

Truck Plunge Kills 36

CAIRO (UPI) — Thirty-six workers were killed Wednesday when a truck swerved out of control on a curve and plunged into a canal near Ayyat, 40 miles south of Cairo.



DISAGREEMENT last week with church board brought resignation of Rev. Frank Ball, 48, of St. Paul's United Church in Cornwall, Ont.

Rear Seat Belts

DETROIT (UPI) — The Ford Motor Co., Chrysler Corp. and American Motors Corp., announced Wednesday they will make rear seat belts standard equipment on all new cars starting with 1966 models as an added safety feature.

Non-Stop Car Wash At Weekend

Ever tried fitting a 53½-hour working week into 2¼ days?

Nine Victoria men are going to give it a whirl this weekend . . . for nothing.

They are all members of the Victoria Classic Car Club.

And their hands are going to be full in more ways than one . . . with wet sponges.

The club is staging a non-stop car wash starting 6:30 Saturday night.

The nine members don't intend laying down their sponges until midnight Monday.

Cost of a wash at the Suburban gas station, Saanich and Douglas, will be 99 cents.

Proceeds will go to the Vancouver Island Drag Association and various charities.

Behind the idea is Classic Car Club president Barry Rintoul, who will be one of the nine trying to last out the mammoth session.

UN Facing New Problems In Bid to Recess Session

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—The United Nations General Assembly ran into another delay Wednesday in its efforts to recess its no-vote session. It will try again next Tuesday.

For the first time, representatives of the Asian and African countries voiced concern that the delay is endangering the future of the world organization.

The assembly had hoped to pave the way for a long recess by filling six seats on the UN economic and social council, giving Secretary-General U Thant authority to spend money for UN expenses during the recess, and taking care of additional housekeeping business.

But assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey announced that an informal tally had failed to break a deadlock between Guinea and Gabon for the sixth seat on the council, and that action on giving Thant authority to spend money would have to be postponed.

In addition there was no agreement on the make-up of a committee to review the entire issue of UN peace-keeping—the very reason for calling the recess.

The assembly has been operating under a no-vote arrangement, adopted in the hope that private negotiations would produce a compromise agreement over Article 19 that would permit the assembly to resume normal operations.

New Miracle Cure: Just Keep Walking

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet news agency Tass said Tuesday that a 65-year-old pensioner cured his high blood pressure by walking 21,000 miles over the past five years and four months. He averaged 31 miles per day.

The pensioner, Alexei Polikarpov, told Tass that he had walked about four-fifths of the distance to his goal of 26,000 miles—the distance covered by Soviet cosmonaut Yuri Gagarin on his 1961 space flight.

Polikarpov, who calls himself the "Walking Sputnik," was interviewed in a town named Yerofei Pavolich in northern Siberia where he was trudging across the snow in a ski suit in 40-degree-below zero temperatures, Tass said.

"I started out with high blood pressure, but with every thousand miles I feel myself getting better and better," he said.

ON-THE-SPOT VIEW

Peace Not Expected In Mid-East Hassle

By ROGER STONEBANKS

Conflicts between Israel and Arab countries may never be solved, says a man who lived there for 23 years.

"I used to think there was a chance of peace," says H. C. Weston Sanders, a 59-year-old businessman, lawyer and economist.

'In 1948 I thought things would settle down. Since then I haven't seen the slightest easing of tension.

"A settlement is very, very highly improbable because of the complete antagonism between the two sides."

Israel's declared policy was for an accommodation with the Arabs but how far it would go in the matter of concessions never was made clear.

The country would have to come to terms on compensation for property left behind when Arabs, who formed two-thirds of the country's population, left in droves in 1948.

Most Israelis would not object to a settlement, thought Mr. Sanders, who practised law in Haifa between 1934 and 1957.

"But no Arab leader would last in power a day if he made a move towards any arrangement with Israel," he added.

As far as the Arab nations were concerned, Israel belonged to them.

Mr. Sanders is manager of the Commonwealth Trust Company here, which opened its Fort Street office Monday. He previously pratised law in Vancouver.

LIVED IN PEACE

Until the First World War, he said, Arabs and Jews lived peacefully.

During that war, Lawrence of Arabia organized bands of Arabs to attack the Turks and the Arabs were promised independence from the Ottoman Empire.

At the time the United States entered the war in 1917, the United Kingdom agreed to the Balfour Declaration which would establish a national home for Jews.

"When the declaration was made no one dreamt large numbers of Jews would emigrate to Palestine and at first, immigration was very small," said Mr. Sanders.

The Arabs objected to the declaration, saying they were promised independence. After the war, Palestine was established.

In 1948, Arabs left Palestine in droves rather than come to terms with the new state of Israel.

ONLY TOWN

Few Arabs remained and today the only town with an Arab majority is Nazareth.

The Arabs who left are still where they went, largely in the Gaza strip. Their numbers are increasing and Mr. Sanders called the refugee camps "wretched."

Mr. Sanders was born in London and graduated there in economics and law. He left when he was 23 to work for the British colonial office in Tanganyika.

Later, he lived in Cyprus before going to Palestine. He came to Canada in 1958.

Because of his travels, he has been called to the bar in four countries—the U.K., Cyprus, Palestine and Canada.

He speaks French fluently and speaks some German, Greek and Arabic.

His new job, the first as a businessman, will be "quite a challenge" but a legal background "will be very useful."

City to Adopt Heavy Truck Road Limits

New controls for heavy trucks using Victoria streets were approved Wednesday by city council's special advisory committee.

The recommendations, coming from a committee of traffic experts, businessmen and two members of council, will go to council's standing traffic committee next week for further consideration before going to aldermen.

Chairman Ald. M. H. Mooney said the proposals would become amendments to the Victoria traffic bylaw if approved by council. The changes have been worked on at the advisory level for about six months.

Ald. Mooney predicted a bylaw could be passed in about 30 days.

He said the controls would apply to loads and weight of trucks, much like the provincial statute controlling freight-carriers on highways.

It was the committee's first meeting of 1965 and indicated many suggestions to come for the improvement of traffic flow in the city.

Among these are modified intersections and lighting, traffic controls and street widening.

LOCAL BRIEFS

The final figures of the B.C. Tuberculosis Society (Victoria branch) annual fund drive for 1964 reached an all-time high of $27,725.

This amount is $655 more than was received the previous year.

Mrs. J. U. Kimmitt, chairman of the society for the past 18 years, says "the response from the general public in Victoria has been marvellous."

Although the campaign is officially terminated until November, contributions continue to arrive at the Tuberculosis Society headquarters, 1902 Fort Street.

DOCUMENTS MISSING AT REGINA

REGINA (CP) — Premier Ross Thatcher Tuesday accused the former CCF government of having stolen government documents during the period after the general election and the time when the Liberal government assumed office last spring.

Mr. Thatcher said the government is giving "very serious consideration to having a commission investigate the matter of missing files, only a few of which have been recovered.

"In the days to come, if we find the files, I think it would make the Dorion inquiry look pretty pale," he said.

UN Project 'Just Plain Self-Interest'

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—At the age of 73 Paul Hoffman is ready to enter a new phase of his spectacular career, one that will put him in the driver's seat of a new model United Nations development machine.

Hoffman, former head of Studebaker and Marshall Plan director, keeps busy meantime as managing director of the UN Special Fund which has 485 pre-investment surveys going in 130 countries—and more coming up.

He says his job of trying to raise the living standards of half the world's population is just plain self-interest and good business for the world's major industrial countries. Helping poor countries will furnish future markets.

The UN Economic and Social Council last summer approved a merger between the Special Fund and the UN expanded program of technical assistance, making Hoffman administrator of the new machine.

David Owen, British chairman of the Technical Assistance Board, is to become co-administrator.

The new combined machinery would have immediate command of spending $137,000,000 or more a year. The goal in the next few years is $200,000,000 financed by voluntary contributions.

Officer Slain, Police Shoot Hunted Man

OXENHOLME, England (Reuters)—Police shot down a man in a mountain manhunt Wednesday after one unarmed policeman was killed and two others wounded while trying to arrest a suspected burglar in a railway waiting room.

The hunted man, shot in the head and thigh by a policeman armed with a rifle, was reported in "very poor" condition in the same hospital where policeman George Russell, 36, died earlier in the day of bullet wounds.

Russell was the fifth British policeman murdered in the last seven years. His death seems likely to harden opposition to a bill to end the death penalty in Britain.

Hitherto, the death sentence has been mandatory for killing a policeman, but Home Secretary Sir Frank Soskice last week rejected a police request to retain this penalty.

RCMP UNDER SCRUTINY

Dorion Probe Ready To Start 'Phase Two'

By ALEX MORIN

OTTAWA (CP)—With an end to the first phase of the Dorion inquiry in sight, some of its lawyers are taking aim at one of their main targets for the second phase—the RCMP.

Commission Counsel Andre Desjardins said Wednesday he is ready to begin the second phase this week. It involves the conduct of the RCMP, the justice department and Justice Minister Favreau in their handling of the allegation by Montreal lawyer Pierre Lamontagne that he was pressured and offered a $20,000 bribe by assistants to federal cabinet ministers.

Ross Drouin, counsel for the Progressive Conservative party, charged that he is one of many lawyers being discriminated against by RCMP refusal to make available their full file on the force's earlier investigation of the Lamontagne allegations.

He said the file is available to Mr. Desjardins, Liberal counsel Jules Deschenes and RCMP lawyer Norman Mathews but not to the other 17 lawyers representing various political parties or individuals.

Mr. Lamontagne complained to the RCMP in August that he was being pressured politically to allow bail for Lucien Rivard, a suspected narcotics conspiratory being sought by the U.S. government. Mr. Lamontagne represented the U.S. in the extradition proceedings against Rivard.

DIDN'T PROSECUTE

Although an RCMP investigation was completed shortly thereafter, it was decided not to prosecute. The Dorion inquiry was assigned to look into the matter after the matter was brought to the floor of the Commons.

During 21 days of hearings 40 witnesses have been heard. When a witness has already been interviewed in the previous RCMP investigation, certain parts of RCMP report are distributed to counsel.

Quebec Superior Court Judge Frederic Dorion said all lawyers had received sufficient material to do their job properly so far.

He promised a ruling on Mr. Drouin's request for the full, unexpurgated version of the RCMP report questioning on how the case was handled.

There is another ruling expected from Judge Dorion which could serve to extend the first phase. He has promised a decision on the request from Mr. Drouin and Yves Fortier, counsel for Mr. Lamontagne, that the ministerial aide alleged to have made the bribe offer be brought back to the stand.

WOULD BE QUESTIONED

The purpose would be to question Raymond Denis, former executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, about remarks he is alleged to have uttered in an unrelated immigration case involving American millionaire Harry Stonehill. The point of the questioning would be to test Denis' credibility on certain parts of his testimony.

Of the seven persons who testified Wednesday, two had been on the stand before.

Guy Masson, who testified three weeks ago he was "errand boy" with an offer of $60,000 for the Liberal party election fund, was asked again about certain telephone calls he previously had denied making.

The calls on the night of July 20-21 were verified by Bell Telephone records but Mr. Masson said he still could not recall them. One was from Maxime's Lounge, Montreal, to Mr. Masson's room at the Chateau Laurier Hotel in Ottawa and the other was from Mr. Masson's room to Robert Gignac at Maxime's.

Gignac testified earlier in the inquiry he was at Maxime's that night with Rivard's wife.

The night in question is one during which Mr. Lamontagne says he received threatening calls about Rivard's bail application.

RECEIVED CALL

Masson has testified he received a call in Ottawa the same night from one of Rivard's lawyers in Montreal and there also has been evidence that calls went from Maxime's to Mr. Lamontagne's summer residence at Chicoutimi.

Completely new ground was turned Wednesday with testimony about phone calls made on an earlier occasion by Masson.

Herman Falls, office manager of the Chateau, said hotel records show that on July 14 Masson made a call from his room at the hotel to government local 99-26261. The number has been listed since 1962 in the armed forces directory under security and administration for the RCAF directorate of air intelligence.

Masson was not asked whether he made the call or to give any explanations about it.

That call was followed by a call to Denis' unlisted number at the House of Commons.

HAD WARNING

Andre Letendre, 35-year-old executive assistant to Justice Minister Favreau, testifed that he was warned in advance by the minister that he would be interviewed by the RCMP.

Mr. Favreau had told him Aug. 19, the morning of the RCMP interview, Letendre said the minister told him RCMP Commissioner G. B. McClellan had given permission for Favreau to tell his assistant there would be an interview but not what it would concern.

Mr. Letendre said the minister had reaffirmed his faith in him and counselled that he tell "the whole truth."

Mr. Letendre denied Mr. Lamontagne's allegations of pressure on his part during a telephone conversation Aug. 11.

Another witness, Montreal lawyer Jean Salois, 28, testified he heard rumors last summer that Rivard was willing to pay a "very high fee" to any lawyer who could get him released on bail.

Rezone Plan Turned Down In C. Saanich

Central Saanich council Tuesday unanimously turned down an application to rezone eight acres of farmland on Kersey Road for industrial use.

Applicant was P. R. Tyson, 973 Inverness Street, who sought to establish a permanent sawmill on the site situated north of Keating Cross Road near the West Saanich Road.

Geoff Joslin, 1526 Keating Cross Road, spokesman for a group of residents, said establishment of an industrial zone in the area would create problems, such as smoke nuisance, for home owners in the area.

"There are other areas in the municipality set aside for industrial use," he said. "Why doesn't the applicant go there."

Capital region planning board director Tony Roberts who inspected the site with councillors last week, felt it would not be in the best interest of the municipality to establish an industrial zone in the district.

Industry Boom To Take Time, Loffmark Says

By JIM HUME

The problem of manufacturing finished goods in British Columbia has no simple answer.

R. R. Loffmark, minister of industrial development, trade and commerce, told the Men's Canadian Club Wednesday that until B.C.'s population grew considerably, exploitation of raw materials would continue to be the economic mainstay of the province.

"We have great resources here, but few people to buy," he said. "We have to rely on the exploitation of our raw materials if we are to make economic progress."

Mr. Loffmark added that until B.C. had a population sufficiently large to provide a market outlet for mass produced products the situation would show little change.

"Before you can go into mass production you need the population close by for basic customers," he said. "It is not possible for us to compete with other manufacturers until we can produce the volume of goods that bring low costs."

Mr. Loffmark admitted that he would like to see many manufacturing plants in B.C. and said he felt they would come eventually, but slowly.

COMMON SENSE

He added that in the meantime Canadians had to decide between a spirit of nationalism and the common sense of economics.

"The spirit of nationalism often overcomes our common sense from an economic point of view," he said. "We must decide whether we are going to become an economic backwater or join ourselves to another nation economically."

Mr. Loffmark pointed out that though Canadian ties with Great Britain may be strong, the United Kingdom now bought more lumber from Russia each year than she did from Canada.

"Why?" he asked. "Because Britain is short of dollars because they sell more to Russia than they sell to us and because they say they can't compete on the Canadian market."

EASY TO SAY

The minister said it was easy for people to say that Canada was giving away its raw materials instead of producing finished goods.

"But they forget the important mass-production low-cost factor. We have to look at what we can do best and that is export raw materials. We have the materials, but not the people for a mass market."

He said that if the United States would lower or remove tariffs on two items—finished aluminum products and finished lumber products—the B.C. export market would change radically.

"If the U.S. did this we would have to reciprocate and allow the United States to bring in low cost items," he said. "But if those two tariff barriers were removed we could look for a bright future in those manufacturing categories."

CHEAP POWER

Mr. Loffmark forecast that as cheap power became available in B.C. many industries would locate here, the population would grow and with the population growth would come more manufacturing plants.

"Until that time arrives we must keep cool heads and make a careful analysis of the difference between an emotional attitude and economic needs," he said.

Self-Support Status Earned At Knox Church

Knox Presbyterian Church will become self-supporting this year, it was revealed at the annual meeting.

Members agreed this was largely due to the leadership of the minister, Rev. A. A. Rattray.

The Young People's Society reported that 1964 was an active and prosperous year.

Elected elders of the church were Capt. Arthur Davidson, Cmdr. J. H. McLean, F. M. Maze and R. A. Robison. They will be installed next Sunday at 11 a.m.

Mrs. G. Laubenstein and Mrs. W. Wood were elected to serve on the board of managers.

Rev. A. G. Faraday of the Royal Canadian Navy presided in the absence of Rev. Mr. Rattray.

Court Convicts Sooke Woman On Camera Theft

A Sooke woman was convicted in city court Wednesday of shoplifting in a department store last Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Amy Hocking will be sentenced by Magistrate William Ostler Feb. 18. She is on bond from a previous conviction for theft last fall.

Evidence given at her trial was that she took a $16 camera from the department store. She said in her own defence that the camera was intended as a surprise gift for her husband.

Magistrate Ostler said the "absurdity" of her statement was apparent. Her husband and six-year-old son had been in the store with her.

In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

For a study in contrasts, I give you two of the most formidable antagonists in the British Columbia Legislature.

These are Ray Gillis Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources, and North Vancouver Liberal Gordon Gibson.

The one sits high in cabinet country, his portfolio embracing forest industries which grow richer with each new pulp mill.

The other occupies, in hit-or-miss fashion, a rear row seat in our five-man Whiggery.

Minister Williston, in political terms, has the world by the tail on a downhill haul. He speaks for the modern woods operator, the man whose prospects of success are negligible unless his starting stake runs to at least $500,000.

★ ★ ★

Private member Gibson (across the red carpet they mock him sometimes as "Cut-and-Get-Out" Gibson) speaks for himself, from convictions hard to budge as a hung-up butt log. He has growled a time or two so far this session, and made one tame apple-polishing speech given over mostly to praise of Premier Bennett and his works.

The Hon. Mr. Williston, ex-school teacher, former minister of education, is slim, bespectacled and urbane. Except when he contributes to debate, I rate him one of the Legislature's quiet men.

Mr. Gibson, in one form or another, has been a logger since his rough frontier boyhood on the Island west coast. He is independently wealthy; owns a yacht about which he grumbles amiably; has developed a Hawaiian holding into a 40-unit resort.

★ ★ ★

His wild and woolly life-story—or that portion of it which Gordon Gibson has lived—is currently being fictionized into a massive novel tentatively titled, "The Kingdom Carver," by writer Ernie Perrault, younger brother of B.C. Liberal chief Ray Perrault.

Contracts are being drawn up in Toronto and New York. I understand they include publication by Doubleday - Doran with sale of 100,000 copies expected.

In the forthcoming novel, a Paul Bunyanish character named 'Chris Laird' will toss mountains out of his way.

In the House, Gordon Gibson, who hasn't moved a mountain for a good few years, sits with head slightly tilted and one heavy fist on the desk. He listens while Ray Williston builds his picture of a forest future in which logs will be scaled by weight in bundles, and young trees once smashed and scorned as 'saplings' will be the logging norm.

"There are some people," Mr. Williston tells the House, "who claim we are over-cutting."

★ ★ ★

Then he offers figures so vast they startle. This year's cut, says he, will be 1.5 billion feet, against an ultimate sustained yield capacity for the province of three billion feet.

"In other words," the minister translates, "we've reached the halfway mark in utilization of sustained yield."

Old-logger Gibson — in one historic session expelled by Speaker's edict from this chamber—sits, watches and listens.

But he will be standing, one day next week, planted solid and tough and big, for his own budget debate speech.

When that day comes, I do not think kingdom-carver Gibson will be polishing any apple!

Lawyer Brands Masson As 'A Liar and Hoaxer'

(See Story Page 35)

MASSON
. . . under attack

OTTAWA (CP) — Criminal lawyer Leo-Rene Maranda, 32, at the Dorion inquiry today described Liberal organizer Guy Masson as a liar and a hoaxer.

He said it is possible he told lawyer Pierre Lamontagne in September that it was Masson who was behind the alleged bribe offer to Mr. Lamontagne.

The inquiry is investigating the allegations of Mr. Lamontagne that he was offered $20,000 July 14 by Reymond Denis, then executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, to agree to Lucien Rivard's release on bail.

Rivard has been held in Montreal's Bordeaux Jail since June 19 for United States authorities on charges of being a kingpin in a Mafia-run narcotics conspiracy.

Mr. Lamontagne has been acting for the U.S. government in Rivard's extradition hearing.

Mr. Maranda, a lawyer for Rivard, testified about a telephone conversation he overheard July 20 between Raymond Daoust, another lawyer for Rivard, and Masson. Masson has said that he acted as the "errand boy" between Denis and Rivard's friends.

SAID BAIL ARRANGED

Mr. Maranda said Masson claimed to Mr. Daoust that bail had been arranged for Rivard. Masson also claimed to have seen Mr. Lamontagne in Ottawa that day when it was known Mr. Lamontagne was in Chicoutimi.

Toll Booths Pay for War

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong troops, virtually unhindered by South Vietnamese government operations, have a stranglehold on the only overland route from Saigon to the border of North Viet Nam.

Viet Cong toll booths on Route One, only 50 miles east of Saigon, have been operating freely since November.

These toll booths are believed to have financed the Communist offensive at Binh Gia in December. That operation cost government forces 500 casualties, including 20 Americans. Binh Gia also netted the Viet Cong quantities of arms and equipment.

Planes Rake Congo Rebels

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — A mercenary-led column, slowed to a crawl by rebel ambushes, pushed onward today in the northeastern Congo after getting help from three B-26 planes.

The planes raked a river crossing Wednesday with rockets and machine-gun fire.

Ministers Quit In Hindi Riots

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Widespread rioting in Madras state to protest the imposition of Hindi as the official language of India brought the resignation of two ministers today, plunging the government into a constitutional crisis.

Food Minister C. Subramaniam and Deputy Minister for Oil O. Alagessan, both of Tamil-speaking Madras state, told Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri tonight they were quitting. Their resignations followed an emergency cabinet meeting to discuss the Madras riots.

The rioting has taken at least 30 lives in the past two days. Police were using gunfire, clubs and teargas to try to control frenzied students protesting the adoption of Hindi as the official language. The government sent in troops today when students attacked and burned railroad trains.

The two resigning ministers asked the constitution be amended to include Tamil, usually spoken in Madras, as an additional official language with Hindi. Shastri rejected their demand.

Units of the Indian army were rushed into several cities and districts of Madras state as the death toll in two days of violence climbed to 30. Hundreds more were injured in clashes between police and students in this state where Tamil is the principal language.

The students called a "trains day" today to further their protests. They attacked and set fire to coaches, tore up gates at railroad crossings and stopped a mail train by squatting on the tracks.

'Mystery Letter' Delays Parallels Sommers Case

BY JOHN MIKA
Times Legislative Reporter

Procrastination by Attorney-General Robert Bonner in prosecuting the "mystery letter" forger parallels delays in the Sommers case, the legislature was told Wednesday.

Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan) demanded that Mr. Bonner lay forgery charges under the Criminal Code against the unidentified Vancouver man he said has admitted authorship of the phony letter.

Government backbenchers listened silently—except for one interjection — to Mr. Harding's measured tones as he repeatedly attacked the delays.

His vehemence finally drew Mr. Bonner to his feet to protest that if charges are laid "the possibility of seeing a fair trial conducted will not be enhanced by this discussion at this time."

But Mr. Harding continued his demands that the attorney-general act immediately.

The letter, on the premier's stationery and purporting to have been signed by Premier Bennett, was sent to an aide of Prime Minister Pearson.

The letter is presumed to have been sent in support of multi-millionaire promoter Harry Stonehill's unsuccessful applica-

'CLOSE MISS' PRECEDED PLANE PLUNGE

NEW YORK (AP)—A jet airliner reported a near collision moments before an Eastern Air Lines DC-7B plane plunged into the ocean killing 84 persons, government investigators said today.

The Federal Aviation Agency said an official recording of radio transmissions Monday night, when the tragedy occurred, showed a Pan American World Airways jetliner reporting "a close miss here."

The transcript indicated that the doomed plane was at 3,700 feet altitude when last reported and the jet was at 3,500 feet.

After a steep banking turn, Eastern's flight 663, a four-engine propeller plane, dived into the sea about eight miles off Jones Beach, within minutes of take-off from Kennedy Airport. No one survived.

U.S. SHOULD GET OUT SAYS DOUGLAS

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—The United States should withdraw from South Viet Nam and allow a United Nations peace-keeping force to move into the area, New Democrat Leader T. C. Douglas said today.

He also said Canada should stop acting like a "mere echo" of Washington's state department and threaten to leave the Geneva Truce Commission in Southeast Asia unless it is given the authority necessary to operate effectively.

"Nothing could be less effective than the present situation," Mr. Douglas said in a news conference.

He suggested that the Viet Nam crisis should eilther be submitted to the United Nations, or Canada should demand that the Geneva conference be reconvened to consider the matter.

'REMEMBER'

Pope Issues Peace Plea

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope Paul today issued an impassioned plea for peace in Viet Nam "so that innocent populations may be saved from new trials and new tears."

He said the world "seems to be returning to discord and conflicts" after a promising period of eased tension.

The Pope said it seemed impossible that with the memories of the Second World War still fresh, "there are people who dare to turn their minds to thoughts of war."

"Have the torments and anguish which were suffered, have the immense ruins which were amassed, have the cruel massacres taught nothing?" the Pope asked.

"We turn to all interested men, on whatever side they may be, so that innocent populations may be saved from new trials and new tears."

Kosygin Met Mao

TOKYO (AP)—Soviet Premier Kosygin flew to North Korea today from Peking after talking with China's Mao Tse-tung. It was their first meeting since Kosygin became premier.

A New China news agency broadcast said they met at a reception Wednesday night which was attended by Premier Chou En-lai, President Liu Shao-chi, Foreign Minister Chen Yi and other top officials.

Rocket Firing Successful

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —A Titan 3-A rocket swung its third stage into orbit as a flying launch platform today to start a series of intended orbit-shifting, satellite-ejection manoeuvres, which must be perfected for manned and unmanned military space missions.

The three-stage, 124-foot-tall booster rumbled skyward at 12:19 p.m. on the most demanding assignment ever handed a U.S. rocket. Seventeen minutes later, the air force reported the 15-foot third stage had fired for five minutes and propelled itself into a circular orbit about 115 miles above the earth.

Four Shot Down, U.S. Pilot Lost

(Times News Services)

SAIGON—Striking from land and sea, about 150 U.S. and South Vietnamese warplanes smashed at targets in North Viet Nam today in reprisal for Viet Cong attacks capped by the blasting of a U.S. billet in Qui Nhon.

Four carrier-based U.S. Navy planes and one pilot were lost as a result of the action, otherwise described by an American spokesman as highly successful.

(Radio Hanoi claimed North Vietnamese forces "shot down seven U.S. planes, damaged many others" and captured one American pilot.)

The bombing and rocket raids were launched while rescue workers still combed debris of the four-storey U.S. military men's billet in Qui Nhon for the living and dead of a terrorist bombing Wednesday night believed to have killed 22 Americans.

It was the third and heaviest reprisal since Sunday against North Viet Nam, which trains and supplies the Red guerrillas. The attacks were made through low, broken clouds.

ATTACK BARRACKS

Targets were officially described as barracks areas at Chan Hoa and Chap Le. They were left wreathed in columns of smoke.

Chan Hao is 50 miles north of the border and about four miles northwest of Dong Hoi, a coastal point struck by navy planes Sunday. Chap Le is 8½ miles north of the border.

More than 100 navy jets from the carriers Hancock, Ranger and Coral Sea hit the barracks area at Chan Hoa.

Chap Le was the target of 28 Vietnamese fighter - bombers, which struck across the 17th parallel under escort of 20 U.S. Air Force F-100 jet fighters. The escorts' job was to suppress anti-aircraft fire.

All the land-based craft returned safely.

Of the four navy planes lost, three went down at sea and one was smashed when its landing gear collapsed as it was attempting to put down at Da Nang, an air base 80 miles south of the border. The pilots of three survived. The pilot of an F-8D Crusader jet disappeared with his plane.

U.S. Raids 'War Act' Hanoi Says

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist North Viet Nam said today the U.S.-Vietnamese air attacks amounted to an act of war.

In its first statement on today's retaliatory raids against North Vietnamese military targets the Hanoi regime said in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo:

"This is a new, most serious war act perpetrated by the U.S. imperialists against the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam."

'RED AGGRESSION COMPELS ATTACK'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States charged today that continuing "aggressions and outrages" by Communist forces in South Viet Nam compelled the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments to strike anew at "infiltration bases" in North Viet Nam.

A statement by the White House asserted "our desire to avoid spreading the conflict" in Viet Nam but added that because of "provocations" by North Viet Nam the United States and South Viet Nam felt compelled to strike back by air for the third time this week.

The counter strokes at the Communists presumably were ordered as a result of decisions made by President Johnson at a national security council meeting Wednesday afternoon. There was no announcement following that two-hour session and officials said privately that decisions would be made known only through action.

The White House statement this morning dealt with the new air assault as a limited reprisal action rather than as part of a developing air offensive against North Viet Nam. The reference to avoidance of spreading the war was evidently designed to indicate to the Communist side that the U.S. is still prepared to confine the struggle if the Communist strategy makes that possible.

The statement also left no doubt, however, that the unwillingness often displayed here in the past to hit North Viet Nam almost regardless of what happened in the South has now given way; whatever protection of privileged sanctuary the North had enjoyed until last weekend seemed to be disappearing fast.

The U.S. - Vietnamese strike was, however, once more directed against positions described in the White House statement as "infiltration bases."

As to the provocations charged against the Communists, the statement said that in recent days "large numbers of South Vietnamese and United States personnel have been killed in an increased number of Viet Cong ambushes and attacks."

Cited among these costly Communist blows was the terrorist bombing at the town of Qui Nhon Wednesday which took a heavy toll of lives in the destruction of an enlisted men's hotel. The statement also said the Reds had overrun a district town in Thouc Long province inflicting Vietnamese and American casualties. Attacks on railways and a wave of assassinations of South Vietnamese officials were also charged against the Communists in the White House statement.

NOT EXPECTED TO RETALIATE

Experts Believe China Can't Afford to Fight

By JOHN CANTWELL

HONG KONG (AP) — Analysts in this British colony doubt that China, despite its belligerent warnings, will retaliate against United States air strikes on North Viet Nam.

Two reasons are cited by American, Commonwealth and Nationalist Chinese sources in this trading centre and international listening post on China's south flank:

1. China, despite its manpower and its recent explosion of an atomic device, does not have the resources to wage a major war with th U.S.

2. Peking believes such a war is unnecessary, as it considers that the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas are winning their fight to take over South Viet Nam.

A Chinese Nationalist expert said Wednesday the Mao Tse-tung Communist regime cannot financially afford a confrontation with the U.S.

"During the Korean War, this point was driven home very firmly to the Chinese Communists," he said. "Chinese Communist troops were told that each shell fired during this war was worth an ounce of gold. They were instructed not to fire unless they absolutely had to.

SET BACK PLANS

"The Korean War put Chinese Communist plans for development of resources back at least 10 years."

Commonwealth experts said they believe Peking is playing a game of poker with the United States. One remarked:

"To tell the truth, America seems to be doing the same thing.

"America seems to be attempting to see how far it can go without incurring Chinese retaliation."

American sources said they believe Peking's warnings were meant at least in part for the Russians. One explained:

"It seems that, as well as being a warning to the United States, they are also a warning to the Russians and the North Vietnamese that the Chinese Communists have not forfeited their stake in the area."

STEELMEN'S VOTE

Abel Continues To Retain Lead

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — I. W. Abel continued to hold the lead in the fight for presidency of the United Steelworkers (USW) today but his margin was being whittled away by incumbent David J. McDonald in late returns from some of the larger local unions.

With 2,768 of 3,203 USW locals reporting in Tuesday's election, an unofficial tabulation showed Abel with 262,231 votes to 253,249 for McDonald.

Abel's lead throughout the night ranged from 11,000 to 14,000 votes. But late final returns from some large locals in the western Pennsylvania steel complex began to reduce his margin.

McDonald supporters said at mid-morning that the remaining larger locals, "particularly those in the east," would give their candidate at least a 2-1 edge.

The unofficial returns must be sent to the international tellers here within 10 days after the polls closed and will be tabulated officially starting Feb. 19. A union official said the unofficial tabulations were difficult to assess and claimed that a 10,000-vote lead could easily be increased to twice that size or wiped out entirely by the official tally.

CANADA VOTING

Abel, 56, took the lead late Tuesday night in his bid to unseat his one-time friend, who was seeking his fourth four-year term as president of the nation's third largest union. McDonald is 62.

ABEL
. . . . edge in Canada

Abel was leading incumbent everywhere in Canada except the Atlantic provinces Wednesday night.

In Quebec, a union spokesman said Abel had 6,819 votes to McDonald's 2,744 after 80 of 90 polls had reported in District 5.

District 6—Ontario and Western Canada—gave a lead of about 3 to 2 to Abel with ballots counted in 164 of 380 locals.

The count included the vote from major locals at Hamilton, Sudbury, Sault Ste. Marie and Thompson, Man.

But in the Maritimes, officials in Sydney, N.S., said McDonald led Abel 701-558 in early light voting. Results from five other locals, including three in remote Labrador areas, probably would not be available until later.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—Most prices were firm in dull trade today on the Winnipeg grain exchange, except for rye.

The tense international situation caused protective buying on America nmarkets and this was reflected in Winnipeg trade.

Most activity was in oilseeds, where overseas support and inquiry held prices firm. Sales of 1,000 tons of rapeseed and 500 tons of flax to Japan were reported.

Oats and barley were steady in light domestic trade.

Rye was hesitant and easier, reflecting a declining Chicago market.

Sale of 750,000 bushels of Canadian wheat to Britain was reported.

Lakehead prices for class two, IWA and domestic wheat were all up ¼ cent.

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean futures prices moved higher on the board of trade today but most grain futures were mixed or fractionally lower.

Intensified military operations in the Far East and renewed efforts to bring a quick end to the U.S. longshoremen's strike in eastern and gulf ports gave an early boost to most commodity prices.

A large elevator house bought fair amounts of July wheat on an early price setback and there was commercial buying of corn.

What Is INVESTMENT
EFFICIENCY?
Well, let's start with what represents Investment INEFFICIENCY: If you invested $2,000 at 7½%, repayable at $50 per month, such monthly repayment ceases to earn interest, as do subsequent payments that remain idle while funds accumulate to a suitable reinvestment sum. We might overcome this by investing our $2,000 at 7½%, payable interest only quarterly, with principal payable in full, say, in three years. This is fine, if we wish to spend the interest for cost of living, as the entire principal "Keeps Busy." But if you have no need to support your present cost of living with the earnings, MAXIMUM INVESTMENT EFFICIENCY can be effected by compounding your earnings. In fact, a 7½% investment compounded quarterly for 5 years provides a 45% growth. ($1,000 returns $1,450). To get this efficiency on really sound security, buy Victoria Mortgage 7½% 5-year debentures with interest paid or compounded quarterly.

CLEAR HIM OR FIRE HIM: MLA

Jones Case Inactivity Hit

The provincial cabinet was criticized a third time in the legislature Wednesday for failing to resolve the position of G. E. P. Jones, suspended chairman of the purchasing commission.

Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan) said Mr. Jones—acquitted on charges of accepting benefits—must be reinstated or else brought before the legislature which is the only body that can fire him.

"When will this be cleared up?" asked Mr. Harding.

"This legislature has every right to expect a full statement by the premier or the attorney-general on this matter."

He said Mr. Jones should not be kept "under suspicion and suspension" any longer.

Premier Bennett was absent when Mr. Harding made his remarks. Attorney-General Bonner listened but made no reply.

NO SERIOUS DIFFICULTIES

Johnson Plan 'Reassures' Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Gordon said Wednesday no serious difficulty for Canada appears to flow from President Johnson's new balance-of-payments measures, but Canada won't be left entirely untouched.

He assured U.S. Treasury Secretary Dillon that Canada will not use an exemption granted earlier from the interest equalization tax to borrow funds in the U.S. to increase this country's foreign exchange reserves.

Mr. Gordon said in a statement that the special message to Congress by President Johnson is "reassuring" to Canada.

"They are taking extensive measures to deal with their own balance of payments situation, and it is clear that in doing so they have taken account of our situation here.

"The tdrade and financial relations between Canada and the U.S. are so substantial that we could scarcely expect the U.S. to take measures to improve its balance of payments which would leave us untouched.

"However, there does not appear to be anything amongst the president's proposals that will cause Canada serious difficulty."

Death Rode 'Cat'

Father of Seven Killed In Bush

An experienced Langford logger, father of seven children, was killed Wednesday afternoon when the 10-ton bulldozer he was driving toppled on him at Metchosin.

Herbert Winship, 43, of 653 Strandlund, was backing the machine from a flat deck truck to an earth bank when the left track of the caterpillar tractor went over the edge of the deck.

Police said the bulldozer rolled sideways, crushing the operator's steel canopy and pinning Winship underneath when it came to rest upsidedown.

There were two witnesses, truck driver Jogindar Singh, 743 Market, and tree faller Jack Gullivord of Sims Road.

"I was in the cab and the other guy (Gullivord) was standing beside the truck," Jogindar said.

"LOOK OUT"

"The next thing I knew he hollered, 'look out,' and I jumped.

"I didn't see what happened. The tractor was on its side when I looked."

Jogindar said his truck brakes were set and the vehicle was on level ground. He was waiting for the cat to be driven off before moving the truck away, he said.

Winship, who had been a logger since his discharge from the RCAF in the Second World War, was familiar with all logging equipment, his father, Mike Winship, said.

After a long spell of unemployment due to heavy snow and illness of a helper, Winship was setting up a small logging operation on a private road off Kangaroo Road, about a mile west of Rocky Point Road.

The tractor belonged to Jogindar Lumber Co. It was equipped with a blade and winch, suitable for small logging operations.

Police from Colwood RCMP detachment enlisted the help of a telephone line truck, two towing trucks and two army tank recovery vehicles before the tractor was lifted from the driver's body.

THREE HOURS

It had been pinned three hours before a doctor at the scene was able to make an examination. Winship was believed to have died instantly.

Langford Volunteer Fire Department assisted at the scene.

Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre said an inquest would be held.

Police said efforts to lift a corner of the bulldozer were first made by an 8,000-pound crane on the telephone truck which police noticed working in the area en route to the accident.

Hydraulic jacks were of no further assistance to rescuers. Police finally asked Work Point Barracks to send tank-lifting machines to the site.

Winship and a partner had formerly operated an independent logging business and he had been known in the district for 16 years.

Lately, his father said, Winship had suffered misfortune in a Salt Spring Island logging operation because of log prices. He was trying to get back on his feet with the Metchosin undertaking.

The deceased was born in Drumheller, Alberta, and served in the RCAF during the Second World War.

SEVEN CHILDREN

His immediate family includes six daughters, the oldest 14, and a year-old son. The widow, Dorothy, his father at 2593 Florence Lake, and eight brothers and sisters also survive.

The brothers are Art and Bob Winship, of Victoria, and Tom Winship, Vancouver.

Sisters are Mrs. Ellen Peters, Mrs. Gladys Wright, Mrs. Dorothy Ash and Mrs. Jackie Lawrey, all of Victoria, and Mrs. Ada Campbell, of Drumheller.

Funeral services will be announced by McCall's.

Avert Strike, Union Appeal To Big Firms

Lumber inspectors have appealed directly to the heads of British Columbia's major lumber companies to avert a strike which could tie up the B.C. timber industry.

Jack Moore, regional president of the International Woodworkers of America (CLC), sent a telegram today to six major companies, urging "a further review of the issues in the dispute."

The telegram followed a breakdown in negotiations after union and companies' officials met for more than four hours Tuesday.

Rod Beaton, president of IWA Local 1-288, said after the meeting "things are at a stalemate."

The IWA Telegram said a "grave situation faces the lumber industry due to failure to reach a mutually satisfactory settlement in lumber inspectors' negotiations."

TWO POINTS

The wire asked "further consideration" be given two points: "Wage increases for lumber inspectors during the past eight years have not kept pace with those granted corresponding categories in the industry," and that "the nature of the services rendered by the lumber inspectors and its importance to the lumber industry justifies job security provision to be written into the agreement."

The telegram was sent to the heads of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., Crown Zellerbach and Crown Zellerbach Canada, B.C. Forest Products, Canadian Forest Products and Rayonier Canada, all members of the Pacific Lumber Inspection Bureau, an employers' association.

The 276 lumber inspectors have set a Feb. 16 strike deadline.

It has been estimated that 20,000 men may refuse to work, if they respect the lumber inspectors' picket line.

The PLIB has proposed leasing the stamp designating grade of processed lumber to individual mills, a step the inspectors say will eliminate their jobs and hand control of grading to mills.

BREAK-INS ADMITTED BY-ESCAPEE

A fifteen-year-old youth admitted today in city magistrate's court to three break-ins and thefts.

His case was transferred from juvenile to adult court.

The boy admitted to the break-ins when arrested Jan. 28, following his escape from Brannen Lake boys' industrial school the previous day.

He took a box of candy from a cafe at 263 Menzies Jan. 20 and stole coins valued at $6.50 from Victoria Coin Shop, 841 Fort, Sept. 13 and Aug. 30 last year.

Magistrate William Ostler remanded him to Friday morning for pre-sentence report and sentence.

Saanich Lists $250,880 Roads Bill

Improvements to streets and main thoroughfares in Saanich this year will cost $250,880 if council accepts a works committee plan Monday night.

Saanich engineer Neville Life said the largest item of a list of projects planned for inclusion in the 1965 budget is a $114,000 job to reconstruct Saanich Road between Seymour and Calumet.

This would make the street 46 feet wide, the same as the portion from Douglas Street that was done last year.

The job includes purchase of four lots to redesign and straighten Saanich Road where it intersects at Calumet and Tatersall. Lots will cost about $40,000.

Curbs, gutters and sidewalks will be included in the work to be done.

IMPROVE GORGE

Next largest job would be the improvement of Gorge between Tillicum and Harriet, complete with four lanes, curbs, gutters and storm drains, for a total cost of $120,000.

The committee sent this item without specific recommendation as it is hoped the provincial government would pay for half the cost under its secondary highways program.

Seven other projects are included in the list:

- Cedar Hill Cross Road, Richmond to Shelbourne and redesign of Shelbourne intersection, $53,000.
- Feltham Road, Tyndall to Shelbourne and a portion from Tyndall and Gordon Head, $29,000.
- Burnside Road, Dupplin to Harriet, reconstruction of Dupplin at Burnside and improved intersection at Harriet, and Burnside boulevard improvements, $54,000.
- Vernon Avenue, from fire hall to CNR overpass, $7,000.
- Darwin Road, Saanich Road to Press Avenue, maintenance, $5,000.
- McKenzie at Quadra, boulevards, $1,380.
- Santa Clara, $2,500.

Victim Describes Dance Hall Brawl

Men Bowled Over By Car Witnesses Tell Court Trial

An early-morning brawl in which a 23-year-old Sooke logger was alleged to have deliberately driven his car into a group of four or five men outside the Port Renfrew community hall was described in Victoria county court today.

Witnesses said the men were bowled over like skittles and sustained various injuries.

The logger, Robert Sanley Nelson, is specifically charged with driving a motor car with intent to "wound, maim or disfigure" James Rupert Ballandine of Port Renfrew at about 5 a.m. on Nov. 22.

He is also charged with driving with intent to endanger the life of Ballandine; causing him bodily harm by driving with criminal negligence; and driving while impaired by alcohol or a drug.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Through his counsel, Jack E. Gatehouse of Victoria, Nelson pleaded not guilty to all four csarges.

Ballandine said Nelson drove the car at him (and others) so that he was knocked underneath and sustained a fractured ankle and injuries to the head requiring stitches.

Scott Robinson of Otter Point was said to have sustained a hip injury; Donald Boyd of Victoria, shoulder and leg injuries; and John McKeen of Port Renfrew, a broken leg.

Donald Levy, caretaker of the Port Renfrew community hall and a former RCMP officer, testified that he was struck in the back by Nelson's car.

MATTER OF SECONDS

"It all happened in a matter of seconds," Donald Boyd said. "I heard the motor start up and gravel flying and suddenly I was underneath the car and calling for help.

"Everybody was screaming and shouting."

Ballandine said Nelson drove the car into them after he and three other men had told Nelson to "move off." Scott Robinson got out of the car and was involved in a scuffle with Donald Boyd.

"We then moved from the side of the car to the front," Ballandine said. "There were about five of us and we were about 15 feet in front of the car. The car started up and came right at us . . .

"I was knocked underneath—it was on top of me."

Ballandine said he was badly cut about the head and his ankle fractured.

The day before, Ballandine said he had been out hunting with Donald Boyd. On their return he visited some friends and they went to a beer parlor and then to a dance.

The dance finished around 2:30 a.m. and he and some others went to the basement of the Port Renfrew community hall where they drank some beer.

When they came out of the hall around 4:30 a.m., Nelson was sitting in his car with Scott Robinson, Otter Point, in the front seat.

QUARREL

The quarrel started soon afterwards when Nelson was told to "move off."

Scott Robinson said he and Nelson were "old friends." They met at Sooke and drove to Port Renfrew to see some friends and go to a dance.

They took a case of beer to the dance and Nelson got into an argument with Donald Levy, the caretaker, in which Levy knocked him down. Later Nelson was involved in a fight with Donald Boyd outside the hall.

Robinson said he and Nelson then got into Nelson's car and he (Robinson) fell asleep.

"I was wakened by somebody yelling and then somebody started pulling me out of the car. Soon after that the car hit us and I was knocked to the ground."

RCMP Corporal W. L. Dempsey testified earlier that, when he arrived at the scene shortly before 7 a.m., he found Scott Robinson lying on a piece of plywood covered with blankets.

OAK BAY PROTEST

Golf Courses Target In Assessment Fight

Court of Revision Hearing Appeals

An Oak Bay property owner Wednesday said he would appeal against "low" municipal assessments of golf club and Hudson's Bay Company lands.

William Holmes, 1963 St. Ann, told an assessment appeal board hearing that these properites are assessed at only a fraction of the value placed on residential property.

This has the effect of loading an unfair burden on residential property owners, he said.

Mr. Holmes said the assessment appeal board, comprised of Joseph Casey, Alan Bigelow and Frank Shandley, did not have authority to consider his appeal. He will take it to a board of appeal named by the provincial assessor's department, he said.

Mr. Homes said he has calculated the assessment on most Oak Bay residential areas at $11,537 an acre.

But he says, Victoria Golf Club is assessed at only $2,280 an acre and Uplands Golf Club at $1,194 an acre.

He says further that there is a block of select property on Midland off Devon, held in trust for Hudson's Bay Company by Canada Trust Company. The area is subdivided into lots measuring 90 by 138 feet. He says they are assessed at $840 each.

Pointing out that residential land assessments now are said to be 50 per cent of real values, he says it is absurd to suggest the lots have a value of only $1,680 each.

"I don't think anyone knows anything about it (the inequality)" Mr. Holmes told the Times today.

DEDUCT COSTS

Oak Bay assessor D. C. Wyatt today said he assessed the golf courses on the basis of what they would be worth if subdivided, but he had to deduct from this the cost of subdivision and the subdivider's profit which accounts for the difference drawn to attention by Mr. Holmes.

Oak Bay council in 1963 rezoned the golf courses from residential property to a new category which stops their sale for residential subdivision. There had been a suggestion that if golf courses were to be assessed as residential land, they would have to sell and relocate in rural areas where land values were lower.

It is felt in some quarters that tax concessions to golf courses are necessary if they are to remain in residential areas, where they are considered an amenity and where they help keep real estate resale values high for nearby homes.

(Non-golfers argue they are not an amenity unless your hobby is golf because they are restricted to the general public for park use.

POPULAR DEMAND

Oak Bay Reeve Allan Cox today said the golf courses were rezoned by popular demand and cannot fairly be compared with residential lands. He thought it was important they be retained as green areas.

Referring to the lots which Mr. Holmes claimed were underassessed, the reeve said these properties have never been supplied with services or an access road. He thought this would be the reason for any difference in their assessment and that of other properties.

Mr. Holme's presentation was a highlight of the first two days of the assessment hearing which continued today.

Tuesday and Wednesday more than 70 per cent of the appeals against home assessments were granted reductions, most of them slight.

Assessor Wyatt recommended the reductions in most cases. One home on Monterey was reduced by $3,480 and one on Hampshire Road by $2,400. Mr. Wyatt said the reductions were caused by oversights in the original valuations. In all 32 adjustments were approved by the court.

There was a total of 104 appeals registered for the hearings compared to 19 last year. This was due to a reassessment of land in the municipality in 1964.

The new assessment was done on a 50 per cent of market value basis (the standard across B.C.).

The municipal assessment roll presented at the hearing showed assessments of $13,914,790 for land and $35,759,860 for buildings.

VON ANNUAL MEETING

RECORD NUMBER OF VISITS MADE

The greatest recorded number of visits to patients was made by the Greater Victoria Branch of the Victorian Order of Nurses during the past year, it was announced at the annual meeting of the board of management of the VON held in the St. John Ambulance auditorium this afternoon.

District director, Miss Elizabeth M. Riddell, reported that a total of 25,155 visits were made to 3,335 patients—an increase of 2.4 per cent over 1963.

She reported a further increase of 3.5 per cent in bedside nursing with the average time per visit of 44.8 minutes and an average of 13.9 visits to each patient. It was also stated that through the Lord Strathcona Housekeeping Fund, administered by the provincial VON, a total of 119 hours of service were provided for local patients at a cost of $125.

Miss Riddell also presented brief outlines of the work done in counselling for the Silver Threads Service, the work of male nurse Frank Rushton, and parent craft classes.

She also revued the staff educational programs whereby nurses are sent to institutes related to the services of the VON, post-graduate students from the University of British Columbia are given field experience and undergraduate students are given classes in prenatal services and relaxation exercises provided for expectant mothers.

In his treasurer's report, A. J. M. Round, quoted receipts totalling $81,708.85 with disbursements of the same amount. The sum of $1,441.85 in the Mary Eleanor Oliver Memorial Fund was spent in furthering the education of the nurses.

President, Mrs. H. Webster, announced that the VON now has a total of 113 branches across Canada with the newest being in Glace Bay, N.S.

She also stated that the first home care plan for children is being launched in Montreal. Purpose of the plan is to serve patients who are ill in their own home and require co-ordinated care and those who can be discharged from the hospital earlier because comprehensive care can be made available in their homes.

In listing the various sources of income of the organization, she commended members on their part in making the annual rummage sale a success.

Other sources of revenue include fees from patients, donations from friends, grants from the city of Victoria and municipalities of Oak Bay and Esquimalt, and the Community Chest. A total of $25,523.02 was received from the latter during the past year.

Chairman of the motor committee, J. C. Cox, reported that a sum of $5,724.26 was spent on car service during the year and that a fleet of nine cars had covered 60,643 miles on visits to patients.

The following officers were installed for the ensuing year: Mrs. Webster; first vice-president, J. B. Barnum; second, Mrs. F. Alguire; secretary, Mrs. L. G. d'Easum, and treasurer, A. J. M. Round.

Following the meeting tea was served by the VON Auxiliary.

Two Victorians Join Londoners In Paying Homage to Churchill

By JUDY RICHARDSON

Former Victorians, Judy Richardson and Linda Scales, are now living in London, England. Here is another of their glimpses of the English scene.

The English are proud of their weather. They like discussing it when they are inside huddled around the gas fire . . . they don't like going outside to face it. On London's cold blustery days, the staff canteen always does a brisker business than usual.

Richardson

Why then did thousands and thousands of people turn out all day and practically all night for three consecutive days to see Sir Winston Churchill lying in state. During these three days it sleeted, snowed a bit and was generally cold, damp and beastly uncomfortable. Yet some people spoke of friends who had queued up at 10 p.m. and didn't pass the coffin until four in the morning.

SAVED THEIR JOBS

"He saved England," avowed my colleagues in the library where I work. "We might be under the hand of Hitler now, or others like him, if it hadn't been for Churchill. In fact we might be out of jobs. Where was there a place for a public library in Hitler's system?"

Perhaps, I thought, all the people who are going to Westminster Hall have strong personal memories of the war and the encouragement that Churchill gave them.

There was only one way to find out. Right after work on Friday evening, the eve of the funeral, I caught the tube from Baker Street to Trafalgar Square, and walked down Whitehall to Westminster. There was no trouble finding the end of the queue. As I neared Parliament Square and the intersection that leads to Westminster Bridge, a policeman with a megaphone was repeating, "The queue for Westminster Hall is now on the south side of the river. Cross the bridge behind me and turn sharp right."

DRIZZLE AND WIND

The Houses of Parliament loomed very dark in the fine but steady drizzle and a nasty nippy wind caused pedestrians on the bridge to clutch at their collars and lower their heads. We streamed across at a fast pace, all hoping to get as far along in the queue as possible.

Along the Albert Embankment, walking parallel to Westminster Palace, it seemed as if there were no queue at all. Then halfway between Westminster and Lambeth Bridges, the pace slowed and a mass of people appeared ahead, lined up four deep.

Big Ben chimed out quarter to six and newspaper vendors urged us all to "Read while you wait. Getcher souvenir copy. All the pitchurs. Only two and six."

But there wasn't time to read. We kept on the move all the time so that an hour later, having crossed Lambeth Bridge to the north side of the Thames, walked in a snake pattern along the paths of the Parliament gardens and finally been able to sight the end of our trek, I was just beginning to feel bone chilled.

Meanwhile, I had taken stock of my neighboring queuers.

Ahead was a little boy of about ten years—on his own except that he had attached himself to three teen-age girls to make the fourth in their line. Equipped with a shopping bag full of magazines, he explained that he had expected to have to sit for hours.

BOVRIL AND TEA

Voluntary women's organizations had mobile units set up at intervals to serve free hot Bovril or tea. This little scamp was always the first out to get his. But he needed it, what with no gloves or covering for his ears. His teen-age companions had, like myself, come supplied with food. But where mine was a single sandwich clutched in one hand, they had little travel cases that held sandwiches, fruit and cakes.

As usual whenever a crowd gathers in London, there were policemen everywhere. One could only feel sorry for them. They stood, tapping their toes and clapping their hands to keep warm while we were almost constantly moving.

"Pity these people have to die during the winter," murmured the lady beside me.

"Isn't it amazing that so many come out in such weather," I prompted, and added, "I wonder why?" But my probing received no spontaneous response and I was beginning to realize that many people didn't know why they had come. They just seemed to feel they ought to.

"The Queen and Prince Philip came to see him yesterday," one of the elderly ladies behind me remarked to her companion.

"Quite an honor for a commoner," said her friend.

Ahead, a policewoman stopped the queue to let three people escape from the building. Heads craned, hoping to recognize a government dignity. "Cor," said the little boy in front, "They're not important, they're taking a taxi!"

Then we were under a television light, the little boy whispered excitedly, "Pathe News". Suddenly all conversation stopped. We had entered Westminster Hall.

It was the kind of hush you get in a large unoccupied cathedral, except for the curious shushing sound of hundreds of pairs of feet shuffling by the catafalque, a line on either side, the length of the hall and out the far door.

There was nothing to see. Just the catafalque with the coffin on top hidden by a large Union Jack. A cross stood at one end and guarding the four corners were members of the Royal Air Force, standing with feet apart, both hands on the hilt of a sword with its point in the platform and their heads bowed—maintaining this rigid and uncomfortable posture without a twitch.

One woman paused at the head of the stairs leading down to the hall and mouthed a prayer. At the far end people turned back for one last look, the men with hats in hand.

And then we were out, with everyone dashing off to catch a tube or bus, their last respects paid, and happy that it had only taken a little more than an hour.

WINTER IN RUSSIA—News from the Russian fashion world can be summarized in one word—sophistication. This group of wintry sports costumes was presented by the Lvov Planning and Designing Institute in Lvov, a city in the western Ukraine.

150 PLANES BLAST REDS IN VIET NAM

U.K. Sets Up Price, Income Board

LONDON (Reuters)—The British government today set up a national board in a bid to peg prices and incomes to the level of the country's productivity.

The National Board for Prices and Incomes is the second stage of the Labor administration's long-term plan for a national incomes policy.

The first was last December's declaration of intent on production, prices and incomes, signed by the government, employers and trade unions.

CLC Meets to Combat Raiding

OTTAWA (CP)—Nearly 100 top union executives met in Ottawa today to organize a campaign by the Canadian Labour Congress against membership raiding by the Confederation of National Trade Unions in Quebec.

CLC unions have lost about 10,000 Quebec members to the CNTU in the last 18 months.

Toronto Group Drops EFC Bid

OTTAWA (CP)—An application for a second Toronto franchise in the Eastern Football Conference was withdrawn today.

A letter from the seven-man group who planned to back the team was read at the Big Four's annual meeting here asking that the application "not be considered at this time."

Heavy Air Activity Over 'Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Flights of B-52 heavy bombers and KC-135 tanker jets passed over the San Francisco bay area on a west-northwest heading.

At least 35 jets were sighted.

Col. Rodger Howard, commander of a detachment of the heavy bombers based at nearby Travis Air Force Base, said "elements of the 5th Bomb Wing at Travis are participating in a classified Strategic Air Command operational training exercise."

N.Y. Dockers Ordered Back

NEW YORK (AP)—Federal Judge Sidney Sugarman today ordered longshoremen in the port of New York to return to work "forthwith" for a five-day period.

Ministers Quit In Hindi Riots

NEW DELHI (UPI) — Widespread rioting in Madras state to protest the imposition of Hindi as the official language of India brought the resignation of two ministers today, plunging the government into a constitutional crisis.

Food Minister C. Subramaniam and Deputy Minister for Oil O. Alagessan, both of Tamil-speaking Madras state, told Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri tonight they were quitting. Their resignations followed an emergency cabinet meeting to discuss the Madras riots.

The rioting has taken at least 30 lives in the past two days. Police were using gunfire, clubs and tear gas to try to control frenzied students protesting the adoption of Hindi as the official language. The government sent in troops today when students attacked and burned railroad trains.

The two resigning ministers asked the constitution be amended to include Tamil, usually spoken in Madras, as an additional official language with Hindi. Shastri rejected their demand.

Units of the Indian army were rushed into several cities and districts of Madras state as the death toll in two days of violence climbed to 30. Hundreds more were injured in clashes between police and students in this state where Tamil is the principal language.

The students called a "trains day" today to further their protests. They attacked and set fire to coaches, tore up gates at railroad crossings and stopped a mail train by squatting on the tracks.

In Our HOUSE

By Arthur Mayse

For a study in contrasts, I give you two of the most formidable antagonists in the British Columbia Legislature.

These are Ray Gillis Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources, and North Vancouver Liberal Gordon Gibson.

The one sits high in cabinet country, his portfolio embracing forest industries which grow richer with each new pulp mill.

The other occupies, in hit-or-miss fashion, a rear row seat in our five-man Whiggery.

Minister Williston, in political terms, has the world by the tail on a downhill haul. He speaks for the modern woods operator, the man whose prospects of success are negligible unless his starting stake runs to at least $500,000.

4 U.S. Aircraft Down, Pilot Lost

(Times News Services)

SAIGON—Striking from land and sea, about 150 U.S. and South Vietnamese warplanes smashed at targets in North Viet Nam today in reprisal for Viet Cong attacks capped by the blasting of a U.S. billet in Qui Nhon.

Four carrier-based U.S. Navy planes and one pilot were lost as a result of the action, otherwise described by an American spokesman as highly successful.

(Radio Hanoi claimed North Vietnamese forces "shot down seven U.S. planes, damaged many others" and captured one American pilot.)

The bombing and rocket raids were launched while rescue workers still combed debris of the four-storey U.S. military men's billet in Qui Nhon for the living and dead of a terrorist bombing Wednesday night believed to have killed 22 Americans.

It was the third and heaviest reprisal since Sunday against North Viet Nam, which trains and supplies the Red guerrillas.

The attacks were made through low, broken clouds.

ATTACK BARRACKS

Targets were officially described as barracks areas at Chan Hoa and Chap Le. They were left wreathed in columns of smoke.

Chan Hao is 50 miles north of the border and about four miles northwest of Dong Hoi, a coastal point struck by navy planes Sunday. Chap Le is 8½ miles north of the border.

More than 100 navy jets from the carriers Hancock, Ranger and Coral Sea hit the barracks area at Chan Hoa.

Chap Le was the target of 28 Vietnamese fighter - bombers, which struck across the 17th parallel under escort of 20 U.S. Air Force F-100 jet fighters. The escorts' job was to suppress anti-aircraft fire.

All the land-based craft returned safely.

Of the four navy planes lost, three went down at sea and one was smashed when its landing gear collapsed as it was attempting to put down at Da Nang, an air base 80 miles south of the border. The pilots of three survived. The pilot of an F-8D Crusader jet disappeared with his plane.

U.S. Raids 'War Act' Hanoi Says

TOKYO (UPI)—Communist North Viet Nam said today the U.S.-Vietnamese air attacks amounted to an act of war.

In its first statement on today's retaliatory raids against North Vietnamese military targets the Hanoi regime said in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo:

"This is a new, most serious war act perpetrated by the U.S. imperialists against the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam."

'CLOSE MISS' PRECEDED PLANE PLUNGE

NEW YORK (AP)—A jet airliner reported a near collision moments before an Eastern Air Lines DC-7B plane plunged into the ocean killing 84 persons, government investigators said today.

The Federal Aviation Agency said an official recording of radio transmissions Monday night, when the tragedy occurred, showed a Pan American World Airways jetliner reporting "a close miss here."

The transcript indicated that the doomed plane was at 3,700 feet altitude when last reported and the jet was at 3,500 feet.

After a steep banking turn, Eastern's flight 663, a four-engine propeller plane, dived into the sea about eight miles off Jones Beach, within minutes of take-off from Kennedy Airport. No one survived.

Toll Booths Pay for War

SAIGON (AP) — Viet Cong troops, virtually unhindered by South Vietnamese government operations, have a stranglehold on the only overland route from Saigon to the border of North Viet Nam.

Viet Cong toll booths on Route One, only 50 miles east of Saigon, have been operating freely since November.

These toll booths are believed to have financed the Communist offensive at Binh Gia in December. That operation cost government forces 500 casualties, including 20 Americans.

DORION PROBE

Masson Branded 'Liar, Hoaxer'

(See Story Page 35)

OTTAWA (CP) — Criminal lawyer Leo-Rene Maranda, 32, at the Dorion inquiry today described Liberal organizer Guy Masson as a liar and a hoaxer.

PEEK-A-BOO peacock pops up for close look at photographer in Seattle's Woodland Park Zoo after strolling behind bush. (AP Wirephoto)

He said it is possible he told lawyer Pierre Lamontagne in September that it was Masson who was behind the alleged bribe offer to Mr. Lamontagne.

The inquiry is investigating the allegations of Mr. Lamontagne that he was offered $20,000 July 14 by Reymond Denis, then executive assistant to Immigration Minister Tremblay, to agree to Lucien Rivard's release on bail.

Rivard has been held in Montreal's Bordeaux Jail since June 19 for United States authorities on charges of being a kingpin in a Mafia-run narcotics conspiracy.

Mr. Lamontagne has been acting for the U.S. government in Rivard's extradition hearing.

Mr. Maranda, a lawyer for Rivard, testified about a telephone conversation he overheard July 20 between Raymond Daoust, another lawyer for Rivard, and Masson. Masson has said that he acted as the "errand boy" between Denis and Rivard's friends.

SAID BAIL ARRANGED

Mr. Maranda said Masson claimed to Mr. Daoust that bail had been arranged for Rivard. Masson also claimed to have seen Mr. Lamontagne in Ottawa that day when it was known Mr. Lamontagne was in Chicoutimi.

U.S. SHOULD GET OUT SAYS DOUGLAS

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—The United States should withdraw from South Viet Nam and allow a United Nations peace-keeping force to move into the area, New Democrat Leader T. C. Douglas said today.

He also said Canada should stop acting like a "mere echo" of Washington's state department and threaten to leave the Geneva Truce Commission in Southeast Asia unless it is given the authority necessary to operate effectively.

"Nothing could be less effective than the present situation," Mr. Douglas said in a news conference.

He suggested that the Viet Nam crisis should either be submitted to the United Nations, or Canada should demand that the Geneva conference be reconvened to consider the matter.

'REMEMBER'

Pope Issues Peace Plea

VATICAN CITY (Reuters) — Pope Paul today issued an impassioned plea for peace in Viet Nam "so that innocent populations may be saved from new trials and new tears."

He said the world "seems to be returning to discord and conflicts" after a promising period of eased tension.

The Pope said it seemed impossible that with the memories of the Second World War still fresh, "there are people who dare to turn their minds to thoughts of war."

"Have the torments and anguish which were suffered, have the immense ruins which were amassed, have the cruel massacres taught nothing?" the Pope asked.

"We turn to all interested men, on whatever side they may be, so that innocent populations may be saved from new trials and new tears."

'RED AGGRESSION COMPELS ATTACK'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States charged today that continuing "aggressions and outrages" by Communist forces in South Viet Nam compelled the U.S. and South Vietnamese governments to strike anew at "infiltration bases" in North Viet Nam.

A statement by the White House asserted "our desire to avoid spreading the conflict" in Viet Nam but added that because of "provocations" by North Viet Nam the United States and South Viet Nam felt compelled to strike back by air for the third time this week.

The counter strokes at the Communists presumably were ordered as a result of decisions made by President Johnson at a national security council meeting Wednesday afternoon. There was no announcement following that two-hour session and officials said privately that decisions would be made known only through action.

The White House statement this morning dealt with the new air assault as a limited reprisal action rather than as part of a developing air offensive against North Viet Nam. The reference to avoidance of spreading the war was evidently designed to indicate to the Communist side that the U.S. is still prepared to confine the struggle if the Communist strategy makes that possible.

The statement also left no doubt, however, that the unwillingness often displayed here in the past to hit North Viet Nam almost regardless of what happened in the South has now given way; whatever protection of privileged sanctuary the North had enjoyed until last weekend seemed to be disappearing fast.

The U.S. - Vietnamese strike was, however, once more directed against positions described in the White House statement as "infiltration bases."

As to the provocations charged against the Communists, the statement said that in recent days "large numbers of South Vietnamese and United States personnel have been killed in an increased number of Viet Cong ambushes and attacks."

Cited among these costly Communist blows was the terrorist bombing at the town of Qui Nhon Wednesday which took a heavy toll of lives in the destruction of an enlisted men's hotel. The statement also said the Reds had overrun a district town in Thouc Long province inflicting Vietnamese and American casualties. Attacks on railways and a wave of assassinations of South Vietnamese officials were also charged against the Communists in the White House statement.

Kosygin Met Mao

TOKYO (AP)—Soviet Premier Kosygin flew to North Korea today from Peking after talking with China's Mao Tse-tung. It was their first meeting since Kosygin became premier.

A New China news agency broadcast said they met at a reception Wednesday night which was attended by Premier Chou En-lai, President Liu Shao-chi, Foreign Minister Chen Y and other top officials.

'Mystery Letter' Delays Parallels Sommers Case

BY JOHN MIKA

Times Legislative Reporter

Procrastination by Attorney-General Robert Bonner in prosecuting the "mystery letter" forger parallels delays in the Sommers case, the legislature was told Wednesday.

Randolph Harding (NDP—Kaslo-Slocan) demanded that Mr. Bonner lay forgery charges under the Criminal Code against the unidentified Vancouver man he said has admitted authorship of the phony letter.

Government backbenchers listened silently—except for one interjection — to Mr. Harding's measured tones as he repeatedly attacked the delays.

His vehemence finally drew Mr. Bonner to his feet to protest that if charges are laid "the possibility of seeing a fair trial conducted will not be enhanced by this discussion at this time."

But Mr. Harding continued his demands that the attorney-general act immediately.

The letter, on the premier's stationery and purporting to have been signed by Premier Bennett, was sent to an aide of Prime Minister Pearson.

The letter is presumed to have been sent in support of multi-millionaire promoter Harry Stonehill's unsuccessful applica-

. . . MAYSE

hard to budge as a hung-up butt log. He has growled a time or two so far this session, and made one tame apple-polishing speech given over mostly to praise of Premier Bennett and his works.

The Hon. Mr. Williston, ex-school teacher, former minister of education, is slim, bespectacled and urbane. Except when he contributes to debate, I rate him one of the Legislature's quiet men.

Mr. Gibson, in one form or another, has been a logger since his rough frontier boyhood on the Island west coast. He is independently wealthy; owns a yacht about which he grumbles amiably; has developed a Hawaiian holding into a 40-unit resort.

★ ★ ★

His wild and woolly lifestory—or that portion of it which Gordon Gibson has lived—is currently being fictionized into a massive novel tentatively titled, "The Kingdom Carver," by writer Ernie Perrault, younger brother of B.C. Liberal chief Ray Perrault.

Contracts are being drawn up in Toronto and New York. I understand they include publication by Doubleday - Doran with sale of 100,000 copies expected.

In the forthcoming novel, a Paul Bunyanish character named 'Chris Laird' will toss mountains out of his way.

In the House, Gordon Gibson, who hasn't moved a mountain for a good few years, sits with head slightly tilted and one heavy fist on the desk. He listens while Ray Williston builds his picture of a forest future in which logs will be scaled by weight in bundles, and young trees once smashed and scorned as 'saplings' will be the logging norm.

"There are some people," Mr. Williston tells the House, "who claim we are over-cutting."

★ ★ ★

Then he offers figures so vast they startle. This year's cut, says he, will be 1.5 billion feet, against an ultimate sustained yield capacity for the province of three billion feet.

"In other words," the minister translates, "we've reached the halfway mark in utilization of sustained yield."

Old-logger Gibson — in one historic session expelled by Speaker's edict from this chamber—sits, watches and listens.

But he will be standing, one day next week, planted solid and tough and big, for his own budget debate speech.

When that day comes, I do not think kingdom-carver Gibson will be polishing any apple!

Meters Raided Again

DUNCAN—RCMP are investigating another raid on downtown parking meters here. About 20 meters were broken into and an undetermined sum of money stolen.

Rocket Firing Successful

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—A Titan 3-A rocket swung its third stage into orbit as a flying launch platform today to start a series of intended orbit-shifting, satellite-ejection manoeuvres, which must be perfected for manned and unmanned military space missions.

The three-stage, 124-foot-tall booster rumbled skyward at 12:19 p.m. on the most demanding assignment ever handed a U.S. rocket. Seventeen minutes later, the air force reported the 15-foot third stage had fired for five minutes and propelled itself into a circular orbit about 115 miles above the earth.

ULTIMATUM: 'TURN OUT OR WE FOLD'

Colwood businessmen have until March 2 to decide the fate of their Chamber of Commerce.

"If they turn out in full force for the meeting that night we shall carry on," says president Marshall Smith.

Mr. Marshall said that less than 10 members—not enough to form a quorum—had turned out for the last two meetings.

The March 2 meeting, scheduled for 8 p.m. in the auxiliary hall at Dunford and Carlow is the annual meeting of the group at which the election of officers is held.

Planes Rake Congo Rebels

LEOPOLDVILLE (AP) — A mercenary-led column, slowed to a crawl by rebel ambushes, pushed onward today in the northeastern Congo after getting help from three B-26 planes.

The planes raked a river crossing Wednesday with rockets and machine-gun fire.
